News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16. (AP)—The steamer Santa Cecilia, by the Dollar Steamship Company of New York is to be sold to Japanese interests, was reported here today. The price was announced at $750,000. The vessel formerly operated between Pacific Coast of the United States and the west coast of South America under the name of "Colusa." Her place in the Grace Line service out of New York will be taken by new motorships, it was said, with greater passenger accommodations.

Reconditioned at a cost of $15,000, the Italian motor-driven passenger and mail carrier Cellina is scheduled to arrive tomorrow in the Mediterranean service. Cellina is the first of five vessels of the Libera Line to undergo reconditioning which includes the installation of cabins and an increase in passenger accommodations. The Cellina now has accommodations for forty-two passengers.

SEATTLE, June 16.—Arrival data of Japanese mail vessels headed for Seattle forthwith set back from twelve hours to one day and a half by a shift announced by the Northeast Pacific Steamship Exchange said today.

The storm, which caused many hours of Saturday evening stirred heavy seas and retarded boat movements, Associated Press reports, which were delayed was the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia, which came in today twelve hours late. The Dorothy Wintermute of the Pacific Intercoastal service, the Dollar liner President Pierce, of the Nelson Line, and the tanker Admiral Evans, the Admiral Wiley and the Admiral Peoples, the Matson Line, were ordered to sea. All were scheduled for an arrival today. The Anagian Maru, scheduled to arrive tomorrow morning, was reported delayed by heavy seas.

The steamship Victoria, regular freighter for the Alaska Steamship Company, was in Morrison Sound with water intake, arriving at Nome Saturday. She was to visit St. Michael, Golovin and Teller before sailing on the return voyage to Seattle.

PORTLAND, June 16.—The Portland customs court here today decided that silver-plated knives, forks and spoons are tableware and not silverware, Jerry E. Sullivan, assistant United States attorney, said today. Charles D. Lowman, assistant United States Attorney-General, has charge of the case, in which the United States represents the government.

The distinction between tableware and silverware is that silverware is plated with more than 20 per cent of its value in silver, while tableware contains a considerably smaller amount of silver. Imported silver-plated tableware pays a duty of 60 per cent ad valorem, said it was customary for the importers to pay a 45 per cent duty under protest. The court will refund the difference, the attorney said today, after the court's decision was rendered.

The court, however, decided that knives were silver-plated candlesticks and some other decorate articles.

VOL. XLIX. WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 18, 1930. C DAILY, FIVE CENTS

Will Rogers Remarks:

BOSTON, June 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We been awful busy up here today celebrating Bunker Hill. Daniel Webster made the opening address, so I was really pinch hitting for him. He spoke good English, too; he wrote his own. You give me a chance to write my own dictionary and make a word mean anything I want it to and I will show you some English. They are a broad-minded people up here. They celebrate a victory that the British won and the monument is not on Bunker Hill, it's on Breed's Hill. But one thing they have got, and that's the old fighting ship "Constitution," the only ship that has withstood every disarmament conference.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

NAVAL PACT WINS TEST

Committee Poll 14 to 4

Senate Group Expected to Support London Treaty in Final Vote Monday

Motion by Johnson to Defer Action Till Hoover Gives Up Papers Defeated

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP)—Overwhelming support for the London naval treaty when it comes to a vote in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee next Monday was indicated on a test roll call today.

By a vote of 14 to 4 the committee rejected a motion by Senator Johnson, Republican, California, to defer consideration until President Hoover gives up the papers relating to the London conference which he has refused the committee.

Agreement was then reached for the vote on the treaty next Monday morning and advocates of the pact contend the four votes enrolled today for postponement represent the full strength of the opposition in the committee.

MORROW'S RACE WON

Ambassador Has Huge Majority

Nomination for Senate Seat Conceded by His Opponents

More Than Two to One Over All Rivals Indicated by Returns

NEWARK (N. J.) June 17. (AP)—The conceded winner of the Republican nomination for United States Senator from New Jersey, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, who in a campaign speech urged repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, tonight continued to pile up a lead over his three opponents as returns poured in.

Morrow ran ahead of his opponents even in the dry, rural counties.

Both Representative Fort, who entered the race as a dry with the aid of the Anti-Saloon League, and former Senator Frelinghuysen conceded the election on the basis of returns from about one-thirtieth of the districts in the State. They sent telegrams of congratulation.

In the contest for the unexpired term of Walter E. Edge, which runs until March 4, 1931, Ambassador Morrow ran far ahead of his only opponent, John A. Kelly. Kelly, who also ran for the full six-year term, was a poor fourth in the returns of that contest.

Frelinghuysen, who, like Morrow, advocated repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, but differed with the Ambassador over the method of liquor regulation to be substituted for it, was outdistanced in the early returns by Fort.

STATE RIGHTS URGED

Morrow urged restoration of State rights in settling liquor questions, while Frelinghuysen declared for some method of centralized control.

Returns from 2098 districts of 3304 gave: Fort, 66,416; Frelinghuysen, 25,465, and Morrow, 220,166.

In the Ambassador's home precinct he received 578 votes, Frelinghuysen received 3 votes and Fort 15.

The heaviest vote in most places was recorded between 3:30 and 6 p.m. (E.S.T.), when the so-called commuter vote was registered. Threatening weather early in the day kept many voters from the polls, but even a light rain in the early evening could not dampen the ardor of those who voted after returning home from across the Hudson.

Candidates of the Democratic, Prohibition and Socialist parties, who will oppose Morrow at the polls in November for both the full and short terms, were given uncontested nominations.

DEMOCRATS PICK WET

Alexander Simpson, fiery anti-prohibitionist, who has represented Hudson county in the State Senate for many years, is the Democratic nominee for the full term. Representing the Democrats in the short-term contest will be Miss Thelma Parkinson.

The Prohibition party's candidate for the long term is Dr. James Gilbert Mason, who was for many years a missionary in India.

Miss Esther H. Elfreth will be the Prohibition candidate for the short term. Henry Jager is Socialist candidate for both terms.

Ambassador Morrow declined to make any comment on the trend of the election, declaring he will wait until all the returns are tabulated.

"However," he said, smiling, "I seem to have carried my own ward."

WHITE MAINTAINS LEAD OVER BREWSTER

PORTLAND (Me.) June 17. (AP) With returns from yesterday's primary virtually complete, the plurality of Representative White over former Gov. Brewster for the Republican United States Senatorial nomination was computed tonight at 7123.

White's vote stood at 46,366 against 39,243 for Brewster with but thirty-three outlying precincts of the 632 in the State unreported. Dugald B. Dewar, "wet" aspirant for the office, polled only 7064 votes.

In a brief statement Brewster conceded his second defeat within two years for the same nomination. He was routed by Senator Hale in 1928 by a margin of 33,000 votes.

Gov. Gardiner drifted easily into the Republican renomination by a majority of 19,028 over his opponent, former Mayor Wilson of Bangor. Gardiner polled 57,280; Wilson, 38,252.

Both Republicans and Democrats had contests in the Second Con-

CLARA BOW AIRS LOVE SUIT

Actress in Texas to See Boy Friend Who Gets Divorce Soon Tells of Paying Wife $30,000

DALLAS (Tex.) June 17. (Exclusive)—When Clara Bow, picture actress from Hollywood, arrived in Dallas Sunday, she gave all to understand that she was here to rest between pictures. But before she had been in the city two days she let it be known that she was here to "straighten things out" with a "boy friend" to whose wife she paid $30,000 as a result of an alienation-of-affections suit and who is to receive her final divorce decree in Los Angeles next August, all because of Clara.

Clara, traveling with her maid and burdened with three wardrobe trunk, filled with clothes, has a suite at the Baker Hotel here. From this retreat whence she seldom emerges, Clara talked about her love affair.

She wouldn't tell who he was or what he did, or anything much about him, but she did vouchsafe that she was going to see him.

FELL FOR HIM HARD

"I met him out on the Coast," Clara said. "He was good looking and smart and had nice ways about him, and I fell for him pretty hard. He told me he had just been married and that he and his wife were always squabbling, and didn't understand each other. I never had had a date with a married man before in my life, and I wouldn't have had dates with this one if he had had any kids, but of course he didn't. And do you know the next thing that happened?"

Clara's eyes flashed.

"The wife sued me for 150,000 smackers for alienation. Blam! Like that! One hundred and fifty thousand smackers.

"Why, I had never seen that much money before. You may think I get a lot of money for my film work. That's boloney. I signed up for a five-year contract several years ago and they have me working today for a lot less money than some of these other stars are getting who don't rate as high with the public as I do. Up until last year I never had any money at all.

PAID WIFE $30,000

"Well, I didn't have the money and I told the studio I was going to fight the case, but they insisted that I settle the best I could, and so keep it out of the papers. I laid $30,000 on the line and the wife took it. After that she had us watched by detectives and the boy friend's father made him take a trip to Europe to try to forget me."

Here the movie actress giggled at the recollection.

SPEEDBOAT MECHANIC'S BODY FOUND

Discovery Indicates Eight Missing on Lake Erie Trip Have Perished

TOLEDO (O.) June 17. (AP)—Belief that eight prominent Toledoans who have been missing since Saturday when they started for Pelee Island in a speedboat, lost their lives in Lake Erie, was accepted by relatives and friends here tonight following the recovery of the body of John Liptack, 25 years of age, mechanic on the boat.

Liptack's body, encased in a life preserver, was found this afternoon by the crew of Coast Guard Cutter 173, two miles southeast of West Sister Island, a few miles from where the speedboat was found Saturday night, minus all passengers.

The hands on a wrist watch worn by Liptack were at 10:50. Coroner Frank G. Kreft expressed belief that the watch stopped when the eight missing men were pitched into the water—less than two hours after they left Toledo.

Liptack was clad only in a shirt, undershirt and socks, indicating that he had discarded his other clothing in a desperate struggle to save himself. Coroner Kreft said his death was due to exposure, not drowning.

The finding of a shirt containing the initials of Herbert W. Nauts, another passenger on the boat, and a brown cap, believed to have been worn by Internal Revenue Collector Nauts, father of Herbert Nauts, and also a passenger on the boat, led Coast Guard officials to believe that all eight men were tossed to their death in the choppy waters of Lake Erie.

PERIOD FOR NEW PLANET CALCULATED

Mt. Wilson Scientists Compute Orbit of Pluto from 1919 Photographs

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) June 17. (AP) Scientists at Mt. Wilson Observatory, Pasadena, have calculated a final period of 251.8 years for the new planet Pluto.

Announcement of the calculations was made here today by the Harvard Observatory which acts as the official distributing agent for American observatories.

The calculations were made possible through the discovery of photographic plates taken at Mt. Wilson in 1919 of images of the new trans-Neptunian body and the computations made by Dr. Seth D. Nicholson and N. U. Mayall of the Mt. Wilson Observatory. Prof. Frederick Seares, assistant director of the California observatory, sent notice of the discovery to the observatory here.

The new planet will be nearest the earth in 1988 when it will be thirty astronomical units distant, or 2,800,000,000 miles. This is approximately the distance of Neptune.

The four plates on which the planet appeared were taken for other purposes in 1919 and it was not until the announcement on March 13 of the planet's discovery that the western observers began a study of their file of plates.

Dealers Destroy Vegetables and Prices Stay Up

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—An oversupplied market has forced commission merchants to dump hundreds of truckloads of perfectly good vegetables into the East River during the past three days, a newspaper survey today disclosed.

Bumper crops throughout the East and South have sent a flood of spinach, string beans, melons, tomatoes and lettuce into the New York market, which the merchants declare is causing them to lose heavily on each carload lot.

Despite the oversupply retail prices have not been lowered.

Nonstop Flight Family Affair

CHICAGO, June 17. (AP)—The City of Chicago endurance plane tonight is soaring over Sky-Harbor Airport in its seventh day of continuous flight. Completion of the sixth day was marked at 4:40 p.m. today.

The flight is strictly a Hunter family affair. Two brothers, Kenneth and John Hunter, are piloting the plane and are refueled and provisioned from another plane flown by Walter and Albert Hunter, their brothers. Kenneth is only 21 years of age.

LADIES' LIMBS GO VICTORIAN

Trains, Frills and Whalebone at Ascot Races Sound Knell of Short Skirts in Britain

[Copyright, 1930, by the Chicago Tribune]

ASCOT, June 17. (Exclusive)—The brilliant sun that shone down at the smart Ascot track during the opening of the races this afternoon illuminated one fact of vital importance to British womanhood, namely, that the long dress, despite the stubborn antagonism of thousands of the country's short-skirt enthusiasts, has definitely won the day.

The Ascot race season is the most important outdoor society event of the year, and the fashions seen on display can be confidently interpreted as the proper thing for the well-dressed woman to wear.

SOME HAVE TRAINS

Today there wasn't a single short skirt in view from the distant inclosures where everybody can pile in for a half-dollar, to the exclusive lodges reserved for the cream of British society, the royal box itself. In fact, the beautiful women gathered at the opening day of the meeting at Ascot were almost a replica of the Ascot gathering in the time of Queen Victoria, with women attired in wide-brim hats and turf-dusting skirts, some even wearing trains—to the extreme annoyance of their escorts who were forced to execute continual jumps in order to dodge the swishing yards of material.

Some dresses seen today contained as much as a dozen yards of printed chiffon, ninon or georgette. The usual skirt was a mass of frills from waist to hem, or gathered at the waist and flowing outward until it reached an enormous circumference. Despite amplitude, however, simplicity was the keynote of

HOOVER'S SIGNATURE PUTS NEW TARIFF IN EFFECT

More Than Thousand New Duties to Be Operative When Customs Offices Open Today

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP)—President Hoover, in a simple ceremony at the White House, signed the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill today and turned over to the Treasury the job of putting into effect overnight a law which has required Congress nearly a year and a half to write.

Theoretically the law was to take effect at midnight, but actually the more than 1000 new duties and administrative features will not become operative until the customhouses open at 8 a.m. tomorrow, eastern standard time.

Orders went out from the Treasury for collectors to close their offices today at the usual hour of 4:30 p.m., eastern standard time, so all ships the cargo declarations of which were not filed up to that hour will pay the new rates at tomorrow's opening.

SIX PENS USED

Taking half a dozen ordinary pens handed to him by Lawrence Richey, one of his secretaries, Mr. Hoover affixed his signature to the huge document at 12:50 p.m. At least that was the time given him by Clayton Moore of the House Ways and Means Committee, whose watch happened to be three minutes fast.

"Somebody give me the time," said the President as he picked up his sixth pen.

Moore announced it was 12:50, but did not discover the inaccuracy of his wrist watch until it was too late.

Present at the ceremony were Secretary Mellon, whose department will administer the new law; Francis X. A. Eble, Commissioner of Customs, and Senators Smoot, Utah, and Shortridge, California, and Representatives Hawley, Oregon, and Treadway, Massachusetts, four of the six Republican conferees on the bill. Senator Watson, Indiana, and Representative Bacharach, New Jersey, the other two conferees, did not attend. The pens went to the conferees.

BENEFITS EXPECTED

Carrying 1122 rate changes, including 887 increases and 235 reductions, and a revised flexible provision authorizing the Tariff Commission to propose rate modifications within a limit of 50 per cent, subject to executive approval, the new tariff act supplants the existing Fordney-McCumber law, in effect since 1922.

President Hoover had announced in advance he would approve the bill as he believed the interests of business stability would be served by putting it into effect as quickly as possible.

He feels the new flexible clause will go a long way toward eliminating politics from tariff making and enable the Tariff Commission to speed up its work.

Customs officials anticipate little difficulty in administering the law, although they pointed out it will be a miracle if some slip-up does not occur, inasmuch as they are called on to effectuate almost immediately a law which began to take form on January 7, 1929, and was not completed by Congress until last week.

Sixteen customs experts from all over the country were brought here to check up the bill and regulations are being drawn as the study progresses. Whereas in the past it took from a year to a year and a half to complete new regulations, customs officials believe they will have the 1930 act going without a hitch and under completed regulations within ninety days.

As copies of the bill were mailed out only last Sunday to the forty-nine customs districts, including Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands, it is expected the island possessions and Alaska for a few days will experience the most difficulty in checking shipments.

More than $16,000,000 in duties were collected at the port of New York Saturday and Monday.

INQUIRIES ASKED

Close on the signing of the bill, Senator Borah of Idaho introduced a resolution proposing investigations for the new Tariff Commission authorized under the measure.

The Idaho Senator, who voted against the bill, would have the commission investigate the difference in cost of production at home and abroad of the following articles:

Shoes, for both men and women; furniture, cement, hose, shovels, shingles, corn knives and drainage tools.

STATE'S CENSUS COMPUTED

Fifty-five Counties Give Population of 5,562,654; Increase Approximately 65.6 Per Cent

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17. (AP)—Compilation by the Associated Press of official census figures for all but three of California's fifty-eight counties today indicated the State's growth for the last decade was approximately 65.6 per cent.

With Humboldt, Butte and Sierra counties yet to report census enumerators have already counted 5,562,654 persons, or more than 2,205,000 more than were in the State in 1920.

If the three missing counties merely maintained their total of 60,226 as enumerated in 1920, the present population will be approximately 5,632,000. If, however, the percentage increase of the other fifty-five counties is returned, California's 1930 figure will be approximately 5,675,000.

The largest increase of any county was that of Los Angeles with 1,263 10 . That county gained more people than were living in the State in 1890 and has a total of 2,199,557, which is within less than 200,000 of the State's 1910 total.

Alameda county is the second largest gainer with an increase of 130,147, and San Francisco, with its limited forty-two square miles of territory—approximately two-

BELGIUM PLANS ONE FINAL PROTEST

BRUSSELS, June 17. (AP)—The Belgian government has instructed its Ambassador at Washington to make final approach to the United States government, and to point out that the new increased duties in the tariff bill cannot fail to make the trade balance between United States and Belgium even more unfavorable to Belgium than it is at present.

The Ambassador has been instructed to call the attention of the United States to the "unfortunate effects" which the new tariff scale may have on the economic relations between the two countries.

Vintieme Siecle, Catholic Democratic paper, which voices the opinion of Belgian farmers, insists that the Belgian government, as the promoter of economic policy at Geneva, take a lead in bringing about concerted international action of mutual defense and set up a united front of Europe against America.

Independent Belge expresses belief aggressive American "egoism" will prove a decisive factor in promoting a federation in Europe.

LINER BEATS NEW RATES IN RACE FOR PORT

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—Cutting the ocean foam under the pressure of pounding engines, the liner Olympic breasted the tariff tape off Sandy Hook late today and saved importers with cargo aboard approximately $130,000 in extra customs duty.

Had she passed Ambrose Lightship after 5:30 p.m., her goods would have come under the provisions of the new tariff bill signed by the President today, but she beat the deadline by slightly more than an hour despite a slow start that had her behind schedule for the first part of her race against time.

OTHERS WIN RACE

More than a dozen smaller craft also beat the new levy by steaming in during the day, but at least four which had hoped to arrive were not yet sighted when the customs house closed for the day and so the consignees will have to pay the new rates. Those four are the Maimyo from Calcutta, the Exeter City from Bristol, the Soemba from Batavia, and the Steelore from Cristobal.

The new tariff provisions officially go into effect at midnight, but actually they became effective at 4:30 p.m. as the customshouse closed at that hour and no more papers could be filed until morning even if some of the tardy craft come into the harbor tonight, they will come under the new rules.

Even as it was, an extra hour of grace was allowed the racing steamers, customs officials staying at their post to check in late arrivals. Tomorrow and thereafter duties will be levied by customs men well drilled in the provisions of the new bill, which they have been studying since the act was passed by Congress and President Hoover announced that he would sign it.

SOME FEAR LOSS

Owners of some of the ships racing to port announced yesterday that if the race were lost the ships would be diverted to a port in some other country with less stringent tariff, since importers who had ordered cargo for sale in this country would not be able to dispose of their goods except at a loss.

Late today, however, it could not be determined that any ships actually were being diverted from their courses, and it is generally believed that consignees who lost in the gamble of hissing steam and ticking clocks, will swallow their loss, if such there really is, and just mark it down to the fortunes of commerce.

Record Smashers Fly Back East

ACROSS-NATION RECORD BROKEN

said Brock with a laugh. "That motor is working fine."

Schlee grinned and agreed.

The aviators said they had maintained an altitude ranging from 2000 to 8000 feet. They said they had no serious trouble and hope they will have none on the way back. Maj. Carl Spatz at Rockwell Field greeted the flyers soon after they had piled out of their seats, and invited them to his residence for a rest until their machine had been refueled, but they chose to remain near by to watch operations.

The flyers cut more than seven hours off the east-west record made by Lieut. James H. Doolittle, flying in 1922 from Jacksonville to this city. The west-to-east record is held by Maj. T. C. Macauley, now executive manager of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce. He made the run from San Diego to Jacksonville in 1919 in 19h. 10m. That is the mark at which Brock and Schlee are shooting at in their run back to the Atlantic tonight.

Capt. Frank Hawks made the round trip from New York to Los Angeles and back in January, 1929, in 43h. 59m., but, of course, took a much longer route than that between Jacksonville and San Diego.

Brock and Schlee left Jacksonville at 5:04 a.m., (E.S.T.) today on their flight of 2112 miles or more, and first were reported at 11:10 a.m., over Abilene, Tex. Thirty-eight minutes later they passed over Big Spring.

Their monoplane carried 450 gallons of gasoline at the take-off. They hope to make the round trip in less than thirty hours.

GREECE AND TURKEY MAY SEEK PARITY

ATHENS (Greece) June 17. (AP)—It was reported in official circles today Greece and Turkey shortly will begin negotiations for a naval limitation pact on the basis of parity in their respective fleets.

er-Labor, Minnesota, voted for postponement.

Two committee members were unrecorded, Goff, Republican, West Virginia, and Black, Democrat, Alabama. While he has been counted among the supporters of the treaty, Senator Black was represented as favoring the Johnson motion for postponement.

Those voting against postponement of the treaty were:

Chairman Borah, Senators Capper, Kansas; Gillett, Massachusetts; Reed, Pennsylvania; Fess, Ohio; La Follette, Wisconsin, and Vandenberg, Michigan, Republicans; and Swanson, Virginia; Pittman, Nevada; Robinson, Arkansas; Walsh, Montana; Harrison, Mississippi; George, Georgia, and Wagner, New York, Democrats.

The committee previously adopted a resolution by Senator Black asserting its right to the papers. However, the President did not give up the documents.

The vote on that resolution was 10 to 7. Senators Borah, Swanson, Pittman, La Follette, and Wagner, who supported it, today refused to consider any further delay in consideration of the pact.

The agreement for a vote assures a report of the treaty from the Foreign Relations Committee in time for the special session which President Hoover will call.

Chairman Borah was requested by the committee to confer with Secretary Stimson to inform him of the committee's desire to make public those papers which he has consented to turn over to the Senate.

It is the feeling of committee members publication of the papers will not be incompatible with the public interest.

Available records show California's 1910 to 1920 growth is the greatest numerically ever registered by any of the forty-eight States. The nearest approach was made by New York State from 1900 to 1910 when it grew from 7,268,894 to 9,113,814, an increase of 1,844,720.

The Golden State's 1920 to 1930 growth was more than double the preceding decade when the total increased 1,049,312 to 3,426,861.

SAN FRANCISCO MAY LOSE THREE ASSEMBLYMEN

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17. (Exclusive)—Mathew J. Dooley, chairman of the public officials committee of the Civic League of Improvement Clubs and Associations, submitted a report to that body today saying the 1930 census tabulations probably will cost San Francisco three of its twelve State Assemblymen. Alameda county, he reports, appears likely to lose one of its eight Assemblymen, San Mateo county will be undisturbed, but Marin county many have to share its lone representative with Sonoma county.

"This loss," Dooley points out, notwithstanding more than normal growth in the San Francisco metropolitan area, "is accounted for by the phenomenal increase in the south, chief of which is Los Angeles county's gain of more than 100 per cent."

DRINKERS BACK CHICAGO GANGS

Survey of Situation Shows Citizen Responsible

Liquor Traffic Sole Reason for Underworld War

Bone Dry City Impossibility, Declare Observers

(This is the fourth of a series of six articles in which Edwin Balmer, famous novelist, short-story writer, reporter and editor of a national periodical, is describing the crisis confronting Chicago and perhaps the nation in the gang warfare which has reached a climax in the killing of Alfred Lingle, newspaper reporter. Mr. Balmer is a native Chicagoan.)

BY EDWIN BALMER

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

CHICAGO, June 17.—Exciting situations seldom are of highest importance, but the crisis in Chicago is both, and all the nation knows it.

For Chicago is up against the gangs. Every big city has gangs and a primary problem in each of them is how to keep the gangs "under." As a matter of fact, gangs everywhere are growing in power and insolence; they are spreading terror even into hitherto peaceful towns and villages.

No matter where you live you are vitally concerned—indeed, a matter no less than your own life or death may be declared in Chicago.

If the gangsters win the war or if it winds up in futility, the whole complexion of city life and town life may be changed.

It is particularly important, therefore, to be accurate and honest about the issues of that war and to state things as honest and informed men see them.

If gangs—real, machine-gun-armed and bootleg-financed gangs—have been exterminated (except by each other) anywhere in America, I do not know the details. Chicago is undertaking to wage a war without actual precedent or close parallel.

LAYING CAMPAIGN

The first point to fix in any sort of war is the objective. What, exactly, are you going to attack, and where and how are you going to attack it? What is the situation you wish to establish, which, when won, will prove your victory?

You are warring on the gangs. Well, what exactly are the gangs and where will they meet you in battle?

A great deal of bunk has been spoken and written about the gangs and their organization. There is a definiteness about the enemy's lines which decreases as you approach them, and those are most confident in forming a plan of attack who are farthest from a chance to try it.

If I had not spent several days with the Chicago men—business men, lawyers, judges, association heads, newspaper men and the police, who have had the closest contacts with the gangs—I might know what to do and how to do it. If I were far enough away and had never seen the city I would probably be absolutely certain.

Now in this matter—the first part of the plan of a war, the fixing of the objective—I cannot quote names. It would be entirely unfair to the people interrogated, who are those who speak often "for Chicago."

"What," I asked, "is the objective? What is it you want to gain before you will be satisfied? It is not merely the finding and convicting of the murderer of Alfred Lingle, the reporter?"

TO CLEAN UP CITY

"Certainly not. Of course, we want that, but whether we get it or not, we are going right on."

"To what?"

"To clean up Chicago."

"Exactly what situation must be established before you will consider the city clean?"

"In this case, when we've driven out the gangs."

"The gangs, you mean especially, which distribute liquor?"

"Exactly. They are the support of the whole gang situation."

"You mean, then, that you must make the city bone dry?"

"No; that can't be done any more than it can be done in New York or in any other big city."

"Then some people must remain in the business of distributing and selling liquor?"

"I suppose so."

"Who will these people be, and in what way will they be allowed to operate when the city is cleaned up?"

NOT FOR PUBLICATION

At this point I must record a bit of embarrassment. It is not pleasent to put to a likeable and prominent man a question to which you know, and he knows that you know, he has no answer that can be printed. So we drop into informal discussion, and the matter boils down to this:

"Against the law or not, an enormous actual number of American citizens are going to supply themselves with liquor and most of them are going to continue to buy it from dealers and distributors of some sort. Granting this, there cannot be a complete clean-up."

This is granted. So already, you see, the objective of the war on the gangs is modified.

"No, we can't have a complete clean-up. But we can greatly improve conditions."

"How much? And how far can you go?"

No two quite agree; one says one distance, one says another. So there is confusion in the general staff of the war college in Chicago even before the war has started. There can not be agreement even upon the objective. Nor could there be in any American city at this time.

The war on the gangs, however solemnly declared, at the outset foregoes striking with full effectiveness at the foundation of gangdom. The staff cannot even hope to obliterate the liquor traffic.

IMPROVE THINGS

They can hope to improve conditions in it. Now in this hope they are at once, completely, with the most intelligent of the gangsters. Al Capone—leading the Chicago crime commission's list of "public enemies"—is reliably reported as being most anxious and eager for elimination of the rough stuff in the liquor trade. He is outspoken and sincere, I believe, as a protagonist for peace in the business and many another of the most powerful are with him.

Strange similarity of object on the part of the best brains on the side of law and on the gang side!

You see it is really not the liquor business, as such, which has turned the attention of the world to this city. It is not the fact or the extent of the sale of liquor. It is the peculiar and spectacular murderous manners of the sales force.

Those manners must be made to improve. Massacres must be barred absolutely and even the single murder allowance must be severely cut, say to one a month. And better taste and discrimination in general must be observed, such as when shooting in the presence of ladies and choosing the side of a cathedral as a place to put a man "on the spot." And the assassination of newspaper reporters must be foregone, too.

Does this sound cynical? It is really very serious. Had such rules been enforced and the same amount of liquor—not one pint less—been sold and consumed in Chicago, it would have no worse reputation than the rest of the world.

LINGLE MURDER CASE CLEW LENDS HOPE

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 17. (Exclusive) "High hope" for the early running down of the assassin or assassins of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, crime reporter for the Chicago Tribune, and a plan for the co-ordination of all investigating bodies that are seeking to drive gangsters and criminals from Chicago, and at the same time to solve the murder of Lingle were announced tonight by State's Attorney Swanson.

The prosecutor and Acting Police Commissioner John H. Alcock are scheduled for a conference tomorrow, probably after the City Council meeting at which it will be determined if Alcock is to remain in temporary command of the police force. It was reported Monday that the Association of Commerce leaders are not satisfied with Alcock and will not, in fact, be satisfied with any other police executive in that position. What they want is a police commissioner appointed from the ranks of prominent Chicagoans who is really interested in cleaning up the city.

Swanson's plan calls for the renting of a Loop office, which all public bodies and all civic and semi-official agencies may use as headquarters or as a clearinghouse, and which will offer every aid to the City Council and City Civil Service Commission in the prospective investigation of the police department which is to begin Thursday.

ROYALTY PRESENT

Black coats of all kinds proved popular, many women wearing two-piece ensembles with neck furs of silver fox or summer ermine. Brightly colored shoes usually accompanied the flowing frocks, some being of red and blue leather, and others of spotted silk or colored crepe de chine.

The new dresses discreetly cover the calf and merely allow a peek at the ankle. An added old-fashioned touch was given to some dresses which were high-necked with whale-bone supports. Old-fashioned elbow gloves were worn with sleeveless gowns.

King George, Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales, Princess Mary and Prince George, Duke of Gloucester, drove to the races this afternoon and occupied the royal box. Aga Kahn, the Indian Prince; Spanish Ambassador and Marquisa Merry Del Val, the Marchioness of Lansdowne and the Duke of Norfolk were among the hundreds of well-known social figures present.

ST. PAUL, June 17. (AP)—With victory assured, Senator Schall continued piling up a majority over his chief opponent, Gov. ESPEE WINS TAX FIGHT IN HIGH COURT

Road's Interpretation of King Bill Sustained by Reversal of Lower Rulings

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17. (Exclusive)—The State Supreme Court, sitting en banc, today reversed the lower courts of the State in the Southern Pacific tax fight and sustained the railroad's interpretation of the King tax bill of 1921 as far as it affects interurban systems and street-car lines. The decision affects all railroads with interurban connections in the State. By its terms, the company's interurban earnings can be assessed only at 5 1-4 per cent as against the 7 per cent rate charged against them. The court branded the 7 per cent rate "illegal and void," overriding the findings of the State Board of Equalization, which found for the 7 per cent rate in its original determinations.

The King bill of 1921 provided for a 7 per cent tax on the gross earnings of railroads and 5 1-4 per cent on the earnings of interurban systems and street-car lines. The Southern Pacific was assessed on the larger rate for its interurban connections and refused to pay. The Board of Equalization ruled against the company and the case was appealed.

Move to Disbar Dead Candidate to Be Dropped

SALEM (Or.) June 17. (AP)—The State Supreme Court today ordered abated the proceedings which would have disbarred Senator George W. Joseph, Republican nominee for Governor, who died yesterday. The court ordered that announcement of his disbarment, which was made last month, shall not be published in the Oregon records.

Senator Joseph's petition for a rehearing on the case was received by the court yesterday, the day of his death.

Joseph was ordered disbarred for denunciation of several members of the court.

League of Picture Industry Nations in Making

Will Hays in Paris to Sit at Initial Parley

Patent-Right Agreements Also Contemplated

[Copyright, 1930, by New York World]

PARIS, June 17. (Exclusive)—Links forged of mutual helpfulness and understanding and pooled experience may soon unite in a world league the moving-picture industry of all nations and the electric corporations of the United States and Europe.

Will Hays, motion-picture czar of the United States, arrived here today to confer with representatives of the largest European concerns in the motion-picture-making field. The conference has been arranged to take place at St. Moritz, Switzerland, but yesterday the meeting place was shifted to Paris. German and American leaders of the motion-picture world will meet here tomorrow in an effort to reach a preliminary understanding over certain disputed patent rights connected with the making of films. Some of these patents particularly affect the production of "talkies."

"Motion-picture entertainment is a universal industry," Hays said today. "Its problems concern both art and industry and must be considered on a world scale. Especially since sound brought a new dimension to the screen have these problems become more acute, more intentional. A world view of the entire industry is indispensable in order to keep the new developments in proper focus. Personally I am eager to seize this opportunity for a first-hand exchange of views with many of those who are contributing so splendidly to the development of the motion picture in Europe. Such conferences, I hope, may advance our mutual sympathetic understanding and promote the will to cooperate."

Will Rogers's Aunt Expires

TAHLEQUAH (Okla.) June 17. (AP)—Mrs. Martha Lucretia Gulager, 83 years of age, Cherokee tribeswoman and aunt of Will Rogers died today at her home nine miles southwest of here. She was a sister of Rodgers's mother.

The cowboy humorist is expected to arrive here from Boston for the funeral, to be conducted tomorrow afternoon.

Clara Bow

They thought I was a terrible person because they saw and heard me in the movies, and I said 'ain't,' and all that sort of thing. They didn't really know me.

"The boy friend and his wife didn't get a divorce then—the final decree is coming up in Los Angeles in August and he'll have to be out there then, I guess. She followed him to Europe but I used to get the longest cablegrams ever sent over the ocean from him, and I would send word that I didn't want to see him any more.

SHE'S CHANGEABLE

"I was down, see? Of course, I did see him just before he sailed from New York but that was the last time before now. When he got back he kept wiring me and I kept wiring him that I didn't want to see him.

"The wife told me that she hadn't taken any of that $30,000 and when I found that out I decided to take the train for Dallas."

"What are you going to do when the boy friend is out in the world again," she was asked.

"Oh, I dunno. I'm sort of changeable," she rattled, "and besides there's another boy out on the Coast in pictures I like awfully well. His name is Rex Bell. He played my lead in the last picture I made. Gee, he's a swell fella!"

STORY MET WITH SILENCE AT STUDIO

Clara Bow's startling announcement yesterday in Dallas, Tex., that she had gone to that city to straighten out with "a boy friend" the payment by her of $30,000 to his wife to settle a $150,000 alienation of affections suit, was met by silence on the part of executives at the Paramount Studio in Hollywood where she is under contract.

The executives declined to make any comment on Miss Bow's assertion that she wanted to fight the case in court but that those in charge of the studio requested her to settle the case. Nor would the studio officials make any comment on Clara's statement about the small amount of money she says she receives.

MATTER PERSONAL

"Since this would appear to be a p-rsonal matter we can see no necessity nor reason for making any statement," B. P. Schulberg, general manager of the studio, said yesterday. "Miss Bow always has been inclined to make extravagant statements to interviewers. All newspaper men who have ever gone to see her on stories must know this."

The "boy friend" referred to by Miss Bow is said to be a young physician who became acquainted with her while she was a patient at a Los Angeles Hospital a number of years ago, where he was serving as an interne. It is said his wife divorced the young physician in this city. Miss Bow underwent an operation at the hospital.

Since her sensational rise in filmdom, Miss Bow's romances have been many but none has ever culminated in marriage. Her most recent romance was with Harry Richman, New York night-club owner and vaudeville entertainer who recently made a motion picture here.

SEEN MUCH WITH BELL

According to her friends, this romance, too, has cooled and Clara and Richman will never to go the altar—together.

They declare the engagement has been "all off" for a number of months past. Miss Bow has persistently declined to answer questions about the asserted broken engagement with Richman. More recently she has been seen much in the company of Rex Bell, also a picture actor.

A few of her former suitors, to whom she was at one time or another reported engaged, are Gilbert Roland, actor; Victor Fleming, director, and several football players of note. Her first reported engagement after she joined the film colony was to Donald Keith, an actor, in 1925.

Revolutionary Group Attacks Bolivia Town

[Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.]

BUENOS AIRES, June 17. (Exclusive)—Late dispatches from La Quiaca, which is close to the Bolivian frontier, state that a considerable number of Bolivian Communists attacked and sacked the town of Villazon, overpowering the police troops stationed there.

The Communists were headed by Roberto Hinojosa, who was formerly secretary of the Bolivian Legation at Rio de Janeiro, from which he was discharged for anti-American activities.

Official Bolivian sources characterize this movement as a storm in a teapot, not worthy of serious consideration. But advices from La Quiaca state that the Bolivian malcontents assert the support of a large section of the regular army.

LANDLADY'S SLAYER SENTENCED TO HANG

OROVILLE, June 17. (AP)—William Kogut, 35-year-old miner convicted of murder in connection with the stabbing to death of Mrs. Mayme Guthrie, Oroville rooming-house proprietress, today was sentenced to hang August 22 at San Quentin prison. At his trial Kogut contended Mrs. Guthrie had served him drinks and his mind was "blank" when she was killed.

ARMS EXPORTS TO SOVIETS HIT

Government Disapproves of Such Shipments

Plane Company Not to Send Bombers Abroad

"Recent Developments" at Bottom of Policy

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP)—Disapproval of export of arms, munitions of war and airplanes for military purposes to the soviet union has become a policy of the American government.

While no governmental agency is empowered by law to restrict such exportations, officials of the State Department said today the administration will follow the policy of informing prospective exporters such shipments are "regarded with disfavor."

The decision came to light after the Glenn L. Martin Company of Baltimore opened negotiations with the soviet to manufacture twenty bombing planes and other aircraft and equipment at approximate cost of $2,000,000.

The negotiations were brought to an end when the State Department, after consulting other government departments, including the Navy, indicated its disapproval.

State Department officials said they have for some time reviewed requests for exportations of arms and military equipment to the soviet union. In the present instances disfavor was expressed "in view of certain recent developments."

The import of these "developments" was not expanded upon by the department.

The policy is not without precedent, lengthy regulations being in force regarding the export of arms and military equipment to China.

NO TRACE FOUND OF PILOT LOST IN ANDES

BUENOS AIRES, June 17. (AP)—All efforts to find the French airmail pilot, Henry Guillaumet, who has been lost since last Friday when he attempted to cross the Andes between Santiago de Chile and Mendoza, have failed. All possible routes have been searched thoroughly and Monday planes of the Aero-Postal Company crossed the Andes five times without finding any trace of the flyer.

Why Fat Men Stay Fat

"The trouble with me, and I guess this applies to 99% of the men who are putting on weight, I didn't have the energy or "pep" to keep it off. Lost all interest in any healthy activity and just lazed around accumulating the old pounds until I got that "Kruschen feeling."

Start taking Kruschen Salts—that's the common-sense way to reduce—but don't take them with the idea that they posses reducing qualities in themselves.

This is what they do—they clean out the impurities in your blood by keeping the bowels, kidneys and liver in splendid working shape and fill you with a vigor and tireless energy you'd most forgotten had existed.

As a result instead of planting yourself in an easy chair every free moment and letting flabby fat accumulate you feel an urge for activity that keeps you moving around doing the things you've always wanted to do and needed to do to keep you in good condition.

Then watch the pounds slide off!

Kruschen Salts are the up-to-date Fountain of Youth. Take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot or cold water tomorrow morning and every morning—and if they don't change your whole idea about reducing, go back and get the small price you paid for them. SACKETT WILL DEFY MAGNATE

Ambassador at Berlin Not to Change Speech

Passages Bring Objections from Samuel Insull

World Power Conference to Hear Envoy Today

BERLIN, June 17. (AP)—Ambassador Sackett tonight authorized a statement that despite objections by Samuel Insull, Chicago utilities magnate, he will deliver unchanged a speech he had prepared for tomorrow's session of the World Power Conference.

It had been reported earlier that the Ambassador, disliking Mr. Insull's protest, would withdraw the speech entirely and confine himself to conveying briefly President Hoover's greetings to the delegates.

COST DISCUSSED

The speech, copies of which were issued in advance to American newspaper men, contains references to the public utilities problem in the United States with special bearing on the cost of such services to consumers.

Word was given out this morning at the Embassy that some revision was to be made in the speech, and this lent color to the reports that the Ambassador had withdrawn it.

The circulation of these reports, however, apparently roused the Ambassador's ire, for the next development was an emphatic assurance that the speech will be delivered as written.

DISPUTED PASSAGE

One passage to which it is understood Mr. Insull objected began thus:

"I know of no other manufacturing industry where the sale price of the product to the great mass of consumers is fifteen times the actual cost of production of the article sold. My purpose is sharply to define a weakness that calls for the keenest thought in your deliberations.

"Until the power business is brought into line with other industries in the relationship of its cost of production to the price paid by the consumer, there can be little justification for thinking that this great power industry is rapidly approaching perfection."

SIBLEY ADDRESSES WORLD CONFERENCE

BERLIN, June 17. (AP)—The world power conference today entered the second day session in three sections. Under the chairmanship of Robert Sibley of California, an important group of the congress went into the subject of "Electricity in Industry."

Carlos Zechi of Argentina, led another section considering the subject of fuel, power and heating. Research problems occupied the other group.

In his address, Mr. Sibley said California leads the world in the use of electricity in the home and on the farm. He said solution of the problems involved in transmitting electric power over record distances of 250 to 300 miles at voltages of 220,000 and distributing this energy over an area of interconnected electric service has introduced new economic and social problems.

"The solutions of these problems," Sibley said, "mean much to the forward progress of electric development throughout the world."

COUNCIL ORDERS FOWLS MUTED

Burlingame City Ordinance Would Curb Noises of Barnyard Residents

BURLINGAME, June 17. (AP)—The blatant crow of the rooster, the gabbling of geese and the coo of the pigeon have been officially muted by Burlingame's city fathers.

In solemn conclave, the City Council enacted an ordinance muting the vocal utterances of fowls and other barnyard residents, curtailing their number and restricting their wanderings. Owners who permit their charges to moo, bleat, crow, cackle, grunt, warble or snort where such noise disturbs neighbors in their sleep or otherwise, are punishable by a fine of $500 and six months in jail.

Ormsby Moves for Dismissal

OAKLAND, June 17. (Exclusive) A motion to dismiss graft charges against Cromwell L. Ormsby, Los Angeles attorney indicted jointly with Burton F. Becker, ousted Sheriff of Alameda county, was submitted in Superior Court today by Joseph L. Fainer, attorney acting for Ormsby. Fainer bases his plea on the assertion Ormsby has not gone to trial within sixty days of his indictment. The District Attorney's office will oppose the motion, it is anticipated, because of the press of other trials in the so-called graft cases.

UTILITY HEADS DECRY POLITICS

Sloan Opens Convention at San Francisco

Warns Against Power Being Made Campaign Issue

Expansion Program Involves $1,046,000,000 Outlay

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17. (Exclusive)—A demand for the application of sound economic principles in laws which will protect the public without penalizing public utilities was voiced today by Matthew S. Sloan, president of the National Electric Light Association, in launching the formal sessions of that body's fifty-third annual convention. His theme was amplified during the day by other speakers in a manner leaving no doubt of their reference to the efforts of politicians to make public utilities campaign fodder for lack of a more tangible issue. Every reference to the matter brought applause from the delegates in the densely packed Civic Auditorium.

President Sloan characterized his annual address as a review of the economic and political developments of the past year as affecting the light and power industry.

NEED DEFINED

"Public utility laws and the machinery of public utility regulation are being recast amid a clamor of extremist theories, demagogic attacks and political maneuverings," he declared.

"The utility issue as a feature of the coming campaign is eminently undesirable and not in the public interest. Economics will not be promoted thereby. Sales will not be increased thereby and rates will not be lowered thereby. Capital will not be made more available.

"What is needed now and for the future is not heat or hate or demogogy, but the application of economic laws which will command and reward the confidence of the investor without robbing the consumer."

Sloan reported a survey of the power and light industry shows that $1,046,000,000 will be expended this year for extension of service facilities, and said that is the industry's contribution to the unified efforts of business to overcome the stock market crash last fall.

Addresses were made by Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway; Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, and Harry Reid of the National Electric Power Company, chairman of the public relations section.

NEW ACHIEVEMENTS

Paul S. Clapp, managing director, reported on achievements in the last five years.

"Since 1925, new customers to the number of 5,500,000 have been added," he said. "With four persons to a family that means new electric service to 20,000,000 persons, 17 per cent of the population."

A warning to the light and power industry to take a lesson from the past history of the railroads and avoid unwarranted expansion of physical properties, inflation of securities and overproduction, was sounded by President Sargent of the Northwestern.

DEEPER OBLIGATION

"There is an obligation," he declared, "more deep seated and far-reaching, if you would maintain proper public relations, than the mere courting of the good will of the public. The problem has to do with the part you can play in shaping general economic policies of the government through education, through stable, safe and conservative management.

"It will be a sad day for America when our government uses its great powers and unlimited resources to compete in business with its own citizens.

"Such a policy is not only morally wrong, but is economically wrong. It takes the citizen's money through the process of taxation and uses it to destroy the citizen's own business by going into competition with him.

"The newspapers of my own city (Chicago) recently have been sounding the alarm of possible gang control of municipal government. How much greater would be the danger if the prize consisted also of the operation of and management of the street railways, gas and electric companies, telephones and other public utilities."

FALLACIES CITED

Speaking on "Let There be Light," Editor Thorpe declared that "in order to get light into more electric bulbs there must be more light in the public discussions of light and power.

"No industry has more popular economic fallacies built around it than the electric light and power industry," Thorpe said. "First, some people believe that water power, God given, runs forever and costs nothing to produce, while really, modern steam plants can produce the power cheaper than hydroelectric plants, with few exceptions. Second, there is a belief that municipal operation is better for small communities. The reverse is true, as has been proven. Third, people think electric power and light has no competition, but if power rates were raised 10 per cent, the factories would disconnect tomorrow and make their own power.

"Public opinion in this country has shown itself to be fair and just when informed of the facts. But facts are the least developed of our natural resources and this is particularly true of so involved a business as the electric light and power business."

A similar attitude was taken by Reid, who pleaded for more accurate publicity regarding the light and power industry.

Oregon Forest Fire Wind Fed

EUGENE (Or.) June 17. (AP)—A northwest wind today continued to sweep the forest fire in the Crown Willamette timber holdings near Booth out of the control of Herron Lumber Company employees, who have fought the flames for two days. The fire was reported burning fiercely along the Roosevelt Highway.

A ten-acre brush fire was reported to have threatened the town of Florence, Or., yesterday, but it was subdued quickly.

STUDY OF FARM LABOR FAVORED

McNary Resolution Passed by Senate

House Expected to Approve Measure Also

Facts on Mexican Influx to be Gathered

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 17. (Exclusive)—The McNary resolution, providing for a study of the unskilled farm labor problem by Presidential commission was passed by the Senate today, without opposition or discussion, and sent to the House, where its enactment is expected to be made complete before the close of the present session of Congress.

It is an administration measure, having been sponsored by the Federal Farm Board, and one of its main purposes is to bring about the assembling of genuine facts bearing on Mexican labor in this country. Employers of Mexicans in California and throughout the Southwest supported the resolution in the belief such a survey will prove their contention that free entry of Mexican common laborers at certain seasons and to harvest certain crops such as deciduous fruit is essential to the welfare of American agriculturists in a large section of the country.

LEGISLATION FOUGHT

It is the hope of these employers that the report of the commission will prevent enactment in Congress of the pending legislation which would place Mexico under the Immigration Quota Act. As a matter of fact, however, the State Department by tightening up on border regulations has already reduced Mexican entries below quota limits and the "Mexican question" so-called, has become primarily one of blocking passage of legislation which would offend the southern republic and lead to trade and diplomatic reprisals while accomplishing no constructive result.

Yet the Mexican labor dispute—that of whether Mexicans are needed in the United States for certain types of common labor which natives will not perform—remains to be solved to the satisfaction of Congress and the investigation proposed in the McNary resolution should, it is believed, help out in this respect.

The commission would be appointed by the President and its report would be made to Congress not later than December 1, next. This early date was set to avoid the charge that the inquiry was suggested to delay action on Mexican restriction bills which, barring a legislative miracle, are already dead for this session and cannot come up again until the winter session of Congress.

HOUSE ACTION LIKELY

House leaders, it is understood, plan to give the McNary resolution a special rule if necessary to get it through at their side before the adjournment now tentatively scheduled for the end of next week.

Meanwhile House advocates of Mexican exclusion — Chairman Johnson of the Immigration Committee, Representative Box of Texas, and Representative Jenkins of Ohio—are reported to have evolved a scheme with the aid of Assistant Secretary of Labor Husband for reducing all immigration for a certain set period of years. Their plan is said to be to introduce a measure which would curtail European immigration to 15,000 a year, which would be 10 per cent of the present allowance, and place a 10,000 maximum limitation on entries from other countries of the western world, including Canada and Mexico.

There is little chance such legislation could be passed at this session. It has the merit, however, of treating all countries alike and could not be objected to as the present Harris-Box bill is, on the ground it singles out one country, Mexico, for restriction on this hemisphere.

SMUGGLERS SHIFT RUM OPERATIONS

New Canadian Law Sends Armada to Miquelon as Center of Activities

BOSTON, June 17. (AP)—The Boston Traveler today said the new Canadian law prohibiting exports of liquor to the United States has sent "the most completely organized and equipped armada of rum ships ever reported" surging down the Atlantic seaboard.

As a result of the passage of the new laws, the Traveler says, the center of the rum-running industry shifted to the Atlantic, and St. Pierre, Miquelon, a French possession south of Newfoundland, became almost overnight the greatest rum port on the North Atlantic. Ships capable of carrying loads of more than 25,000 cases, the paper says, clear from St. Pierre and transfer their cargoes at points from fifty to 120 miles from the American shore to smaller, fast motor cruisers.

Operating with the fleet, the Traveler says, are these "mother ships" and light cruisers, fast scouting craft, unlicensed radio stations and an intricate spy system.

Drugs Declared Up to Standard

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP)—Charges of lax enforcement of drug standards by the Department of Agriculture were denied today by Dr. Olin West, secretary of the American Medical Association, and Dr. Paul N. Leech, chief chemist of the association's laboratories.

Before the Senate Agricultural Committee Leech declared he had "no confidence" in Dr. H. H. Rusby, dean of Columbia University's pharmacy department, who testified an inferior brand of ergot was being allowed to enter the United States. Ergot is a drug used in obstetrics.

TINKHAM OPENS FIRE ON CANNON

Bay State Wet Says Bishop "Lifted" $48,300

Prelate's Silence Asserted to Have Sinister Meaning

Representative Gives List of Unanswered Questions

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP) In a statement telegraphed from Louisville, Ky., Bishop James Cannon, Jr., today termed Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, a "blustering coward" for attacking him on the floor of the House under immunity from prosecution for libel.

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP)—Representative Tinkham, Massachusetts "wet," today made his expected attack on Bishop James Cannon, asserting "in the eyes of all honest men," the churchman "will stand convicted" of appropriating to his own uses $48,300 that E. C. Jameson, New York capitalist, gave him for anti-Smith work.

Tinkham, when a witness before the Senate lobby committee, charged Cannon had violated the Corrupt Practices Act by failing to report how he spent the money. The bishop denied this.

The Massachusetts Representative said if Cannon's transaction "would stand the light of day" he would have testified before the lobby committee without hesitancy. He said the bishop owed an explanation to his church and added he would not have been exonerated at a recent church conference if it had had the facts presented to the lobby committee during Cannon's examination.

SILENCE HELD SINISTER

Tinkham said Cannon, to divert suspicion, had appealed to sectarian prejudice. He continued the bishop charged Roman Catholics with conspiring against him.

Tinkham said Cannon's refusal to answer questions "can give rise only to sinister implications."

Tinkham declared much of the payment from Jameson to Cannon was in checks payable to "cash," at Cannon's request; and that no report of any contributions whatever from Jameson was filed until after these contribution had become known through another source.

QUESTIONS REVEALED

"Under oath and subject to cross-examination," Tinkham said, "Bishop Cannon feared the following questions:

"(1.) Why he wished the money contributed by E. C. Jameson paid in cash.

"(2.) Why he wholly concealed until February 15, 1929, the receipt of the money he had received from E. C. Jameson.

"(3.) Why on February 15, 1929, he reported the receipt of only $17,000 when $65,300 had been received from Mr. Jameson.

"(4.) Why he took occasion belatedly to report the receipt of this $17,000 on February 15, 1929, when the Federal Corrupt Practices Act under which act the report was made did not require report at that time.

"(5.) Why in his telegram of February 12, 1929, to E. C. Jameson instructing Mr. Jameson what to report . . . contributions to him of $65,300, he stated this will correspond exactly with our official reports, when he knew at the time that he sent that telegram that it could not correspond with his official reports because no official reports had been made of those contributions.

TELEGRAM CONFLICTS

"(6.) Why he should have stated in his telegram of May 13, 1930, to the chairman of the Senate lobby investigating committee that he had made no report of the receipt and expenditure of the $48,300 said to have been spent in Virginia, because no report was required by law, when a report of this money was clearly required under the Federal Corrupt Practices Act.

"(7.) Why did he not include in the reports filed with the clerk of the House the expenditures asserted to have been made in the State of Virginia?

"(8.) Whether or not at the time he was receiving money from E. C. Jameson he owed any money to Kable and Company or Harry L. Goldhurst, who operated a bucket shop and who subsequently was prosecuted and convicted by the United States government for using the mails to defraud and with whom Bishop Cannon now is known to have had extensive transactions shortly before his receipt of contributions from E. C. Jameson.

BUCKET SHOP FORMED

"(9.) Whether or not he had any dealings with one Joseph Radlow, a partner of Harry L. Goldhurst, who subsequently, it is stated, organized with said Harry L. Goldhurst a bucket shop under the name of the Cosmopolitan Fiscal Corporation and who also was later convicted of using the mails to defraud.

"(10.) Whether or not he had dealings with the Cosmopolitan Fiscal Corporation organized by the said Joseph Radlow and Harry L. Goldhurst.

"(11.) Whether he incurred any financial obligations in connection with extensive stock options signed by the said Joseph Radlow and executed October 4, 1928, when he was receiving contributions from E. C. Jameson.

"(12.) Whether any of the money received from E. C. Jameson was used by him on account of any personal indebtedness."

SENATE REPORT DELAYED

A final report by the lobby committee on its examination of Cannon was to have been made to the Senate today, but Chairman Caraway postponed it until tomorow in order not to interfere with legislation. He gave notice he would "have something to say" when the report is made.

It will consist merely of the transcript of Cannon's examination, which shows he refused to answer questions about his political activities.

Dalton Already Asked to Aid in Ship Board Quiz

All Identified in Past With Government Policies

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP)—The administration's investigation into the sale of Atlantic steamship lines by the Shipping Board will be conducted by a committee of whose members at least three and possibly five will be men closely associated with the governmental merchant marine policy in the past.

The definite appointment of three additional members and the tentative selection of a fourth committeeman was announced today by the President. H. C. Dalton of Cleveland, who made a similar investigation in 1925 for President Coolidge, already has been appointed.

The President said he has chosen for the committee Edward N. Hurley of Chicago, war-time chairman of the Shipping Board; Ira Campbell of New York, maritime lawyer and once admiralty counsel for the board, and Clarence Mott Woolley of New York, war trade board member. Charles Piez of Chicago, who was chairman of the board's Merchant Fleet Corporation, has been asked to be the fifth of the six-member investigating group, but ill health may force him to decline the appointment.

RED WING (Minn.) June 17. (AP) A Red Cross tabulation announced today revealed that tornadoes which struck in Minnesota and Wisconsin last Friday affected 300 families and caused damage of more than $1,000,000 in the two States.

Mrs. E. R. Ellis, national relief chairman of the Red Cross, announced the figures in appealing to residents of the two States to raise $50,000 to aid sufferers in the storm districts.

SOUTHLAND BID FOR POWER HIT

Angeles Citizens' Vote on Boulder Dam Asked

ing, Defending Contract, Backed by Garner

nate Preparing to Block Arizona Filibuster

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 17. (Exclu-sive)—Debate on the initial $10,660,-000 appropriation for Boulder Dam opened in the House today with a demand by Representative Ayres of Kansas, high ranking Democrat on the Appropriations Committee, that the city of Los Angeles contract directly with the government for the power it is to receive from the dam, instead of doing this through its water and power department.

Ayres declared funds should be withheld until the citizens of Los Angeles by two-thirds vote, have authorized a bond issue covering the city's share of the cost of the development, and intimated he will offer an amendment to that end. He said that in his opinion the city's contract is not sound under the laws of California until the people themselves have passed upon it at the polls, and that as matters stand Los Angeles is not a legally responsible party to the project and can, therefore, get water and power for fifty years without paying for it.

AYRES'S THEORY

Ayres's theory is that the city is liable for permanent contracting unless it observes the water and power which may some day be distributed, leaving the Federal government holding the bag at Boulder Canyon. It was the same argument advanced over in the recent hearings before the Appropriations Committee, and there is no reason to believe it will get any further on the floor than it did in the committee. Friends of the Colorado River project are confident the starting appropriation bill will be approved. There is little doubt of this and Representative Ayres, the first to attack it, has stated that he is only expressing his "doubts" and will not vote against granting the funds. The second deficiency bill, which the Boulder Dam appropriation is the most controversial, is scheduled to pass the lower house Thursday. It is to be laid over tomorrow for calendar Monday.

Senate leaders plan to insure passage of the appropriation at their end by the simple expedient of letting it go to a decision on adjournment until the deficiency bill is safely through. This course, it is believed, will render impotent the filibuster threatened by the Arizona Senators Ashurst and Hayden.

GARNER SURPRISES

Representative Swing of El Centro, co-author of the Colorado River bill, defended the water and power projects in today's House debate and pointed out that they have been approved by Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, in a most careful analysis. Representative Crampton of Michigan, chairman of the Appropriations Committee in direct charge of the projects, also supported the bill and strangely enough Representative Garner of Texas, the Democratic leader, went to bat for the development, chiding members who would question the project after Congress had authorized it and the administration had reported that it had fulfilled its administrative function in connection with the contracts guaranteeing repayment of the government's $165,-000,000 investment.

Garner's manner was that of a minority party leader who advocated that the Republicans having favored the project and put it through should now be permitted to take the responsibility for working it out and if the contracts are not so much better for the Democrats later on. Representative Douglas, Democrat of Arizona, leading opponent of the project, scolded the leader for departing from his customary role of Treasury watch-dog.

Douglas plans to make his fight against the measure under the five-minute rule which will be in effect probably Thursday. This means a series of short attacks and probably a number of amendments. Te himself has little hope of being able to defeat the appropriation or of carrying any amendments he may intro-duce.

BROKERS' LOANS CURB PROPOSED

Glass Offers Bill to Revise National Banking Law

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP)—Restriction of loans to brokers by national banking associations was proposed today by Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, in a bill to provide a general overhauling of the national banking law and the Federal Reserve Act.

The measure represents months of study by the Virginian, who helped frame the Federal Reserve Act and who later served as Secretary of the Treasury. It is the first attempt to curb the brokers' loans by legislation.

In introducing the bill Senator Glass said he intends it to serve as the basis for the banking investigation recently ordered by the Senate.

SECT BOOSTS RACE SUICIDE

Death by Degrees Urged in New Cult Born in Rumania Now Seeking Paris Converts

[Copyright, 1930, by Press Publishing Company (New York World)]

PARIS, June 17. (Exclusive)—A new sect, which ushers in the creed that the human race has come to the end of its usefulness and therefore ought to be made to disappear from the face of the earth, has made its appearance in Paris. Its adherents call themselves Christianians. They hail from Rumania, where the sect occupies one of the oldest quarters in the city of Bucharest. The headquarters of the propaganda bureau are located in the Latin quarter. Branches have also been established in London and Berlin.

In so far as he praised abnegation and self-sacrifice.

Self-sacrifice the Christianians interpret as complete abstention from all joys and pleasures. They do not envisage any violent code of wholesale suicides, but only a slow process of living death.

"The human race must die out," says the Christianian creed; "our first duty is to encourage the dying out process." For this reason all systems of birth control are greatly encouraged by the new society and young people are encouraged not to marry.

The whole cult centers around the idea of death. Death means salvation, say the Christianians, because what we call life is only illusion, nothing is real. All the things around us—the roar and bustle of great cities, music, art, love and friendship—all is imagination. We are in a dream. We will awaken from our dreams only at the moment of death. The Christianians reject all church dogmas and creeds. They do not believe in the Trinity. They adhere to the prescriptions of Jesus Christ, however,

WATER EQUALS NEEDS OF STATE

San Joaquin Only Sufferer Despite Dry Winter

SACRAMENTO, June 17. (Exclusive)—Water conditions in California are reasonably satisfactory in spite of the fact that the snow and rainfall during the past winter was below normal throughout the State, except in a small area in San Diego county, Edward Hyatt, State Engineer, announced today.

"The southern half of the San Joaquin Valley," said Mr. Hyatt, "is the only area which appears at all to be pressed for moisture and this is because practically the entire normal supply there is being utilized and any shortage must have its effect."

In the Sacramento Valley the supply normally far exceeds the demand and even this year of subnormal rainfall there is more than enough moisture for all purposes.

Dry Acquitted in Raid Killing

GUTHRIE (Okla.) June 17. (AP)—W. W. (Snake) Thomason, veteran prohibition-enforcement agent, was acquitted today by a Federal court jury of a murder charge arising from the slaying last July 4 of James Harris and Oscar Lowery during a liquor raid on the Harris tenant farm home near Tecumsed, Okla.

The court pointed out that evidence did not indicate Thomason actually participated in the shooting.

DANFORTH NOMINATED AIR CORPS CHIEF'S AIDE

ARABS HANGED IN JERUSALEM

British Inflict Penalty for Slaying Jews

JERUSALEM, June 17. (AP)—The execution of three Arabs convicted of having murdered Jews during the Palestine riots last August today precipitated another difficult situation for British authorities in dealing with the Moslem population in the Holy Land.

The three men were hanged in the prison yard at Acre. The Arab executive, supported by Christian church leaders, vainly attempted to obtain a reprieve for them.

Arab leaders immediately countered by calling a general strike throughout Palestine, which was rigorously observed by Moslems.

At Haifa, rioting broke out and Police Superintendent F. M. Scott of Tel Aviv, temporarily on duty in Haifa, was injured in checking the rioters. In Jaffa, police broke up a demonstration.

QUAKERS OPEN YEARLY MEETING

Conference, as Usual, Will be Conducted in Whittier

Presiding Officer Completes His Thirteenth Year

Special Programs Arranged for Week of Sessions

WHITTIER, June 17.—The thirty-sixth annual assembly of the California Yearly Meeting of Friends Church, will open here tomorrow and will continue with conferences and open meetings, morning, afternoon and evenings for one week.

This meeting will be of interest to the 5813 members throughout the State. This yearly meeting is composed of twenty-three Friends churches, located from San Diego to Berkeley. The annual assembly, which the Friends designate at the yearly meeting, is always held in Whittier.

The Whittier church, in point of physical construction and also in point of membership is the largest Friends church in the world.

Allen U. Tomlinson, local business man, this year completes his thirteenth year of service as "clerk," or presiding officer, as the Friends choose to call their president or chairman of the meeting.

The yearly meeting is the highest tribunal of Friends churches in California, and is composed of quarterly meetings, which, in turn, are composed of monthly meetings. These terms do not properly apply to time, but are names given groups of churches.

At four of the evening meetings during the week, the ministers representing four quarterly meetings will be in charge. Thursday evening, the 19th inst., Rev. R. Ernest Lamb, pastor of the Los Angeles church and representing the Pasadena quarterly meeting, will speak; Friday evening Rev. Ray L. Carter, president of the Training School for Christian Workers at Huntington Park, and representing the Whittier quarterly meeting will be in charge; Monday evening Rev. C. Herschel Eminger, pastor of the Oakland Friends Church and representing the Berkeley quarterly meeting will speak and Tuesday evening Rev. Joseph Fox, pastor of the San Diego Friends Church, and representing the San Diego quarterly meeting, will deliver the message.

The yearly meeting sermon will be delivered by Rev. George Deshler, of Yerba Linda, Thursday morning.

Thursday evening two banquets will be given, one for men and one for women. At the men's banquet Rev. Dr. Edwin McGraw, former president of Penn College at Oskaloosa, Iowa, and now pastor of the First Friends Church at Pasadena, will be the after-dinner speaker.

At the woman's banquet, Mrs. Grace White will give a review of the general conference of the Friends Women's Missionary Society, which was held at Oskaloosa, Iowa. Mrs. White was the California delegate to the meeting.

Timely Pageant in Bear Valley Fourth of July

SAN BERNARDINO, June 17.—Formation of the Bear Valley Pageant Association, which will sponsor the mountain resort's first annual community play, "Never-the-less Old Glory," on July 4, 5 and 6, next, in the Moonridge Bowl, has just been completed with the election of officers, according to Phil Whiting, who will direct the historical drama.

The executive staff includes George A. Klapp, president; Ralph William, vice-president; Mrs. William S. Talmadge, treasurer; Mrs. Mable G. Lazier, corresponding secretary; Judge C. R. Lynn, press chairman; Glen Brookins, executive secretary, and H. A. Kelley, Viggo B. Pedersen, E. L. Stanfield, Clinton E. Miller, Norman Pedersen, Harold B. Eyer, Carl Rickers and J. A. Betterly, directors. All are prominent in community affairs at the lake resort.

The play, which tells the thrilling story of the first July 4 celebration with a gold strike at Holcombe, the mining boom town of Bear Valley, buildings of which still remain there, was adapted from Stephen Chalmers's novel, "Take-a-Chance Tamariane," by Whiting. It is based on historical episodes of the valley in the sixties. Whiting has already started the selection of a cast of 150 to present the play, with professional players in the principal roles.

SANATORIUM FIGHT PUT UP TO PLANNERS

MONROVIA, June 17.—As a possible course in reaching some definite solution in the new tuberculosis zoning fight now being waged between owners of the Decker Sanatorium on Oak Park Lane and residents in that territory, members of the City Council last night after hearing heated arguments both for and against rezoning of Oak Park Lane, referred the entire matter to the City Planning Commission. They set forth a recommendation that the commission take immediate action upon the petition filed by residents, requesting that the Council rezone Oak Park Lane, where residential property was zoned a few years ago for a tuberculosis sanatorium.

CLUBS HOLD MEETING

INGLEWOOD, June 17.—A joint meeting of all the service clubs of this city was held today at the Potrero Country Club, and was attended by about 150 business and professional men. C. G. Farrow of the public relations department of the Southern California Telephone Company spoke to the gathering, giving them an instructive craft talk on the motion-picture industry, and illustrating his remarks with a talkie reel.

STRANGE CASE DECIDED

Riverside Judge, in Effect, Says Dead Men Have No Value

RIVERSIDE, June 17.—Just how worthless humanity really is has come to light in a ruling by Superior Judge Morton in a decision of an appeal from an Indio justice court sentence in which he has set aside a $400 fine and a jail sentence because a dead human body has no value.

The ruling is said to be almost without precedent in the State court annals.

The unusual judgment was handed down in the case of the People against D. G. Gulick, in which he was found guilty by a jury in the Indio justice court of theft by trick and device. He was fined $400 and given a jail term by the justice of the peace. Gulick appealed from the judgment and the hearing was held before Judge Morton.

Testimony was that a Cecil Morris, a railway employee, was killed on the Southern Pacific right of way near Indio, and Thomas Casey, Indio undertaker, was called by a nurse and a physician of the railroad to take charge of the body. He took it to his establishment, and was preparing it for burial when a telephone call from Los Angeles informed him that Gulick, an undertaker, had been instructed by a railway brotherhood to take charge of the body.

Gulick put in his appearance at Casey's place of business at Indio and demanded the body. Casey said $150 was due him for the preliminary preparations on the body. Gulick balked, and offered $100. He finally gave Casey a check for $150, and started back to Los Angeles with the body which was to be shipped to Sheldon, N. C., home of Morris's mother.

When Casey presented the check, it was paid, but at Los Angeles, payment had been stopped by Gulick, so it was not honored. Casey swore out the complaint, charging trick and device. The charge could not be a fictitious-check charge as it did not violate any rules governing the writing or giving of checks.

Supervisors Postpone Action on New Highway

RIVERSIDE, June 17. — Palm Springs probably will be asked to wait another year for the needed improvement of the ten-mile roadway from the Imperial Valley highway to the famous desert resort. This was indicated today during a conference of E. T. Fulford, prominent Palm Springs citizen, and member of that resort town's Chamber of Commerce road committee, with the Board of Supervisors.

"We gave Palm Springs last year the road it wanted the most, the Palm Springs-Indio road, and do not feel that we can spend more there this year," said Chairman Jameson.

Fulford reminded him that construction at Palm Springs in the last year has materially increased the taxable property there and that this factor should not be overlooked in considering the needed paving of the road over which thousands of persons travel each week.

Supervisor McGregor said he had been over the stretch of road recently, and had found it badly in need of repair.

"But, I think the best policy we can follow is to wait until next year, and appropriate enough to lay a first-class permanent pavement into Palm Springs, instead of spending a lot of money on resurfacing the present roadbed," he said. "The road is in very bad condition and certainly needs fixing and Palm Springs has been most patient about asking for the improvement. I do think it would be unwise, though, to consider anything but a better road surface."

Legion Post Learns About Travel in Air

BALDWIN PARK, June 17.—With the successful operation of two-way radio telephones for airplanes, pilots of Western Air Express may now keep in constant communication with ground stations en route between cities, Hugh Shippey, depot master of the main terminal of the company, told the Baldwin Park Post of the American Legion Wednesday night.

Telling of the worth of the new device, the speaker said that through the co-operation of the government Weather Bureau with air transport operators, pilots are informed of changed weather conditions at fifteen-minute intervals. Shippey outlined the many acts of precaution taken by his company in servicing planes on the completion of each trip. He said the rigid inspections by licensed mechanics were made to avoid missing any parts.

The plan of employment of pilots was also explained by the speaker. Before a pilot is engaged by Western Air Express, the applicant is required to show proof that he has had at least 2000 solo hours in the air, Shippey asserted. This requirement is ten times the number of hours exacted by the Department of Commerce for a transport pilot's license.

MONROVIA, June 17.—Summer playground activities here will be started on the 23rd inst., it was announced today by H. B. Beckner, physical education director for the elementary schools, who will supervise the summer playgrounds this season.

ONTARIO WOMAN'S MAIL DELAYED IN TRANSIT

ONTARIO, June 17. — The world's rapid transit escutcheon received a blot today. Mrs. James Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Armstrong, prominent Ontario nurseryman, received a postal card today from Don, Ont., Can. The postcard, according to the date stamped on it, was twenty-one years on the way from Ontario, Can., to Ontario, Cal.

The card was addressed to Miss Olive Armstrong, dated June 25, 1909. It was sent by her aunt, Miss Cooper, now Mrs. M. A. Gauer of Anaheim. When the postcard rested for twenty-one years is not known by the recipient.

BOY ANGLER LANDS MONSTER

Marvin Biddle and His Prize

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 17. Struggling with a 300-pound Jew fish for forty minutes, Marvin Biddle, 18-year-old youth, of 213 Third street, this city, was rewarded with the landing of his fish yesterday afternoon. The tall slender lad had a big fight with the sea monster, but brought him in on a twelve-strand line with a three-pound mackerel for bait. He was fishing from Billy's barge located three miles off the shore from Huntington Beach.

Three Jew fish weighing 400 pounds were brought in the day before. Biddle caught a 100-pounder, "Dutch" Davis, a seventy-five-pounder and J. J. North a 225-pound fish.

North, 326 Sixth street, employee of the Union Oil Company, fought with his fish one hour and fifteen minutes before capturing it. Besides the Jew fish he caught two halibut weighing five and twelve pounds each; five barracuda, weighing five and six pounds each, and three four-pound bass.

North said that the water is alive with fish. Fishermen are having great sport catching the game fish yellow fin, bass, barracuda, halibut, mackerel and Jew fish can be seen by the hundreds swimming in the water around the barge.

Two Candidates for Justice Job

REDONDO BEACH, June 17.—Two candidates are already in the field for the office of Justice of the Peace of Redondo township, subject to the primaries of August 26.

They are Judge J. G. Moodie, incumbent, who is also on the municipal bench in Long Beach and Sam G. Austin, a former newspaper man, now serving as city police judge. He was at one time deputy city prosecutor of Los Angeles, under Joseph Chambers, now municipal judge.

DEATH CAUSED BY RECKLESS DRIVING

SAN DIEGO, June 17.—John Medina, 23 years of age, killed late Saturday in an automobile crash at Ketiner Boulevard and Ash street, was driving his car at a high speed and not in a manner to protect the life and property of persons upon the highway, a Coroner's jury decided here today. Miss Frances Verner, 17, riding with Medina, who escaped practically unhurt, testified that Medina's car entered the intersection at thirty-five miles an hour.

Other witnesses testified that Medina was driving at a higher speed prior to the collision. Medina's car struck a garbage truck being operated by Dave Dodge, city employee, testimony showed after striking the rear of the truck the death car careened off the highway and overturned 125 feet from the point of impact.

Coroner Schuyler C. Kelly conducted the inquest in the Goodbody Ivy chapel.

SIXTY-ONE PUPILS AT SUMMER SCHOOL

One-half credit will be allowed for each course and will count toward graduation. Classes are held in the morning only, beginning at 8 o'clock and closing at 12.

MONTEBELLO CHAMBER DRIVE REPORT MADE

MONTEBELLO, June 17. — First reports issued today on the success of the annual Chamber of Commerce funds and members' drive indicated that the twelve teams in the field on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce were going strong and that by the end of the three-day drive the necessary amount would be reached.

Every spring the membership committee makes an effort to reinstate all former members and enough newcomers to keep the enrollment of the organization at 300, which figure, according to statistics, is better than that of the average community based on population.

COUNTIES JOIN IN PROJECT

Riverside and Los Angeles Organizations to Promote Highway Construction

RIVERSIDE, June 17.—Riverside county yesterday took initial steps toward one of the most ambitious highway projects in Southern California's history, as the Board of Supervisors adopted a resolution agreeing to join with Los Angeles county in a preliminary organization of a joint highway district to finance construction of the 100-foot Florence avenue from Beaumont to the shores of the Pacific, near Venice.

Although the action had two or three strings attached, it, nevertheless, was observed by supporters of the movement as presaging the eventual construction of the road to place Riverside and the county on an arrow-like direct highway to Los Angeles and the beaches, and linking Los Angeels with the Sunkist Trail and the Yuma transcontinental routes over a road passing through Riverside. The projects would follow Central avenue across this city.

San Bernardino county now will be asked to collaborate in a joint highway district preorganization whose objective will be to make a preliminary survey, costing approximately $20,000 to $30,000 to determine the cost of the undertaking and gain some idea of to what extent the State would go in advancing moneys from the State joint highway district fund, which is maintained from the gasoline tax revenue. Only a small corner of San Bernardino county would be crossed by the proposed major lateral, but the county will be asked to co-operate in a tricounties organization.

The Los Angeles Board of Supervisors adopted the original resolution on the 9th inst. and copies have been furnished the boards of Riverside and San Bernardine counties. Adoption of a resolution here was urged before the local supervisors by nearly ten leading citizens of the community.

FLOOD SEASON PASSED IN IMPERIAL VALLEY

EL CENTRO, June 17.—Information received by the Imperial Irrigation district offices here from Grand Canyon gauging station, indicates that the peak of 1930 annual flood in the Colorado River has been passed.

The river reached a discharge of 68,400 second feet during the first week in June, and has remained practically at that point until today, when a definite recession in the flood waters was reported.

This is the lowest crest discharge on record for several years, according to district officials. The valley's protective system has never been seriously threatened at any time during the present season's flood, it was stated.

SAN BUENAVENTURA FAVORED AS NAME

VENTURA, June 17.—"San Buenaventura," instead of plain Ventura, is to be the official name of the Southern Pacific station, if the recommendation of the Chamber of Commerce is approved.

At the meeting yesterday a report of a committee headed by E. M. Sheridan was adopted. Mr. Sheridan said his committee had interviewed many representative citizens and obtained the opinions of various women's clubs and other organizations and that the proposed change met with general approval. The Southern Pacific officials already have expressed a willingness to make the change if the people here want it.

MERCHANTS' INSTITUTE IS GREAT SUCCESS

VENTURA, June 17.—With Ventura merchants enthusiastic over the Merchants' Institute, the second lecture of the series will be delivered Wednesday night by William E. Koch, associate professor of merchandising of the University of Southern California at Los Angeles.

The talk will deal with "profit promotion" and will take up another branch of a subject of vital interest to men who make their livelihood by buying and selling.

More than seventy-five merchants are expected to attend the session. A large crowd greeted the first talk of the course given by Dr. W. D. Moriarty, director of the school of merchandising, last Wednesday. The series consists of a lecture each Wednesday for five consecutive weeks by professors from the Los Angeles university.

Prof. Koch is well known in educational and business circles.

REAPPOINTMENTS FIX LEGAL DISCREPANCY

GLENDORA, June 17.—Due to a legal discrepancy in the appointment of the Glendora Planning Commission last March, under the regime of the former City Council, the personnel has been reappointed by Mayor Wilhite. The commissioners and the terms they will serve are Col. E. F. Underhill and Thomas G. Miller, one year; E. J. Van Der Sluis and Mrs. L. R. Chapman, two years; A. B. Venberg, three years, and Mrs. Gertrude Powell, four years. Ex-officio members of the planning commission include Arthur De Mott, City Engineer; R. B. Bidwell, City Attorney, and Mayor Wilhite.

It is the privilege of the planning commission to appoint its own chairman and other officers which will be named immediately.

FREAK RAIN STORM IN IMPERIAL VALLEY

CALEXICO, June 17. — Preceded by a cloud of dust, the southern part of Imperial Valley was visited by a freak rainstorm here this afternoon which came from the direction of the Gulf of California. A strong wind blew as the sky became overcast with clouds early in the afternoon and at 3 o'clock a torrent of rain began to fall. The storm lasted only fifteen minutes. Rainfall was heaviest south of the international line in Mexico and failed to reach the northern part of Imperial Valley.

Melon growers expressed the fear that it would cause a rapid spread of mildew, which is prevalent in many of the cantaloupe fields.

CHAMBER KEEPS HANDS OFF

Coronado's Transportation Problem Does Not Involve San Diego, it is Decided; Hearing Thursday

SAN DIEGO, June 17.—Recommendation that the San Diego Chamber of Commerce board of directors take no action at the present time in the matter of Coronado's transportation problem was made by the transportation committee of the chamber today after a stormy two-hour meeting that featured a lengthy debate between Commodore A. B. Fry, Mayor pro tem of Coronado, and S. E. Mason, general manager of the San Diego Electric Railway Company.

The committee passed a resolution to the effect that it "does not feel at this time that it has sufficient information to justify a decision." Mason had requested the committee to take some definite stand in regard to the railway company's latest plan for bus service in Coronado, designed to supplement the present street-car service.

This plan will be submitted to the State Railroad Commission at a hearing here Thursday. The new plan of the company, said Fry, for bus service in Coronado alone and not across the ferry, makes the question a purely local one in Coronado, and the San Diego chamber should not interfere. Mason replied that San Diego residents comprise 40 per cent of the passengers carried in the transbay city, and that the question is of vital concern to this city. He contended that failure of the committee to take action would be interpreted as favorable to the Transbay Transportation Company which plans a through bus service between San Diego and Coronado. We need a definite decision to present to the Railroad Commission Thursday, he said.

C. H. Forward, attorney for the Transbay Transportation Company, was in Los Angeles today and had requested postponement of the committee's meeting until tomorrow, according to a communication read by C. F. Reynolds, manager, traffic department of the Chamber of Commerce. Rufus Choate acted as chairman at the meeting.

POMONA GIRL HONORED

Miss Ellen Randolph to be Government's Guest at Dedication of Randolph Field Near San Antonio

POMONA, June 17.—Miss Ellen G. Randolph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Randolph, 501 West Holt avenue, has been signally honored by the United States government, and will soon have the distinction of being the first girl to ride in a flight of United States Army airplanes.

She will be in the leading plane of a squadron of twelve units which will take off from March Field, Riverside, Wednesday morning, carrying twenty-three army officers to the dedication of Randolph Feld near San Antonio, Tex., beginning next Friday.

Capt. William M. Randolph, her brother, was killed in Texas February 17, 1928, when his plane, while taking off, was caught in a down current of air and crashed.

A close friend of Maj.-Gen. J. E. Fechet, chief of the air corps in Washington, Randolph's memory has been honored by the naming of the new airport for him. To add a fitting tribute, Miss Randolph was asked by the air corps chief to be present at the dedication ceremonies at government expense, and arrangements were duly made for her to be transported in the airplane caravan leaving from Southern California.

Randolph Field is the largest flying field in the world and is known as the "West Point of the Air."

Fumigators to Meet at Corona

REDLANDS, June 17.—Donald S. C. Anderson of this city, secretary of the California Fumigators' Association, says that more than 100 fumigators from all parts of Southern California will gather at Corona tomorrow for the annual conference of the pest control association.

The program will start at 10 a.m. with an address entitled "Some Facts Affecting the Efficiency of Fumigation," by F. S. Pratt, manager of the R. & H. Chemical Corporation, El Monte.

"Aspects of Sulphur Dusting" will be discussed at 10:45 a.m. by Dr. Ralph D. Smith, University of California citrus experiment station, Riverside; Harold C. Lewis, entomologist for the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, and A. E. Bottel, agricultural commissioner of Riverside county. Discussion will follow.

Between 11:45 a.m. and noon, "Recent Progress in Fumigation Practice" will be discussed by George P. Gray, former State chemist and now chemist for the Owl Fumigating Company, Azusa.

Lunch will be held in the Hotel Kinney, following which a business meeting, featured by the annual election, will be conducted until 1:45 o'clock.

First speaker of the afternoon will be Harry S. Smith, citrus experiment station expert, whose subject will be "Mealy Bug Control."

R. E. Woglum, chief entomologist for the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, will outline "Pest Control, Recommendations for 1930."

H. H. Wilcomb, deputy agricultural commissioner of Los Angeles county, will speak on "Spraying vs. Fumigating on Resistant Scale."

In response to a popular demand, the White King Male Quartet has been engaged for a return engagement. This group was heard here last summer. August 21 has been set aside for these singers. The series will close August 28 with a "Spanish night" feature, details of which have not been arranged.

Kiwanis Clubs to Celebrate at Redlands

REDLANDS, June 17.—Kiwanians from the citrus belt, several hundred strong, are to gather at Sylvan Park in Redlands the night of the 30th inst., to observe all-Kiwanis night. F. Karl Grassle, chairman of the committee in charge here, is planning for a large attendance from every club in the district.

All-Kiwanis night is being arranged so that all Kiwanis clubs will meet simultaneously with the international convention at Atlantic City in observing a fellowship hour. Radio connection will be possible between the convention and the more than 1360 clubs. The program will be broadcast from station WPG and will be picked up at the Redlands gathering by a receiving-set of Herbert Bells, a member.

The plan for all-Kiwanis night was evolved six years ago. On Monday, the 30th inst., it will be observed throughout the United States and Canada. International in scope, this activity will be welcomed by those unable to attend the Atlantic City convention in person. The celebration will be held, starting with a fellowship hour, 8:15 to 8:30 p.m., eastern standard time.

It is expected that 100,000 men will hear President McDavid's address. Throughout the nations they will join at the same time in singing "America" and "God Save the King." They will renew their allegiance to their flags and to their countries.

City to Return Contributions

ONTARIO, June 17.—Although Christmas is the farthest thought from the average Ontario resident today, Santa Claus is expected to make a midsummer visit to certain property owners in East F street.

In 1925 the leading citizens of East F street passed the hat among themselves and took up nearly $600 which they turned over to City Clerk D. B. Wynne for use in having East F street paved. The street has not been paved and City Clerk Wynne still has the money.

The night the City Council took steps to pave the street and fixed an assessment district to pay the cost of the project. Councilman N. H. Garrison declared it would not be the Christian thing to do to spend the certain property owners' money and include them in the assessment district, too, so now steps are being taken to give the cash back to them.

CORRECTING CONDITIONS

Refugees from regions controlled by Communists bring appalling tales of looting and massacres by Communists, who have declared that four classes of Chinese must die: (1) political opponents to the Communists, (2) the wealthy and socially undesirable, (3) the incurably diseased and (4) the aged poor. The Reds' theory is that overpopulation is one of China's main ills.

All titles, deeds, land markings and official records are always destroyed by the Communists. All businesses with a capital in excess of $500 are confiscated.

The lack of political cohesion among Nanking's enemies is causing comment here and the feeling is growing that Nanking eventually will be victorious in the civil war. The Kwangsi rebels and the Ironsides are believed to be unwilling to co-operate fully with the northern coalition, and Feng and Yen are said to differ radically over domestic policies and therefore are unlikely to remain united.

JAPANESE ATTACKED

Japanese have been the victims of two outrages in the last thirty hours. The steamer Kungwo on the Yangtze was heavily fired upon by Communists at Kwang Shih Kang. A Japanese gunboat replied with its full armament and silenced the attackers. At Soochow, near Shanghai, unpaid convalescent wounded soldiers mobbed and seriously injured three Japanese students and then mobbed an official.

The serious situation along the Yangtze has resulted in British merchant steamers resuming a full complement of armed guards. In view of this perturbed situation and the fact that the Nanking government today controls less than a tenth of the area of China, cables from Washington reporting that the United States is considering removal of the American Legation from Peiping to Shanghai have aroused comment which has been critical in the extreme.

NATIONALISTS WIN ONE, LOSE TWO BATTLES

SHANGHAI, June 17. (AP)—Thrown back today in their drive upon Wuchang, Hankow and Hanyang in Central China, the rebels advanced in other sections, making the government's tenure more precarious.

Led by President Chiang Kai-Shek, 50,000 Nationalists defeated the southern rebels' main column and recaptured Yochow and Changsha, in Hunan Province, but other rebel columns eluded them. One approached Shasi, important Yangtze River city, above Hankow, while the others swung eastward into Kiangsi Province, threatening Nanchang and Kiukiang.

The latter column, already joined by bandit hordes, may unite with Communist armies that have been devastating Kiangsi, to threaten the Nationalists' capital, Nanking.

In another area 50,000 Northern Alliance rebels were reported to have captured Tsinan, capital of Shantung Province, after a week of fighting.

Other northerners, pushing Nationalist forces southward along the railway, reached Chumatien, about 175 miles north of Hankow, their objective.

With banditry spreading in Southern China, the government's bad economic condition was made worse by the northerners' seizure of customs facilities at Tien-tsin.

DECORATED WAR DOG'S SKIN WILL BE MOUNTED

DENNISON (O.) June 17. (AP)—Preparations were made today for the military funeral of Bing, World War hero and the only dog said to have been decorated for services with the American Expeditionary Force in France. Gas he inhaled in the trenches as a puppy nearly twelve years ago, together with his advanced age, made it necessary to chloroform him.

Bing's body will be interred in the soldiers' plot in Urichsville Union Center but his skin will be preserved and mounted by a taxidermist.

The dog had the added distinction of having been the only canine to receive a bonus from the United States government. He was assigned $60 a month as a soldier's pension.

It was when Bing's nose scented gas in time to save the lives of many soldiers that he was cited and decorated. He was born in a tent at Camp Sheridan, Chillicothe, O., and smuggled aboard a transport with the Thirty-seventh Division.

Fitts Pledges Aid to Farmer as Governor

(Exclusive) A pledge of immediate constructive action, if elected Governor of California, toward solving the State's water conservation problem was given here tonight by Buron Fitts, Los Angeles District Attorney, in an address in which he struck new blows at the attitude of Gov. Young toward agriculture.

Speaking at a dinner given by his Stanislaus county supporters Fitts declared the farming interests should have a representative on the State Board of Harbor Commissioners to promote the development of foreign trade for California products.

BILL OPENS WAY TO NEW HEALTH

Ransdell Measure to Bring Scientists Together

Clearinghouse of Knowledge on Disease Projected

National Institute to Push Drive on Sickness

WASHINGTON, June 17. (NANA) The passage of the Ransdell bill to establish a national institute of health at Washington marks the beginning of a new chapter in the history of medicine; a new contribution by the United States to medical knowledge of far-reaching influence in the relief of human suffering.

A veritable declaration of war against al lthe physical forces detrimental to health on a greater scale than ever before attempted, this bill centers in Washington all the country's medical and scientific resources for combating disease, and creates a clearinghouse of health for all the world.

Here, under a commander-in-chief, will be marshaled the nation's experts in medicine, surgery, chemistry, physics, biology, bacteriology, pharmacology, pharmacy, dentistry and allied professions, in a concerted drive to prevent disease by ascertaining its cause and applying preventive measures.

HEALTH MAIN OBJECT

No institution has ever been founded before for combating disease on so large a scale, and there is no means of foretelling what may be its eventual benefits to humanity.

The definite object of the Ransdell bill is to promote the health of human beings, to improve their earning capacity, to reduce their living expenses, to increase their happiness and prolong their lives. It has unselfish interests to serve, and its benificent results will enter their home in the nation.

The bill contains three distinct features:

First: the creation of a national institute of health in the public service under the administrative direction and control of the surgeon-general, for pure scientific research to ascertain the cause, prevention and cure of diseases affecting human beings.

Second: it authorizes the Treasury Department to accept gifts unconditionally for study, investigation and research in problems relating to the health of man.

PROGRESS MADE

Third: it proposes the establishment and maintenance in the institute of a system of fellowships in scientific research in order to procure proper scientific personnel and to encourage and aid men and women of marked proficiency to combat disease.

Public health investigations by the government were first authorized in 1901.

"Since then," says the committee appointed to investigate the needs of a national institute of health, "commendable progress has been made and many new facts discovered which have had an important bearing on the control of disease. The necessity for this work far outstripped the facilities for its conduct."

Pointing to the fact that the United States has lagged in medico-scientific advances because of its lack of adequate research facilities, such as the national institute of health will provide, the committee showed that the big advances made in medicine in the last sixty or seventy years, with a few outstanding exceptions, have been of foreign origin, and the roots of many of them have been in German laboratories supported by the German government.

FIRST DUTY OF STATE

"The first duty of the State is the care of the health of its citizens," said Dr. W. J. Mayo. "By means of public health measures in the last sixty years, the average life of man has been prolonged twelve years."

The scope of work coming under the national institute of health is shown by the number of persons suffering from minor sickness in 1927. These were, approximately, 100,000,000.

An indication of the economic loss this represents, in inefficiency in work, absenteeism from daily duties, prolonged stays in hospitals, expense of medical treatment, loss from the productive capacity of citizens, is had, measured in money terms, in three estimates of the annual repair bill of human frames, namely, the cost of medical service, presented to the committee. Dr. Dublin estimates about $1,000,000,000; and Dr. Herty, about $1,015,000,000, while the Red Cross estimates $60 per family annually, the equivalent of practically $1,500,000,000.

"A great chemico-medical research laboratory, fully equipped to cope with all diseases that afflict mankind, where he can carry on his important work fruitfully and in an unlimited way is the need of the American scientist," says Senator Ransdell, the author of the bill. "Our lagging in the matter of medical research has not been the result of the inefficient mentality of our scientists, but, on the contrary, the lack of facilities and insufficiency of funds has failed to stimulate recruits in science."

FRENCH STUDY CANCER THEORY

Coffey-Humber Treatment Test Welcomed

Facilities Offered Them to Open Clinic

Bay City Collaborators to Meet in New York

PARIS, June 17. (Exclusive)—European cancer specialists are interested in the glandular deficiency theory formulated by Drs. Walter B. Coffey and John Davis Humber, both of San Francisco, and are preparing to give Dr. Coffey opportunity for extensive experiments in the leading Paris hospitals.

Dr. Coffey, who is planning to sail for America Friday on the Bremen, today said he is delighted with the open-mindedness of continental scientists and the great interest with which his theory was received.

FACILITIES OFFERED

According to Dr. Coffey, the Pasteur Institute, Curie Foundation and other organizations interested in cancer research have offered to extend all their facilities should Dr. Coffey wish to send one of his associates to demonstrate the treatment.

Dr. Coffey indicated today that Dr. Humber might accept the offer and establish a clinic here, where the methods of treatment may be closely studied and checked by European scientists. Dr. Humber is meeting Dr. Coffey in New York for "a highly important conference." Dr. Coffey indicated that this conference might result in Dr. Humber's going to Paris.

SAMPLES ASKED

"Even if we do not decide to send some one to Paris to personally administer the treatment, we are sending over a quantity of the suprarenal extract prepared in our laboratories," Dr. Coffey said. "The leading cancer specialists in Paris, while not willing to commit themselves on the efficacy of the treatment, expressed keen interest and without exception asked that they be sent samples of the extract. This extract will be tried out in the big hospitals in Paris on hopeless cases. "If the results are encouraging, it will undoubtedly revolutionize the methods for research prevailing in Europe. Several scientists in France are already investigating the effect of fluid from suprarenal glands on cancer, and I have laid the results of our experiments at their disposal."

PATHOLOGICAL STUDY OF CANCER URGED

BALTIMORE, June 17. (AP)—Establishment of pathological teams to work hand-in-hand with the surgeons in the great hospitals of the country in the diagnosis and treatment of cancer, was urged here today by Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood. The doctor, recognized cancer expert, spoke to more than fifty eminent pathologists gathered at the Garvan experimental laboratory here for a review of the newer problems in cancer diagnosis.

He emphasized that no cure for cancer had been discovered but said that since 1921 actual five-year cures of cancer of the bone have increased from 4 to almost 30 per cent. "This miraculous improvement," he said, "is due first to the education of the people to have immediate X-ray pictures taken after any warning and second to the improvement in the ability to read X-ray pictures correctly."

Pathologists, he continued, should be established in hospitals to aid in microscopic diagnosis of tissue while an operation is in progress.

TULARE ADDED TO OIL MAP

First Producing Well in County Brought in at Terra Bella, Pumping 75 Barrels a Day

TERRA BELLA, June 17. (Exclusive)—Sand was interfering this morning with pumping operations at Gardner No. 1 well of the Terra Bella Oil Company, which last night became the first producing oil well in Tulare county.

The well was placed on pump about 4:30 p.m. yesterday and four hours later the water content had given entirely away to oil. At 10 o'clock Driller Fred Gholson declared the well was producing at the rate of seventy-five barrels per day. The oil is 17.3 gravity at 60-deg. Fahrenheit, according to C. B. Gardner, Santa Maria oil man and director of the company, who was on the ground last night.

While this oil is largely of a lubricating nature, some gas content is showing up and there is more evidence of gas as pumping continues. The hole is down 903 feet and the oil is being pumped from a depth of 800 feet. Storage tanks of 300-barrel capacity were to be connected up today.

Oil men from various parts of the State have visited the well recently, the consensus of opinion being that a good well has been brought in.

TEACHER TO GET VACATION WAGE

Bay City Court Ruling May Affect All Instructors

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17. (Exclusive)—In a decision of State-wide effect which may involve the reversion of hundreds of thousands of dollars, the District Court of Appeal today ruled public school teachers in California are entitled to a complete year's salary if they serve a complete school term.

A test case was brought here by E. J. Dupuy, an instructor, to clarify the situation, as well as straighten a seeming confusion in the Political Code for those applying for pay during vacation.

By upholding Dupuy the court confronts San Francisco with the necessity of payment of approximately $800,000 in back salaries.

PREMIER DRIVES AT JOB CRISIS

MacDonald Asks United Aid to End Unemployment

He Declares Country Facing World-wide Situation

Lloyd George Makes Offer to Assist Laborites

LONDON, June 17. (AP)—Plea for close co-operation between the government and local authorities to speed plans for reducing unemployment was made by Prime Minister MacDonald today in opening an important conference of governmental and local officials at the Guild Hall.

Addressing a representative gathering from all parts of the country, he urged his hearers to face the present unemployment figures in no state of panic or "fussy energy" out of which only evil could come.

CO-OPERATION ASKED

"What I and my colleagues of the government ask you to do is to conspire together—the government and local authorities—first of all to expedite schemes and then to renew our efforts for what I might call national development. We are not really so efficient as we might be.

"I want to enlist active, vigorous social minds of representative men and women like you with us, putting our energies into a common pool, and from it extract schemes that will not only benefit the unemployed but will be an added capital asset to the whole efficiency of the country."

BRITAIN NOT ALONE

Mr. MacDonald alluded to Great Britain as not alone in her unemployment difficulties and spoke of world conditions today as similar to those of 100 years ago.

"A certain event," he said, "which took place yesterday in New York"—which was accepted as an allusion to the Wall-street slump—"is bound to have its repercussions here sooner or later. We are facing an abnormal condition of unemployment which is owing primarily not to our internal arrangements but to the world economic and financial crisis."

LLOYD GEORGE OFFERS AID

David Lloyd George, head of the Liberal party, has offered the Labor government complete Liberal support "to obtain a sound and dependable majority for emergency measures to wage war on unemployment."

The Prime Minister tonight met Lloyd George and Stanley Baldwin, the former Conservative Premier, at the House of Commons tonight. It is understood they discussed the preliminaries for a conference intended to formulate unemployment relief measures on which all parties can agree.

KILLING OF DOG PROFITS BOY

Youth, Paid to Slay Pet, Gets Added $5 From Motorist After Accident

WICHITA (Kan.) June 17. (AP)—As a motorist struck and killed 10-year-old John Graham's dog, he noted a menacing shotgun in the boy's grasp and hastily proffered a $5 bill.

"Sorry, son, will that help any?" he inquired with a glance at the gleaming artillery.

"Yep," the boy said, "that makes $7 and it's all profit, too. Shep had taken to chicken stealing and dad gave me $2 to shoot him."

DYNAMITE SEIZED IN STRIKE OFFICES RAID

CORDOBA (Argentina) June 17. (AP)—A barrel of dynamite was confiscated by police here Monday in a raid on headquarters of the tramway men's labor syndicate. It was believed the explosive was to have been used in a reign of terror intended to aid their strike, which has been in progress for several days and has assumed an especially violent character.

BANKERS URGED TO CURB FARMS

Institute Hears Appeal for Slash in Acreage

Financiers Declared to Hold Key to Situation

Getting Out of Debt Said to be Principal Need

DENVER, June 17. (AP)—A proposal that bankers organize themselves to reduce the acreage of farm products which are being overproduced was advanced today by Thomas G. Wilson, Conway, Ark., before the twenty-eighth annual convention of the American Institute of Banking.

The plan will be accomplished by curtailing credits to farmers, said Mr. Wilson.

"The urgent need of agriculture today is not for more credit, but for some method of getting farmers out of debt," Mr. Wilson told the institute.

REASONS GIVEN

Among the reasons given for the present condition were overexpansion of credit facilities, failure of farmers to ascertain their costs and failure to diversify their crops and adopt modern farming machinery.

"We must stop making capital loans to farmers and must encourage thrift and diversification and advise through governmental agencies as to acreage to be planted," Mr. Wilson said.

CHAIN BANKING

Rudolph S. Hecht of New Orleans, characterized the development of group and chain banks as the most outstanding change in the financial world of modern times.

"There are now about 270 well-defined groups of chain banking systems in the United States," said Mr. Hecht. "They comprise about 2000 banks and more than $15,000,000,000 in aggregate resources. The country, therefore, is facing the necessity of deciding whether our national banking policy shall be group and branch banking."

The Senate also confirmed the nomination of Charles C. Teague of California, for reappointment on the Farm Board, representing the fruit and vegetable industry.

Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, voiced opposition to Legge, declaring, "I regard him as wholly unfit for his post." With a chorus of ayes the Senate then approved the Farm Board chairman. McKellar alone voiced a "no" on the viva voce vote.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

For another moment Numa stood with fierce eyes roving to and fro about the clearing. At last they halted for a second time upon the girl. A low growl rumbled through his throat. Like two yellow-green augurs, wide and unblinking, the terrible eyes remained fixed upon Jane Clayton. The erect and majestic pose of the great frame shrank suddenly into a sinister crouch as, slowly and gently, the devil-faced cat crept forward toward the girl. Sneaking stealthily to her side, he paused and sniffed.

Finally he lifted a forepaw and turned the body of the girl half over. Then some noise or scent from the near-by jungle appeared to attract his attention, and presently he left her and walked over to the remains of the ape, crouching down upon his kill with his back toward the girl. It was upon this scene that Jane Clayton at last opened her eyes. Inured to danger, she neither cried out nor moved a muscle, but maintained her self-possession in the face of the startling surprise her new-found consciousness revealed to her.

As she lay tormented by frightful thoughts, she suddenly became conscious that the bonds imprisoning her were loosened. What miracle had been performed? Noiselessly and silently she moved a little—she was free! She could not know that Taglat, gnawing upon those bonds for sinister purposes of his own, had cut them through but an instant before Numa had frightened him from his victim. For a moment Jane Clayton was overwhelmed with joy and thanksgiving; but only for a moment!

What good was her freedom in the face of the frightful beast crouching so close to her? Escape was practically impossible. The nearest tree was a hundred yards away. To rise and attempt to reach its safety would be to invite instant destruction. And yet, too, there was another possibility—a chance which hinged entirely upon the unknown temper of the beast. She could not allow this frail opportunity for life to elude her without attempting to take a chance. She watched the lion narrowly and determined to attempt a ruse.

He plans to enjoy an extended vacation and much-needed rest at his beach home this summer. He has opened an office on the eleventh floor of the Pacific-Southwest Building.

STOCK AVERAGES PUZZLE

New Low for Industrials Breaks Through 1929 Bottom; May Portend Period of Declining Prices

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Students of stock market averages started out yesterday morning on one premise and ended the day puzzling over the advisability of taking exactly the opposite position.

Recording of a new low of 228.57 by the Dow-Jones industrial averages in yesterday's market was responsible for the confusion. According to the well-known Dow theory, the action of the industrials in breaking through into new low ground is ominous warning of the possibility of a declining market.

CONFIRMATION NEEDED

Should the rail averages confirm the industrials by also dropping into new low ground, the Dow theory assumes the forecast of the industrials will have been corroborated sufficiently to expect a bear market, or at least an interval of lower prices. Rail averages, however, advanced yesterday .48 to 131.33.

Market students went down to brokerage offices yesterday morning with a totally different idea in mind of the trend in prices. Predicated on the action of the industrial averages at Monday's close in confirming the December and October lows, the conclusion was deduced that the bottom of the decline had been reached. The next movement, according to this reasoning, would be the resumption of the bull market.

Monday's industrial averages struck a low of 230.05, marking the supposed end of the January-April recovery and decline. At this point the December 20 low of 230.89 and October 29 low of 230.07 were verified, which suggested that the time had arrived to accumulate stocks for the rise.

But the industrial averages, in establishing a new bottom below the 230 level, have left the followers of the averages in an awkward position. They must now wait for the rail averages to also dip into fresh low ground to corroborate the forecast of the industrials. If this takes place before the industrials rise again, then the trail of the bear market would be clearly defined for the average students.

MAY BE FALSE

If the rail averages, on the other hand, should hold firm and the industrials should rise from the new low point, the low of 228.57 for the industrials would be accepted as a false bottom. Then it would be expected that prices had actually hit bottom and a rising trend would be in order.

Regardless of averages and market theories, the prices at which the standard dividend-paying stocks are selling should suggest the possibility of attractive investment purchases. The common-sense approach to the problem should disclose a broad list of seasoned issues on which the dividends are safe and which show excellent returns at current prices.

Some of the popular blue-chip stocks, however, have not been thoroughly liquidated to the point where prices accurately discount earnings. It should also be remembered that some industries that were in healthy shape a year ago are not prosperous now, while others are running smoothly on, even though stocks of the leading companies are selling at relatively low prices.

Seaboard Dairy Credit Elects New President

Election of W. S. Hook, Jr., as president of the Seaboard Dairy Credit Corporation was announced yesterday. Mr. Hook succeeds George E. Kennedy, who becomes general field manager for the company.

Seaboard Dairy Credit Corporation was organized in 1925 with assets of $150,000, which have increased to $4,500,000.

Copper Boycott Report Denied

LONDON, June 17.—The statement appearing in American newspapers Saturday to the effect that Amalgamated Metal Corporation, Metalgesellschaft and Societe General des Minerals had decided not to purchase American copper as a protest against the American tariff is without foundation. These companies all are direct agents for Copper Exporters Association.

The origin of the rumor probably is due to certain British consumers having restrictive clauses in their contracts forbidding them to resell copper purchased from America in the form in which it has been bought, causing them to be unwilling bulls to copper bought at high prices.

NEW LOW STRUCK BY RED METAL

Copper Sales Reported at 11 3-4 Cents; Price is Equal to Prewar Level

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—The price of domestic copper today touched the lowest level since the days before the outbreak of the World War in 1914.

Sales were made at 11 3-4 cents delivered by some custom smelters, a reduction of a quarter of a cent a pound from yesterday. Buying was reported in small volume and some custom smelters and the larger refiners held at the 12-cent price.

The 11 3-4-cent figure represented a drop of 6 1-4 cents in the domestic price in two months. The level fell from 18 cents to 12½ cents in April in an effort to stop a buyers' strike, then rose to 13 cents in May. Demand tapered off at the 13-cent level and successive cuts of a quarter of a cent a pound were made.

Cable advices from London said there was no foundation for reports circulated in the United States that the Amalgamated Metal Corporation, Metallgeselischaft and Societe General des Minerals had decided not to purchase American copper as a protest against the new American tariff.

PHILIPPINE TRADE GROWING

Total Exports of $164,000,000 in 1929 Show Gain Over 1928 of $13,000,000

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, June 17.—The Philippine Islands are expanding rapidly in foreign trade. The year 1929 showed a new all-time record in its foreign trade of $311,000,000, an increase of $11,000,000 over the previous high record reached in 1920.

Last year the island's exports were $164,000,000—a gain of $13,000,000 over the preceding year. Imports totaled $147,000,000—a decrease of about $2,000,000 under the preceding year.

Sugar was the big export, 32 per cent of the total. The total metric tons of sugar exported last year was 695,868, valued at $53,244,000. Compare this with the crop of 1920, when only 180,340 tons were shipped abroad, but the tonnage was valued at almost $50,000,000.

Cocoanut products, including copra, cocoanut oil, copra meal, accounted for 31.5 per cent of the total export trade, compared with 18.7 per cent in 1920.

The production and export of abaca, the vegetable fiber which is still considered the best for the manufacture of cordage, accounted for 17 per cent of the total export, or a value of $28,420,000.

These are the big three in the export field.

A word about imports. Much of its foodstuffs—like rice, wheat flour, meat and dairy products and vegetables—accounted for 17 per cent of the import trade. Then comes cotton textiles, iron and steel products, automobiles, electrical goods, paper and petroleum products.

The Philippine Islands, with their 13,000,000 people, are fast becoming a big market in international trade.

New York bankers are particularly cautious in taking sides in the present branch bank-unit bank controversy now raging before the House of Representatives Committee on Banking and Currency.

Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank of New York, the second largest in the United States, told the committee that he had formed no definite opinion regarding the future of the unit bank in the little country town except to observe that more efficient service could be granted by a large bank with a branch there than by a small one hampered by lack of capital and more limited banking experience.

The most significant part of this New York banker's statement was contained in his admission that the New York bankers undoubtedly would have to go with the trend of the times. That if a larger area in which to operate branches was granted by Congress to national banks, the same privilege should be granted by the State Legislatures to State banks.

While not specifically indorsing Comptroller Pole's plan for a larger trading area in which national banks could establish branches (now limited to cities,) Mr. Mitchell did infer that a larger area probably would be in line with banking development.

From the testimony so far given it does not look as though any change in the National Banking Act will be made in the immediate future, certainly not in this session of Congress.

Trading Ends With Prices at About Old Levels

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—Stocks and commodities recovered their equilibrium today. On the share market prices rallied after the completion of necessitous liquidation in the forenoon, while wheat, corn and cotton advanced measurably from Monday's final levels.

However, stocks dipped from the day's highs in the last half hour and the close was highly irregular, with net changes in the leaders only nominal in either direction. The price index of ninety shares rose just one-tenth of a point. The unsettlement in the late trading started in the copper shares, many of which broke to 1930 lows after another reduction in the price of the metal, and it closely followed a stiffening in the call money rate.

STEEL LEADS RALLY

Stocks came out in large blocks at the opening as impaired margin accounts were disposed of. Some selling was reported to be coming from out-of-town banks, which were said to be liquidating frozen loans that had been standing since the fall panic. Active issues broke 3 to 6 points, but the firmness of United States Steel, which opened a shade higher and incidentally never got below yesterday's close, was instrumental in starting a rally. The much better tone displayed by the grain markets was also an important factor in the recovery and by 2 o'clock, or about the time President Hoover was signing the tariff

METAL MARKET TONE WEAKENS

Copper Price Eases Off at Customs Smelters

Producers Standing Out for 13-Cent Quotation

Zinc Status Shaky; Lead Dull and Unchanged

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS
Editor The Mining Journal, Phoenix

The metal market remains quiet with no change in prices except a slight weakening in zinc because of a poorer statistical position. Copper remains at 13.00 f.o.b. Conn. Valley, lead at 5.50 f.o.b. New York and zinc at 4.60 f.o.b. St. Louis. Custom smelters are offering their limited quantities of copper at 12 1-2 cents to induce prompt sale. Some zinc sellers have offered for 4.55 to dispose of stocks found inconvenient to hold.

The lead market is dull and inactive. Buyers have not shown any disposition to place even July orders and there is still much June metal to be purchased. On the other hand, there is no selling pressure, thus the market has remained steady although lifeless.

It is noticeable that the bulk of the lead being purchased is for immediate delivery and it is thus evident that most consumers are not over comfortably stocked and that their entry into the market from now on will likely be more frequent than was the case earlier in the year.

May shipments to domestic consumers are expected to total under 50,000 tons, a decrease of over 20 per cent, compared with April at 64,100. March shipments were 65,000 tons and February shipments 64,200 tons.

ZINC POOR SHOWING

The zinc statistics for May made an even poorer showing than had been anticipated. The much talked of curtailment in output, apparently was only talk since there was an actual increase in the average number of retorts in operation. In view of the statistical position of the metal, it is not surprising that the price of the metal has eased off.

Slab zinc stocks at the end of May totaled 101,744 tons, showing a gain of 5291 tons from the previous month, thereby setting a new high total for reserve stocks in the history of the industry. The reason for the sharp increase in reserve is that production is still running far ahead of shipments.

Slab zinc output in May amounted to 43,991 tons, showing a reduction of only 911 tons from the preceding month, while shipments in May totaled 48,700 tons, a decrease of 1960 tons from the preceding month and 5291 tons less than was produced.

COPPER DORMANT

In the copper market nothing has happened one way or the other. Domestic consumers have not yet entered the market to buy on any larger scale as they have plenty of metal on hand to meet all requirements. Producers appreciate this fact and are not pressing the buyers or making any great effort to sell.

The copper figures for May reveal the fact that the buying wave started too late in the month to have the huge sales and deliveries of the last part of the month overcome the slowness of the first half. Refined copper stocks in the hands of North and South American producers and refiners on the 1st inst. totaled 308,646 tons, an increase of 7308 tons over stocks of 301,338 tons May 1.

Blister stocks on the 1st inst. at smelters, refineries, in process and in transit amounted to 266,497 tons, compared with 269,623 tons May 1. Total copper above ground in the hands of producers to the blister stage and beyond on the 1st inst. amounted to 575,143 tons, compared with 570,961 tons May 1.

MARKET STAGNANT

The domestic market is now practically stagnant with the outlook less favorable for an early return of active buying. Auto production which declined 7 per cent in May and 32 per cent on the same month in 1929, is expected to be sharply curtailed this month while the largest cable works in the country are on curtailed schedules and will greatly reduce output next month due to vacation periods which will result in the cessation of production in practically all departments. On the other hand, some of the large electrical equipment manufacturers have a record volume of business in hand and are operating on heavy schedules.

In spite of the fact that general business conditions in Europe are still on the decline, there has been an increase in the activities of the copper and brass trade. Europe, however, is still protesting strongly against the methods of the copper exporters and it is asserted that they would be buying copper more freely if permitted to do so. The sentiment expressed is that "if the Americans will give us a supply of cheap copper we will undertake to find a demand for products which will absorb it."

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Market, Staggering from Monday's Collapse, Fluctuates Irregularly

With the trading pace slackening considerably quotations on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday hovered uneasily around the low levels marked by Monday's plunge. The lower volume of dealings supported in some measure the contention of brokers that the liquidating movement had about run itself out, the depressed prices attracting sufficient buying to absorb what additional forced sales were uncovered by the final dip at the close of the preceding day.

Closing prices were mixed, with the board displaying an extensive array of fractional changes. The majority of these were recessions, nine of which established new bottom levels for the year, the list including Union Oil, Union Associates, Macmillan, Pacific Finance and Claude Neon.

The action of Transamerica Corporation, leader of the activity, lent considerable support to the market when, after opening at 29½, the issue swung up 1½ points to 31 and although renewed selling again depressed the stock to below 30 its ability to rally to close at 30 1-4 for a net gain of 1 point was construed as a favorable omen. Security-First National Bank, after ranging between 106½ and 104 1-4, ended at 106 3-8, off 1-8 net. Neither Citizens National nor California Bank was traded.

The oils, forced to bear the additional handicap of a gasoline price upheaval, softened as a group but only fractionally. Union Oil, Union Associates and Macmillan were exceptions. Union Oil, sold persistently, was forced below 40 for a new low at 39 after a turnover of 6400 shares. Union Associates in a sympathetic manner was depressed to 37 3-4 but recovered to end at 38 1-4, off 3-4 net. Macmillan plunged 3 points to 15. Richfield and Rio Grande improved slightly.

Southern California Edison played a prominent part with a turnover of nearly 6000 shares. The issue dipped to 56 7-8 and closed at 57, off 3-8 net. Pacific Public Service rallied ½ to 25 3-4. Pacific Finance broke below 30 to a new bottom at 29½, off 3-4, and Claude Neon, after dropping to 30 recovered to 31, down 3-4. Douglas Aircraft moved up 1-4 to 19 1-4.

Sales totaled 67,576 shares valued at $2,502,271; previous day, 114,578 shares valued at $4,373,564.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17. (AP)—Trading on the San Francisco Stock Exchange today was characterized by alternate periods of strength and weakness, culminating in an irregular close.

The market opened fairly strong, softened somewhat and then suddenly sold down, forcing a number of such leaders as Transamerica, Caterpillar Tractor and Pacific Gas and Electric common to relinquish ground they had gained early in the session to recoup Monday's losses.

Nineteen new lows were recorded, including Atlas Diesel at 22, Byron Jackson at 12, Crown Zellerbach, "A" preferred at 77½, California Packing at 65½, Consolidated Chemical at 25½, Clorox Chemical at 20, Fireman's Fund at 83, Foster & Kleiser at 6¾, Golden State Milk at 18, Home Fire and Marine at 37, Langendorf "A" at 24, Oliver "B" at 19¾, Paraffine at 65, Schlesinger preferred at 50, Western Pipe and Steel at 21¾, Southern Pacific Golden Gate "A" at 15, Union Associates at 38, Union at 39½ and Wells Fargo Bank and Trust at 315.

The utilities made the best showings. Pacific Lighting common gained 2¼, Pacific Gas common 1⅝ and San Joaquin Light and Power 7s added ¾.

Richfield common was unusually active, more than 4000 shares changing hands. The stock closed at 16¼, up ⅛. Shell common and Tidewater preferred also gained fractionally.

In the industrial section three gains were, Caterpillar adding 1 at 62½, while Crown Zellerbach at 13¼, and California Copper at 1¼ improved fractionally.

Transamerica closed at 30½, a net gain of 1⅝ from the close of the preceding day. Wells Fargo Bank and Union Trust was off 5 at 315.

With such market leaders as Fokker Aircraft and Cities Service recording a substantial rally, trading sentiment was materially bolstered as operations were resumed yesterday on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange.

Cities Service jumped into the lead and with a turnover of more than 1000 shares shot up more than 2 points to 26 3-4 and succeeded in closing at 26 1-4. The aircraft issue gained a point to 19 1-4 and finished at 18 3-4, up ½ net. Caterpillar Tractor, Chapman's Ice Cream and Arkansas Gas showed a fractional improvement.

Preferred stock of Diamond Electric was an outstanding weak spot. Not having been traded for some time a small lot plunged the issue 19½ points to 80½. Further weakness developed in Electrical Products, Neon of New York, Pacific Associates and Consolidated Steel, the last sinking 7-8 to a new low at 5½.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—Today's bond market was the most active in several weeks. Trading was on a broad scale with many inactive issues appearing on the tape, and the total sales reaching a figure unsurpassed since the first week in May.

The general course was irregular, due principally to the tendency of bonds influenced by stocks to turn downward, and to the easing of secondary issues. Traders found encouragement, however, in the firmness of prime investment bonds. Although the extent of the trading in these issues was dwarfed by the activity in convertible and warrant bonds, the price movement was narrow and the net changes for the day were about ¼ of a point either way. Another feature was the further gain by United States governments, which have been consistently strong for several weeks. All Liberty issues established high prices for the year and held the top at the close with the exception of Liberty 4th 4¼s, which yielded slightly under the most extensive trading of the group.

Stock privilege bonds made some attempt to join the rally in stocks but failed for the most part to recover their losses. Several lows for the year were recorded, among them Atchison 4½s, St. Paul 5s and General Theaters 6s. Issues ranged from a fraction to 4½, and the reaction was less pronounced than Monday.

Among warrant bonds amusements were especially weak, with Loews 6s off 5 points; Paths 7s off 3, and Shubert 6s off 2.

The weakest spots developed among secondary rails and industrials. Chicago and Eastern Illinois 5s lost 2 points to reach a new 1930 low.

Oils and sugars were easier, and among the bonds in low ground for the year were Certain-Teed 5½s, American Natural Gas 6½s, Cuban American Sugar 7s, Mansti Sugar 7½s, and Hudson Coal 5s, the latter with a drop of 4 points.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the cents are omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

Stronger Tone Rules Trading on Grain Mart

CHICAGO, June 17. (AP)—Reports of huge quantities of wheat being bought for Europe at prices cheaper than before the World War jerked the wheat market suddenly upward today. It was estimated that trans-Atlantic purchases from Canada and the United States totaled 4,000,000 bushels today and that the aggregate for the last five days has been 20,000,000 bushels. Meanwhile, there were reports of terrific dust storms again sweeping over Canadian wheat territory.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong at about the day's top level, 1¾@2¾c over yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1¼@2¼c up, oats 1@1¼c advance and provisions varying from 1¢ decline to a rise of 2¢.

The initial impulse toward higher prices for wheat came from unexpected comparative strength which the Liverpool market displayed. Instead of reflecting in full the preceding day's severe setbacks in values on this side of the Atlantic, Liverpool quotations were but slightly lower, and dispatches explained that continued setbacks in prices had brought more buyers into the market. Then came evidence that European buyers were acquiring ownership of North American wheat at a bewildering rapid rate, and simultaneously word was received that crop benefits of recent rains in Canada, especially Alberta province, were being nullified by renewal of widespread high winds and clouds of dust.

Much improved eastern shipping here for corn was an aid to advances in price both of corn and oats.

In the provision market the effect of grain strength offset a break in hog values.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—A very few loads of fresh offerings arrived but about 900 holdovers were available. Trade was a slow affair but it became evident that buyers intended to stay on Monday's levels and a number of loads were sealed at about steady to weak prices. Trading was slowed up considerably by the interest shown in two loads of fed steer and heifer yearlings from an eastern market, these arriving late in the forenoon.

A load of strictly good 632-pound mixed steer and heifer yearlings scored 12.25 with a load of straight heifers averaging 787 pounds at 11.90. Three loads of $27 to 901-pound Imperial and grass steers made 10.15@10.25, with two loads of 960 to 996-pound grassers at 9.00@9.50. A package of 1124-pound steers brought 9.85 with low grade native brown to 8.00 and below. A load of 605-pound steers went for feeding at 7.75.

Only few small lots of grass heifers brought 7.25@8.25, with odd head of medium to low good cows at 6.75@6.50. Bulk of cows were of common to medium quality and sold in a 5.25@7.50 spread. Low cutters and bulls were taken mainly at 3.00@3.50. A few sales of fairly good bulls were made at 7.00@7.25.

CALVES—A few truckloads vealers and two loads of Arizona calves were offered. Demand has slackened of considerable for young stuff and a decline of 25@50c has been effected in the past two days. Good to choice vealers are quoted up around 13.50 with best light weights available going at 13.75. A few lots of medium vealers made 12.50@12.75 while inclaimer and heavier calves including Arizonas at 8.50@10.00. Culls of all weights sold down to 7.00.

HOGS—Trade was rather slow and on a 15@25c lower basis. A load of 196-pound Colorado butchers topped at 11.20 with two loads of 177 to 191-pound easterns at 10.85@11.00. A load of 202-pound local fed hogs brought 10.40 with lighter weight truckings at 10.30@10.60. A few packing sows brought 8.65.

NEW PILOT BOAT PROGRAM STIRS

Harbor Board to Get Design for Tug Type Craft

Not Authorized Cost from $5,000 to $50,000

Shipping Experts Generally Opposed to Plan

BY WALDO DRAKE

Interest on the stand that a tug craft, with maximum maneuverability and power, rather than a ponderous displacement type of the tug type is the logical design for a new pilot boat, local shipping leaders today await with keen interest action of the Board of Harbor Commissioners on the matter. It was learned yesterday that plans have been completed for a single-fast craft and that the new boat will be asked to authorize a construction cost of approximately $60,000 for the new craft, to be against the present authorized cost of $25,000.

Shipping executives, mariners and dock managers interviewed yesterday were all of the opinion that the new, displacement-type boat would be entirely unsuited to the needs of the local pilots. They pointed out that since the pilots board vessels in a protected channel directly from the pilot dock in light, yet staunchly-built craft of moderate speed and power would be being handled easily from a ship's ladder is the best type. A deep-draft craft of the tug type would be entirely unsuited in heavy weather, it was said, since its heavy displacement would prevent its being maneuvered quickly and its being dashed against the sides of vessels by the action of the waves.

Most of the pilots, but of heavier and more elaborate design to the one now used at Los Angeles harbor has been suggested as one which would more nearly meet their requirements. At a cost of less than $15,000 the Hi-10 Tug Boat Company has just built a 65-foot craft, which, powered with a 225-horsepower Bessemer engine, yesterday made fourteen knots on her trials.

BIDS TO WITHDRAW ON IMPORTS ENDS

Permission to withdraw bonded imports at customs offices the close of business, ended at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, the closing hour for the week. It was the deadline for entry of dutiable items under the old rates. The new tariff, signed early last afternoon by President Hoover, officially went into effect at midnight last night.

Importers today all dutiable entries including those held locally in bonded warehouses, will be subject to the new tariff. They will be liquidated under, with the old rates as a basis, until interpreters of the new tariff acquaint themselves with the new rate, which will then be charged.

Refunds on vessels leaving Los Angeles ports before midnight yesterday, or America, will not be exacted, as the new rate, a practice which has been allowed by certain governments in applying revised tariffs.

It is learned, a number of ships in Pacific ports, with optional calls for either Los Angeles or San Francisco, were discharging at the latter yesterday in order to avoid the new levy.

Pending anchorage permits, hereafter issued by the Mexican government only to tuna fishing bait boats, have been extended to purse seiners as well, if fishing for tuna. Permits are issued for each vessel for Mexican waters and take care of net, clearance and other fees as well. Boats of 300 tons are charged $300 for permits, those between thirty and 400 tons, $400; between thirty and forty tons, $500; forty to fifty tons, $600; fifty to sixty tons, with an additional $10 for each extra ten tons. Heretofore natives paid a flat Mexican import duty of $26.68 per ton for fish caught in Mexican waters, that rate still applies to all boats.

Plans and announcements of the Wilmington Chiefs' first annual golf tournament and barbecue, which will be held at Royal Palms on the 28th, will be mailed to members today. It was announced by Capt. Harry H. Birkhead, publicity chairman. Play for the Chiefs' perpetual trophy will start at 1 p.m., with the barbecue and the gardens scheduled for Captain Wickersham and James Dolan, heading the handicap committee for the tournament, urge all golfers who have ever swung a club to enter the lists, explaining that each entrant may name his own handicap.

Captain Duchesne, indefatigable member of the French Consulate of Oregon, will this week bring his ship in from Europe on her first call since the beginning of the voyages of December, when she inaugurated the new service of the Trans-Pacific passenger service. The vessel, with forty cabin passengers, is here via San Francisco, having made a special call at that port.

The remarkable steam yacht, Vernon, which has been rebuilt by Lockheed Shipbuilding & Construction Company, is ready for service as a Diesel-driven craft. She yesterday ran her standardization trials off Point Vicente. The vessel will depart for Ensenada on July 1.

Captain Edmund O. Smith, one of the best known figures in the local shipping industry and commander of the transports during the World War, died yesterday at his home at 1600 Cabrillo boulevard, Wilmington, following a long illness. Nearly two-score years ago he and J. A. Weldt established the port's first ship chandlery. He is survived by the widow, Miss Marie and a son, Bruce. Capt. Smith, 57 years of age, was born in San Francisco.

The Merritt, Chapman & Scott Corporation was yesterday awarded the $150,000 contract for driving 9000 piles for the new Procter & Gamble plant at Long Beach. The project, entailing employment of eighty men will require four months for completion.

POWER BONDS GO ON BALLOT

Issue of $19,000,000 Will be Voted on in August

Board Tentatively Approves Scattergood Report

City Officials' and Chamber's Aid to be Sought

A municipal power-bond issue of an amount tentatively fixed at $19,000,000 will be placed on the August primary ballot, it was decided yesterday by the Board of Power and Water Commissioners.

The board tentatively approved a report presented informally on the 6th inst., entitled "Estimate of capital requirements and revenues for three-year period from July 1, 1930, to June 30, 1933, and suggested bond-fund requirements." The report was submitted by E. F. Scattergood, chief electrical engineer and general manager of the Bureau of Power and Light.

TOTAL MENTIONED

Although details of the report have not been given out as yet, it is said that the requirements for the three-year period will be $31,000,000, of which $19,000,000 will be paid by the proposed bond issue, and $12,000,000 from surplus revenues.

The resolution of tentative approval by the board was ordered transmitted to the Mayor, the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce for consideration, discussion and conference.

PROCEDURE OUTLINED

The procedure to be followed before the report finally is agreed on as to the amount will be similar to that followed in fixing the amount of the water bonds recently approved. The bureau engineers will set forth their program of proposed development for discussion and criticism of the various governmental and civic bodies.

The first step will be taken tomorrow when Scattergood conducts members of the Chamber of Commerce water and power committee over the system and explains some of the items for which the money is to be spent. These include extensions and betterments to the local system, enlargement of power plants, proposed new power plants and the construction of transmission lines.

SECT'S QUEER FURNITURE SOLD

Bizarre Set Auctioned Off to Dealer

Auctioneer Wiese Selling Throne Chair

THE freakish gold-leafed bedroom set that devotees of the Divine Order of the Royal Arms of the Great Eleven were told had been prepared for use of the Lord on his return to earth went prosaically under an auctioneer's hammer yesterday to satisfy debts.

Not a householder among the crowd which thronged Charles K. Wiese's Open Market, 626 North Western avenue, bid a nickel for the outfit which the auctioneer said Mae Otis Blackburn, founder of the weird sect of Santa Susanna Hills, told of having designed bit by bit as she received divine direction. However, several dealers in oddities ran up bids until the seven pieces, reputed to have cost $6000, were sold one by one for a total of a paltry few hundred dollars.

"Now, what are you going to do with them?" was put to Joe Osiel of 3632 Beverly Boulevard, who got all of the pieces.

"I haven't the slightest idea," he replied. "Maybe I can sell them to somebody who wants something spectacular for advertising, I hope."

The set includes a huge throne chair, lamp, night stand, vanity and dresser, all heavily carved with a lion's head motif and covered with gold leaf, and a bizarre yellow satin chair and davenport.

JURY DISAGREES OVER HOSPITAL

Hahn Demands Restitution of Dr. Hohanshelt

Threatens to Recommend Dr. Wood's Removal

Ultimatum to Shaw Lacks Unanimous Support

Investigation of charges that scores of patients at the General Hospital have been the victims of neglect and cruelty was closed by the county grand jury yesterday after spending the entire day in listening to testimony of Dr. N. M. Wood, superintendent of the institution.

The next action anticipated in the matter is the report of the grand jury committee on hospitals and charitable institutions. Although no member of the grand jury would comment on the possible nature of the report, it is expected to urge several important changes.

At the same time it was disclosed that the grand jury is openly divided concerning its findings in the inquiry and regarding any recommendations which may be made.

The beginning of the split occurred last Thursday when George Hahn, chairman of the hospital committee, engaged in an argument with Dr. Wood in the grand jury witness room, demanding that he reinstate a discharged hospital employee.

HAHN CALLS ON SHAW

Yesterday Hahn is asserted to have repeated the demand, this time to Supervisor Shaw, declaring that unless the reinstatement was made Dr. Wood would be removed from his position as superintendent.

Hahn called at the office of Supervisor Shaw relative to the reinstatement of Dr. Anna S. Hohanshelt to her former position of chief resident physician of the institution. Shaw is the chairman of the board's committee on hospitals.

Dr. Hohanshelt, 37 years of age, who has been connected with the hospital since 1923, was demoted from chief resident physician to a member, with no official authority, of the medical staff of Supt. Wood. Her demotion came on January 1 last.

Following the visit of Grand Juror Hahn to the office of Supervisor Shaw, the latter issued the following statement:

SHAW'S STATEMENT

"George Hahn appeared in my office this morning at 9:15 and, in substance, said the following:

"'I have come representing the grand jury and want to know if you will instruct Dr. Wood to reinstate Dr. Hohanshelt to her former position, that of chief resident physician, and if you do not we are going to recommend the removal of Dr. Wood.'

"I attempted to inform Mr. Hahn that Dr. Wood is under civil service and that until specific charges proving incompetency and inefficiency in his duties as superintendent of the Los Angeles County General Hospital could be brought and proven before civil service either by the grand jury or some other competent body, person, or persons, I could not act to remove him.

"I attempted to reason with Mr. Hahn but, in return, he said:

"'Mr. Shaw, your attitude has been belligerent and I can say that you do not want to co-operate with the grand jury, and all I want to say to you is we told the newspaper men that when we got through with this thing we will give them a story and if we cannot get a fair hearing on this hospital we will get it through the newspapers.'

"I do not know whether or not Mr. Hahn was acting in an official capacity as a representative of the grand jury, but I do know this, that I have full confidence in the grand jury as a body and believe that this jury desires to give the people of Los Angeles county a fair and impartial investigation of this institution, fulfilling the purpose I had in mind when I requested such an investigation last February."

NOT IN UNISON

Other members of the grand jury, however, are said to be not in accord with Hahn. Several stated openly that Hahn was not sent to Supervisor Shaw as spokesman for the grand jury or the hospital committee and that he spoke only for himself in the matter.

Hahn refused to be interviewed, stating: "I'm having enough trouble already without discussing this matter."

Consideration of the mass of testimony taken during the investigation now will be taken up by the hospital committee. Other members of the committee are J. E. Fenton,

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

A FOREST ranger thinks he has unearthed the remains of one of the Seven Golden Cities of Cibola, about 100 miles west of Phoenix.

Anyhow, he has found one of the largest prehistoric cities ever discovered in America—whether it bore the postoffice address of Cibola or not.

POETS ARE PRACTICAL

It is an interesting fact that most of the great practical achievements of the world have been accomplished by poets. If it hadn't been for this pipe dream luring on the conquistadores there might never have been any Southwest.

SEVEN FABLED CITIES

It was an old Indian legend that seven cities of gold existed somewhere out in what is now Arizona and New Mexico.

Padre Nisi, making a long, perilous journey with Esteban, a Negro slave, got as far as the pueblo of Zuni. Esteban got a little sociable with the Indian girls and was clubbed to death. Padre Nisi, more cautious, peeked down from a high hill and returned to Mexico with the report that he had seen a village where the natives ate from golden dishes with eating tools made of turquoise, rubies and other precious stones.

It was because of his report that Coronado set out on the long expedition from the sleepy old town of Compostela into an unknown land. He gave Arizona and New Mexico to the world; discovered Grand Canyon. Even if he didn't find the Seven Golden Cities of Cibola.

BURIED GOLD

How this old legend of gold persists!

There isn't one old mission in California that hasn't been dug into by treasure hunters—looking for gold that never was there.

Historians and treasure hunters are still smelling for the enormous hoards of gold that Cortes wrenched from the Aztec Emperor Montezuma.

This in the face of an old manuscript that has been discovered—a letter written home by a Spanish soldier. It appears that, when he knew he was licked, Cortes called upon the soldiers to go into Montezuma's palace and help themselves to the hoard of gold. They rushed in, but this soldier writes bitterly that he could have made more money if he had stayed at home and herded goats in Spain. Everything goes to show that the Aztecs and other primitives—with the possible exception of the Incas—had very little gold. They were more interested in various types of sacred stones.

THE "TERRBILE" GORILLA

The producers of the wild jungle film "Ingagi" feel hurt to tears because their gorilla drama has been called a fake; they say they only fixed it up a little.

The truth is wild gorillas don't behave right. They are supposed to occupy most of their leisure hours roaring battle cries and carrying off jungle young ladies of the human species to their dreaded lairs.

The only gorilla that ever lived for any length of time in captivity belonged to a girl in London. He used to insist on sitting on her lap and having his scalp massaged. When she gave him to a circus he died of a broken heart.

Now from my heart I ask you if you can stage a motion-picture drama with a ferocious beast of the jungle weeping piteously for lack of a young lady with a lap who will massage his scalp?

BERMAN DUE TO ARRIVE IN CITY TODAY

McNeil Island Prisoner to Testify in Julian Cases and be Tried in One

In the custody of two Federal prison guards, Jacob Berman, associate of S. C. Lewis and charged with having a part in the wrecking of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, will arrive on the West Coast Limited over the Southern Pacific at 8:30 a.m. today.

Berman, who is serving a seven-year mail-fraud sentence in the Federal prison at McNeil Island, is being returned to this city as a witness in four felony cases and for prosecution on one case, all the outgrowth of the Julian crash. He is expected to remain here until some time early in September, when he will be returned to McNeil Island.

According to orders issued to Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart by Attorney-General Mitchell the prisoner is to be kept in the County Jail during his stay here but is to be allowed to visit members of the District Attorney's staff who are to try the pending cases.

Berman is expected to testify against John Groves, a juror on the first Julian jury charged with having accepted a bribe; Louis Krause, the asserted go-between; Leontine Johnson and Morris Lavine, charged with extortion, and the nine defendants in the Julian overissue case.

The former Julian official is to be prosecuted on a forgery embezzlement case growing out of the overissued stock and is also a defendant in the Krause case. This indictment, however, will probably be dismissed when Berman, together with his brother, Louie Berman, also a defendant, is called to testify against Krause.

IRON WORKS INSTALLED IN NEW HOME

Kinney Concern Running Full Blast in Location on Forty-ninth Street

With a force of 100 men at work and all machinery running full blast, the new plant of the Kinney Iron Works on Forty-ninth street was opened yesterday. According to Wendell H. Kinney, president, the output will be between fifteen and twenty tons per day.

The Kinney Iron Works, originally known as the Graham Iron Works, is one of the largest and most modern foundries in the West. The old plant on Twenty-eighth street was purchased in 1916 by the late Arthur W. Kinney, father of Wendell H. and Roland T. Kinney, president and vice-president of the company.

"We are proud of our new home which we built to take care of the extra orders caused by the expansion of industrial Los Angeles," said Mr. Kinney. "As factories increase in Southern California there is a corresponding increase in demand for foundry products."

Soap Factory Breaks Ground at Site Today

Ground-breaking ceremonies in connection with construction of the new plant of Procter & Gamble at Long Beach have been arranged jointly by the Los Angeles and Long Beach chambers of commerce. The program will begin at 2 p.m. today.

John C. Austin, president Chamber of Commerce; Frank Merriam and Mayor Hauge of Long Beach will welcome the plant to the district.

A feature of the ground-breaking ceremony will be the launching of a miniature ship make of cakes of soap, built by A. L. Kurtis of this city.

LONG BEACH "Y" GIRLS FIRST TO GO TO CAMP

The Los Angeles Young Women's Christian Association in opening its fifteenth summer camping season at Camp Estelle in San Antonio Canyon, two miles beyond Camp Baldy, will have the Girl Reserves from the Long Beach Y.W.C.A. as the first contingent. They leave Long Beach at 8:15 a.m. Saturday morning. The Los Angeles High School girls will start for camp the 28th inst. The camp is limited to seventy-five girls. Stunts, songs, horseback riding, swimming, hikes, games, woodcraft, handcraft, dramatics and pageants are features.

WILLIAMS'S PLAN BACKED

The El Sereno Home Protective Association yesterday filed with the City Council its indorsement of Councilman Williams's resolution concerning the simplification of procedure in improvement projects.

Banker Graves Much Better

Rapid improvement in the condition of Jackson A. Graves, pioneer Los Angeles banker, was reported yesterday.

Mr. Graves yesterday was able to leave the bed to which he had been confined since Sunday morning. He was able to read the newspapers and his condition was announced as exceedingly favorable. He is president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, and is expected to return soon to his office.

FOUR U.C.L.A. SENIORS TO BE ORATORS

Graduation Addresses Will be Given on Friday at Hollywood Bowl

Four students of the class of more than 900 seniors at University of California at Los Angeles have been chosen by the faculty and Director Ernest C. Moore to deliver commencement addresses at the exercises Friday at 4 p.m. in Hollywood Bowl. The subjects of the addresses were announced yesterday and include the following: Deborah King, "In Defense of Aristocracy;" Charles Steele Crail, Jr., "What Value History?" Lolo Kern, "The Man Who Was a Thing" and George Schochat, "Syncopation or Symphony?"

Dr. Walter Morris Hart, vice-president of University of California, will come here from Berkeley to make a five-minute address to the members of the graduating class, and Director Moore will present the degrees to the students.

Yesterday was a day of receptions and banquets. At 4 p.m. Director and Mrs. Moore were hosts at a reception in the Masonic clubhouse, where their greeting was in the nature of a hail and farewell to the senior class.

In the evening two separate, formal banquets for the men and women graduates were held at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Fund Requested for Grade Jobs

A resolution by Councilman Williams, proposing an allocation of $450,000 from the Permanent Improvement Fund for the construction of the two grade separations in the Silver Lake Boulevard project, was referred by the City Council yesterday to the Tunnels, Bridges and Viaducts Committee.

Williams sets forth that the awards for land in connection with the separations at Temple street and at Sunset Boulevard amount to $214,495, while the estimate on the cost of construction amounts to $450,000.

BUNDY GETS GOLD WATCH OF AD CLUB

Advertising Men Hear Official of Federation Tell Scope of Work

Winding up a fiscal year's activities, members of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles yesterday expressed their appreciation of the work of retiring President Carl Bundy and of friends of the organization.

Former president Herman Nater, who is in the running for president of Pacific Advertising Clubs Association, presented a watch to Bundy on behalf of the members. Bundy tendered a gold-embossed membership card to L. E. Behymer, impresario, for what the latter has done for the club.

T. W. Le Quatte, executive vice-president of the Advertising Federation of America, spoke on "Organized Advertising at Work." He said that the federation's members represent $500,000,000 in business investments depending to a considerable extent on advertising.

Los Angeles' growth in the last decade was the subject of praise. The city, the speaker asserted, is a modern miracle.

Venice Street Jobs Revived

The project of opening and widening Second avenue and Trolley Way in Venice was revived yesterday by the Street Opening and Widening Committee of the City Council.

The original project was vetoed last year by Mayor Porter, who based his action on a 2 per cent protest. The Council sustained the veto. The present project is much smaller, the estimated cost being about $700,000, whereas the original plan was estimated to cost $2,694,000. The committee directed the City Engineer to make a survey.

PROTESTS TURNED DOWN BY COUNCIL

The City Council yesterday denied protests against the improvement of Seventy-first street between Victoria avenue and West Boulevard and against the improvement of Montana avenue between Bundy Drive and Stanford avenue. The Council referred the projects back to the Public Works Committee for some changes. Consideration of protests against the improvement of Union avenue, Second to Acacia streets, was continued until December 17, and consideration of protests against the improvement of Runnymede street, Winnetka avenue to Mason street, was continued until July 16.

A number of film folk will be introduced by M. A. Silver, general manager of Warner Brothers' Theater chain, including Loretta Young, Grant Withers, Claudia Dell, Irene Delroy, Walter Pidgeon and Leon Janney.

The site runs 150 feet along Sixth street and extends back 125 feet. It was bought recently for $150,000. The building will have an auditorium seating 2000 persons, and will contain six stores and twelve offices. Lange & Bergstrom, Inc., of Los Angeles, is general contractor.

MARYLAND FOLK TO DINE

Former residents of Maryland will meet for dinner Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in Leighton Cafeteria, 542 South Broadway. An informal program will follow.

VENICE OIL PRESTIGE RISES

Two Major Companies May Handle Production; General Committee Discusses Prices

That at least two major oil companies are seriously considering the idea of handling Venice oil production, now that the field has won attention as a steady producer, is indicated by the move of the general committee on curtailment, headed by Paul Boggs.

Because of the sulphur content of the Venice oil, it is reliably reported that at least one operator in that new field plans to allow eastern refineries to handle its production through one of the larger major oil companies. This would call for the construction of additional pipe lines to run the oil out of the Venice field, and perhaps the leasing of greater storage space.

At yesterday's session, the general committee accepted the new potentials established by the fact-finding committee, and discussed at considerable length what price should be posted for Venice oil. This move has become necessary through the completion of four wells and the possible completion of at least four other wells within the next ten days.

The daily production at Venice has jumped from about 1200 barrels of oil to 7500 barrels daily, according to the potential figures of the fact-finding committee. It was decided yesterday to place Venice in Group No. 3, along with the Kettleman Hills oil field, and to allow it a daily yield of 6000 barrels of oil until the field settles down. Since it is experiencing a rapid development program it was determined by the general committee that the 6000-barrel figure will remain arbitrary for the present.

BRITISH EMPIRE GROUP SPLITS UP IN HOME ROW

Announcement yesterday of the resignation of three officers and approximately forty members of the Daughters of the British Empire brought to light disagreement and dissension among the membership over the projected building of a $200,000 home for aged British people at Santa Monica.

The formal announcement of the withdrawal of Mrs. A. J. Fowler of Santa Monica, first vice-president; Mrs. John C. Austin of Pasadena, State chairman of the home committee, and Dr. Dorothy Smyley of Santa Monica, chairman-at-large of the western district home, revealed that the resignations were presented at the semiannual meeting of the State board of the organization on the 16th inst.

Failure of the membership and the officers to agree on the site for the new home, which was originally designed for the Pacific Palisades at Santa Monica, the plans for the building and the cost of the structure, are said to be the arguments which has brought about the sudden and distinct cleavage in the organization.

Construction of two homes for aged persons of British birth in the United States was announced in May at the annual convention of the national society of Daughters the British Empire, held in Cleveland. At that time Mrs. H. Montgomery, national treasurer, said that funds for the two establishments, which were to augment two already in operation in Hollywood, Ill., and Ossining, N. Y., were growing rapidly. She said that one of the homes would be built in California and one in Florida.

COUNCIL TO TALK DOLLARS

Special Meeting, Open to Public, Will be Held Today to Solve Financial Problems

High and involved finance will be the subject of a special meeting of the Council this afternoon.

This meeting will be open to the public, it was announced, unlike the secret session Monday afternoon, when Mayor Porter gave the Council the bad news that, due to County Assessor Hopkins's reductions in the assessment roll, the city's tax receipts will be $1,000,000 less than he contemplated.

As explained by Councilman Cooke, chairman of the Finance Committee, and Councilman Burns, a member, the committee will propose that a sum, equal to the estimated drop in taxes, be placed in the unappropriated balance. At the same time, departmental cuts will be made, equal to this sum. Then, the departments will be exempted from the one-twelfth provision for the months of July and August. This provision prevents an expenditure of more than a twelfth of the budgetary allowance during any one month.

This will bring the city up to September 1, without the necessity of laying off any employees, Cooke and Burns explained. At that time definite information on the city's income will be available. If income jumps up, all will be well and good. If it does not, the retrenchment situation must be faced squarely.

Hopkins yesterday expressed surprise that the Mayor and city officials were unaware of his contemplated reduction in real estate taxes, a cut amounting to $1,000,000 in the city alone. Hopkins said he has made no secret of this action, and that a series of articles on taxes and assessments, carried several weeks ago in The Times, outlined his intentions with great exactitude.

Prosecution Witness Denies Oesterreich Murder Accusation

TRIAL MARKED BY SENSATIONS

Warrant Issued for Former Attorney for Defense

Veiled Accusation Stings Witness Klumb

Hint of Oesterreich Killing Hotly Resented

Trial of Otto Sanhuber, so-called "ghost of the garret," charged with the murder of Fred Oesterreich, drew toward a climax in Superior Judge Hardy's court yesterday as these events took place:

(1.) Roy H. Klumb, on the stand as a prosecution witness, was asked by defense counsel if he had not admitted himself to be the actual murderer of Oesterreich.

(2.) Klumb heatedly denied the charge and the prosecution placed on the stand a rapid succession of witnesses in support of their theory that Sanhuber did the shooting and was aided by Mrs. Oesterreich in concealing himself and his acts for nearly eight years.

WARRANT FOR SHAPIRO

(3.) Judge Hardy issued a bench warrant for the arrest of Attorney Herman Shapiro, formerly Mrs. Oesterreich's civil lawyer, who once made an affidavit that he released Sanhuber from his attic abode at his employer's behest. The court was informed by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello that Shapiro had dropped from sight after having been subpoenaed as a prosecution witness.

(4.) The prosecution announced last night that it will probably rest its case today.

Klumb had testified for the prosecution that he had known the Oesterreichs for five years; that Mrs. Oesterreich had once told him that she had a lover whom she was afraid would kill her husband and after the shooting had given him (Klumb) a pistol with instructions to throw it in the La Brea oil pits.

VEILED ACCUSATION

"Isn't it a fact that you admitted to at least two persons that you murdered Oesterreich yourself?" was virtually the first question flung at Klumb by Defense Attorney Wakeman when he began the witness's cross-examination.

"It is not," roared back Klumb straining his more than six feet of stature against the witness stand.

"Didn't you tell Homer Mills of Long Beach, when he berated you for being intoxicated, that he would drink, too, if he had on his mind what you had on yours? That you killed Oesterreich?" was the next question.

The witness denied the conversation.

THREATS DENIED

He also denied that he had threatened to "bump off" Mills and the latter's brother if they proposed to testify at the trial.

Klumb admitted that he had had business dealings with Mr. Oesterreich and that the latter was contemplating financing him in various ventures, but denied that Oesterreich had refused to go through with these deals and that the refusal led to an argument. He admitted, also, that he had been a visitor at the Oesterreich home at various times and had taught Mrs. Oesterreich how to drive an automobile.

"Where were you on the night of the murder?" demanded Wakeman.

Klumb said he was out driving with a "young lady," whose name he gave as Frances Rider, at the time the shooting was supposed to have taken place.

CORRECTS TESTIMONY

The witness declared on cross-examination that he had heard Mr. and Mrs. Oesterreich engage in only one or two "minor" quarrels, but when shown a previous statement in which he said they had frequent quarrels and that she had said she was going to get a divorce, Klumb declared he was "very nervous and rattled" when the statement was made.

Klumb's story of having been given a gun by Mrs. Oesterreich to hide was somewhat substantiated when J. E. Farber, another former friend of the Oesterreichs, took the witness stand and testified that Mrs. Oesterreich had also given him a gun after the shooting with instructions to "throw it away." Farber said he took it home and threw it in a rubbish heap in the rear of his yard.

Mrs. Farber, wife of the preceding witness, was next called to the stand. She testified she found the gun in the back yard and buried it under a rose bush, only to dig it up later and throw it in a parking strip on the south side of town.

ON MURDER NIGHT

Mrs. Farber also testified that she visited Mrs. Oesterreich a few hours after the murdered body of Oesterreich was discovered late on the night of August 22, 1922. She related that she went up to Mrs. Oesterreich's bedroom and sat down.

"You are not going to look at me all night?" Mrs. Oesterreich asked her, according to Mrs. Farber.

"No, I'll go downstairs," the witness said she replied.

"Then I can lock my door and rest," returned Mrs. Oesterreich, it was testified.

STORY SIGNIFICANT

The testimony had particular significance in view of statements made earlier yesterday at the trial by Detective Lieutenant Stoll.

Stoll declared that Sanhuber, after being arrested, told him that he (Sanhuber) heard the arresting officers making their investigation of the Oesterreich house on the night of the murder and their questioning of Mrs. Oesterreich. The prosecution maintains that Mrs. Oesterreich kept Sanhuber secreted in an attic room next to her bedroom after the shooting.

FOUND HIDING PLACE

More testimony in support of this contention was forthcoming from Detective Captain Cato, who asserted that he, a few months ago, had made a minute examination of the second floor of the former Oesterreich residence and had discovered two loose boards in the side of a trunk room that gave access to an attic aperture. An electric light had been hung in this attic room, Cato declared, and there were also hooks and other evidences of former habitation, the detective declared.

Mrs. Mary Goldfinch, present owner of the Oesterreich residence at 858 Lafayette Park Place, was placed on the stand. She testified that since acquiring the property from Mrs. Oesterreich in January, 1923, she had made no changes in the attic and knew nothing of the loose boards in the trunk room until Capt. Cato showed them to her.

Several other police officers also testified at the trial yesterday. They included Officers Murray, Gruey and Aubrey, all of whom were among the first policemen to arrive at the Oesterreich residence after the murder. They described finding the body of Oesterreich on the lower floor near the front door and of finding Mrs. Oesterreich locked in her bedroom closet on the second floor. Her story at that time was that she went up to the closet to hang up her coat, after having just entered the house with her husband, and of having been pushed into the closet by an unseen assailant from behind.

Former Chief of Police Davis then took the witness stand and declared that he had visited Mrs. Oesterreich an hour or two after she had been found and noted that the coat that she said she had worn that night was hung carefully on a hanger in the closet.

STATE WITNESS IN ATTIC MURDER CASE

Roy H. Klumb

HEROIC NIGHT CLERK DIES FROM BANDIT'S BULLETS

His loyalty to his employer, which caused him on Monday to risk the bullets of a lone bandit demanding the comparatively small sum of money in the cash register, cost Henry P. Miller, 53 years of age, night clerk of the University Club, his life yesterday.

Miller fought for nearly twenty-four hours to overcome the effects of the three bullets fired into his body, but the end came at 5:45 p.m. at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Wilbur McCabe, alias Jerry O'Regan, in custody as the robber who shot Miller, last night confessed to Police Captain Seager, Detective Lieutenants Wilde, Alsup and Connors the full details of the robbery and shooting. He told the officers how he planned and attempted to execute the hold-up and details of the encounter with Miller. McCabe is an ex-convict, sentenced to ten years for robbery July 19, 1924, and paroled from San Quentin January 1, last. He was held under a charge of murder last night.

Miller had resisted the bandit in the face of the latter's threat to kill him if he made the "slightest move" to frustrate the hold-up. The night clerk was alone in the lobby when the man entered and was immediately confronted by a revolver in the latter's grasp. At the same time the bandit shoved a note across the counter which directed him to put the money from the register into a sack, pass it over, and then shut himself for five minutes in a closet.

Instead of complying, Miller slashed at the man with a pocket knife and received two bullets in the abdomen and one in the chest.

Abe Aranson, 54, second-hand dealer, who also was attacked by a lone bandit Monday, and struck down with a blow on the head with an automobile axle, was reported out of danger last night. As with Miller, he had been taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, but his improved condition made it possible for his removal to the General Hospital.

Ransford Davidson, 38, is in custody charged with being the bandit who felled Aranson.

LAW DENIES DIPLOMA TO SCHOOL BOY

School Board Upheld in Action; Defense Attorneys to Appeal

Motion for a nonsuit in the mandamus action filed in behalf of Max Rosenstein, student at the Roosevelt High School refused a diploma, to compel the school board and officials to issue him one, was granted by Superior Judge Hanby yesterday after considerable testimony and argument by counsel on both sides.

The young man had been taken to task by Principal Thomas Elson, it was testified, because he had been active in distributing literature for the Young Workers' League, affiliated with the Communist party. Later, however, Rosenstein repeated the pledge of allegiance to the flag and said he did not believe in the overthrow of constituted government by force and bloodshed.

Refusal to grant the youth a diploma was made by Principal Elson on the ground that Rosenstein had attended commencement exercises after he had been told not to do so. The school board upheld the principal in his decision.

Judge Hanby based his decision on a finding that Rosenstein had disobeyed his teacher and that his liberties and privileges under the law had not been interfered with by failure of school authorities to certify his graduation grades.

Attorneys Shapiro and Romaine for the plaintiff asked that the case be postponed until an examination in citizenship could be given the boy, but Judge Hanby refused. The attorneys stated the case will be appealed. Deputy County Counsel Purdom represented the school board.

Romping Child Drops Dead of Heart Disease

Happily romping on the lawn in front of her home at 4300 Victoria Drive, Frances Murphy, 6 years of age, daughter of J. J. Murphy, manager of the boys' department in J. W. Robinson & Co. department store, suddenly gasped late yesterday and fell to the ground. She was dead when picked up.

Dr. C. O. Diver of 3431 Leimert avenue was summoned and pronounced death due to heart disease.

Because heart disease as a cause of death is unusual in the case of a child, Deputy Sheriff Thomas was detailed to investigate. Inquiry developed the child had been subjected to several heart attacks, and Dr. Diver's finding was pronounced correct.

BROODING ON MALADY BRINGS SUICIDE TRIAL

Brooding over an incurable malady with which he is afflicted, according to police, yesterday led Ned Sten, 37 years of age, a Finn, to attempt suicide by slashing his throat with a razor in a rooming-house at 123 South Main street. He was found unconscious by Joe Curley, the proprietor, and rushed to Georgia Street Receiving Hospital, where his condition is reported critical.

DRUGGISTS FLAY MAGAZINE RAIDS

Why Wasn't Notice Given? They Ask Police Board

Recent Round-up Declared to Have Been Unwarranted

Chief Steckel States Mix's Order Had to be Obeyed

A strong protest by a delegation representing the California Pharmaceutical Association, the Los Angeles Association of Retail Druggists and the Retail Druggists' Association of Southern California, stating it represents an investment of $100,000,000 and 6000 taxpayers, against the "ruthless and unwarranted" arrest last week of 180 druggists and others for the sale of "peppy" magazines, was made to the Police Commission yesterday.

Lucien N. Brunswig of the Brunswig Drug Company, said many prominent druggists of the best reputation were thrown in jail, fingerprinted and treated like felons and scoundrels.

No intimation had been given the druggists that they should stop the sale of the magazines, he said, and if it had been given the druggists would have co-operated with the police 100 per cent in their suppression.

OTHERS PROTEST

A. H. Voesmeyer, president of the California Pharmaceutical Association, said all that was necessary was to give notice, and warning against sales of the magazine would have been printed in the association's bulletin and there would have been no need of arrests.

Others who spoke included L. Schiff, president of the McKesson Western Wholesale Drug Company, Frank Morton, secretary of the Retail Druggists' Association, and Attorney Leo D. Epstein for Eggbert Brothers, distributors of the magazines.

Epstein declared a test case is to be made in the courts as a result of the arrests.

Robert Palmer told of youthful employees, some of them attending school, who were thrown into jail because they did not have the necessary bail. He declared dealers were put on the pan by a group of zealous reformers seeking political publicity in a so-called clean-up.

CHIEF EXPLAINS

The commissioners pointed out that the raid was instigated by Prosecutor Nix, and Chief of Police Steckel explained the warrants were issued from Nix's office and that the police had to serve them or face contempt of court. He assured the delegation that the fingerprints will be destroyed, but said it is impossible to comply with the delegation's request to eliminate a police record for the druggists' arrested.

Voesmeyer also stated that the raid was the move of somebody trying to make a reputation instead of co-operation with the druggists in upholding the law.

Brunswig wanted to know why the raid was conducted at an hour when it was difficult to obtain bail bond, and whether it wasn't for the purpose of playing into the hands of bail-bond sharks.

Chief Steckel admitted the prosecutor's purpose could have been served by simply notifying the druggists, since the offense is considered a misdemeanor and not a felony.

The commission directed the Chief to investigate thoroughly charges that youthful employees of drug stores were mishandled during the "round-up" and expressed sympathy for the irate druggists, but stated that as the prosecutor is responsible for issuance of the warrants it merely can check up on any improper work of the police.

EX-DETROITERS HAVE GOOD DAY

Police Commission Grants Permits for Business in Los Angeles

Yesterday was a favorable day for former residents of Detroit who desire permits to do business as residents of Los Angeles.

When Al Leichter sought a permit to open an employment agency for film and stage folk at 6912 Hollywood Boulevard, Police Commissioner Drake said:

"I'm in favor of granting anybody from Detroit a permit to do business in Los Angeles."

The commission approved and later R. W. Sherlock asked for permission to open a game of skill and science on the Venice Pier.

"Where are you from?" he was asked. He was from Detroit. More favorable action was taken.

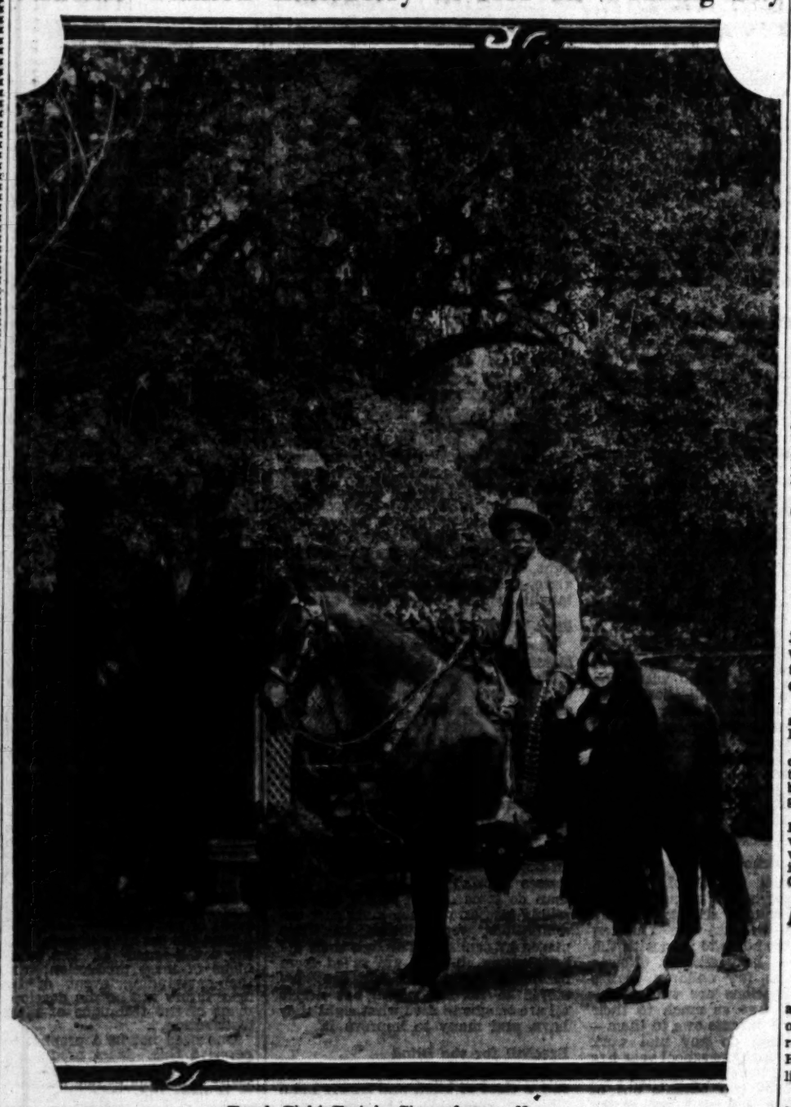
HUGE TREE REMEMBERED AS TINY TWIG

Rancher Planted Elderberry in 1881 on Wedding Day



Trunk Eight Feet in Circumference Now

E. R. Plummer, Miss Amparito Ontiveros and the leafy giant.

HARDLY thicker than his thumb when he planted it in 1881, E. R. Plummer of 1198 North Vista street believes he has about the largest elderberry tree in captivity in this State, growing in his back yard.

The trunk measures eight feet in circumference and lacking three inches, is three feet through, while the topmost branches measure forty feet high and cast their shade over an area half as large as a city lot. The tree was planted, Plummer said, to commemorate his wedding day and at the time it got its start in the world, its cradle was right in the heart of the old Plummer Rancho.

FLEET SHIPS HOME FRIDAY

All Seven of Dreadnaughts Will Arrive in Port at Los Angeles Harbor in One Group

All seven returning dreadnaughts of the battle fleet will arrive simultaneously at Los Angeles Harbor on the morning on the 20th inst., according to a radiogram received late yesterday from the fleet flagship California at Eleventh Naval District headquarters. The slower units of the train squadron, however, will arrive at scattered intervals during the week following, beginning with the return of the train flagship Procyon on the 22nd inst.

Battleships anchoring in home waters Friday morning will include the California, flagship of Admiral Frank H. Schofield, new commander-in-chief of the battle fleet; the West Virginia, flagship of Vice-Admiral Richard H. Leigh, commanding the battleship divisions; the New Mexico, flagship of Rear-Admiral Harley H. Christy, commanding Battleship Division Four; the Maryland, temporary flagship of Rear-Admiral Joel R. P. Pringle, commanding Battleship Division Three, and the Nevada, Oklahoma and Tennessee.

The hospital ship Relief, stopping off at San Diego to discharge hospital patients, will not arrive here until July 7. The aircraft carrier Saratoga, due Friday, will also be delayed at San Diego to take aboard her plane squadrons. The tanker Neches and the mine sweepers Brant and Tern are due with the Procyon on the 22nd, while the tanker Cuyama will not arrive until the 24th inst.

Texas Youths Make Trip Here in Senile Auto

Another use for senile flivvers has been discovered by Marvin Thorn and George Butler, Texas youths, who just completed a 1900-mile jaunt in five days.

The youths, who are still in their 'teens, drove without the aid of a steering wheel an old model T Ford from Breckenridge, Tex., to Los Angeles in what they declare to be a most adventurous trip. Starting with $25, they arrived at the home of Butler's aunt, Mrs. Alice Butler of 239 South Avenue 55, with 10 cents.

Since the vehicle is only the skeleton of what was once somebody's pride and joy, the boys' complexion is tanned to a little lighter than coal black. They declare that they got so much enjoyment out of the trip that they would think nothing of trying it again.

Letter from Husband Wins Wife Divorce

I. G. Beall admitted he was deficient in that peculiar quality of the heart and head known as courage—and that deficiency won Mrs. Esther Marie Beall a divorce in Superior Judge Fleming's court yesterday.

Mrs. Beall showed the judge a letter. It read like this:

"My dear—I'm running away because I'm a coward and can not face the future. Our marriage was all a horrible mistake. I was swept off my feet by your personality and I rushed headlong into a situation that my saner judgment tells me is wrong. I can not give you happiness—if I come back to you I will have to live a lie. So good-by."

The men and 200 cases of liquor were turned over to the local prohibition administrator for investigation. The men are Anastasio M. Moreno, William Graves and Juan Lopez.

The craft is said to have been without proper papers and to have had the flags of both the United States and Mexico.

SAWTELLE GOVERNOR FILES SUIT

Hadley Answers Wife's Divorce Action With Charge of Jealousy

Mrs. Mabelle K. Hadley, wife of John A. Hadley, governor of Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle, was so unreasonably jealous that she screamed and broke dishes, Hadley declares in his cross-complaint for divorce, on file yesterday.

Mrs. Hadley sued her husband, asserting that he deserted her and placed the management of the home in the hands of his 21-year-old daughter Berenice Virginia.

Hadley declared that he had not associated with his wife any more than he had to because of what he termed her "insane jealousy." She was even jealous of his sister and daughter, he said. On one occasion she tried to commit suicide, while there was company at the house, it was said. The Hadleys have been married twenty-four years.

"As a member of the Los Angeles Bar Association I shall abide by the vote of its members, and shall be very happy to do all I may to aid in your re-election to the Superior Court."

SEA WALL PLAN GIVEN SUPPORT

Santa Monica Council Takes Unanimous Action

Los Angeles Financiers Will Build Breakwater

Deal May be Consummated Within Six Weeks

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 17.—Yachtsmen's dreams of a breakwater that will make a placid lagoon of part of Santa Monica Bay took an important step toward realization here today when the City Council voted unanimously to advertise and place on sale a franchise for its construction. The matter came up as the result of the filing last week of a formal application by a group of financiers for permission to proceed with the project. It met no opposition, all Councilmen being favorable.

When the motion carried, Councilman Helton, chairman of the finance committee, stated the necessary ordinance and other papers probably will be drawn up in time to make possible the consummation of the deal within six or eight weeks.

Coincident with the vote it was revealed for the first time that the syndicate eager to erect the breakwater includes O. K. Hunsaker, Philip Ilsley and C. E. Hewing, all Los Angeles financiers. The first-named is president of the Hunsaker Finance Corporation. It is understood the group stands prepared to bid on the contract the day after the ordinance is passed.

Frederick S. Wilson, industrial secretary of Santa Monica, also made known today that more than 100 applications for mooring space along the proposed breakwater already have been received from boat owners.

The new-type sea wall is to be built from plans and specifications drawn by Taggart Ashton, engineer, who has designed similar walls, one of which is in Madrid, Spain, and is two miles in length. Constructed of steel-reinforced concrete, in units of 100 feet each, and with hollow, square chambers, honeycombing the whole, it will extend 2000 feet northward, paralleling the shore line, from a point about 350 feet off the end of the municipal pier. The sections are to be floated into position and then sunk by sand pumped into the hollow chambers. A suspension bridge is planned to link the breakwater with the pier.

Forty feet thick at its base and thirty feet thick at the top, the wall will serve also as a grand stand for the accommodation of some 20,000 persons at yacht races and other aquatic contests which will be made possible within the shelter. The breakwater from end to end is to be illuminated by three-globe lamps erected on concrete standards placed twenty-five feet apart.

Today's Bible Text

If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable. But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept.—1 Cor. xv:19, 20.

WALL-STREET HASH
The bulls and bears continue their up-and-down battle, but they pause once in a while for a dish of lamb stew.

CALIFORNIA PRESS
California now has 176 daily newspapers with a circulation of 2,797,000. Modesty forbids us to pursue this matter further.

MYTHICAL MONEY
New York Times declares, editorially, that the so-called "60-cent dollar" is all hooey. After paying a few bills, we heartily agree.

CUTTING OUT THE DRONES
Big industry has found intensive mass production for a short period and long periods of inactivity detrimental because the working force is demoralized. The new policy will distribute the work over the year, with really skilled labor being given the preference.

ARCHITECTS
Students of the University of Southern California will study architecture first-hand in eight European countries this summer. Paris, Versailles, Madrid, Seville, St. Gothard, Rome, Heidelberg, Brussels, the Hague and London will be on the itinerary. Six units will be granted to those who pass satisfactory examinations afterward. The place to study language is among folks, stars in the heavens, geology among the rocks, architecture in the temples.

DEATH VALLEY DECORATIONS
For nineteen consecutive days in May showers fell in Death Valley. And myriads of seeds that had lain dormant for years burst into bloom and carpeted the floor with gorgeous color. A botanist says that 100 varieties could be gathered in thirty minutes within a radius of fifty yards. The blooms included asters, columbine, larkspur, lilies, bluebells, daisies, buttercups, poppies, Indian paint brush, purple sage and cactus. The foot of Funeral Range was literally banked with flowers.

WELFARE
The Rowntree Chocolate Company of York, Eng., sets aside $150,000 a year for installing workers in new positions whose jobs are taken away from them by new machinery. Evidently heart as well as steel throbs in many of our great corporations. Private concerns, where they are so disposed, better than politics, can put kindliness into the management. Business is not as crass as the Socialist would have us believe. And then the politicians of our day hardly commend themselves to the confidence of public ownership. We have too many feed troughs as it is.

WHERE WERE THE WETS?
Minnesota, which the wets were claiming for their own at the conclusion of the Literary Digest poll, has renominated Senator Schall, dry; the second man in the race was Gov. Christianson, dry; and a veteran legislator and politician who ran on a wet ticket received less than 7 per cent of the total vote and finished third, apparently, only because there were only three in the race. In Maine, which also was wet in the Digest poll, there was a very similar result, two drys finishing far ahead of a repeal candidate. This contest was for the seat of Senator Gould, who did not even bother to run after a letter he wrote endorsing home-brew was made public.

It must be remembered, of course, that primary contests tend to turn on personalities rather than on issues and that many Minnesota wets probably voted for Senator Schall for various reasons having nothing to do with his prohibition stand. But these results certainly show that prohibition is not the paramount and stirring issue the wets have tried to make out and that people are much more interested in other matters. Nearly every primary contest so far has proved that the injection of the prohibition issue was a miserable failure. It was so in the Florida Congressional district represented by Ruth Bryan Owen, which in the Digest poll showed up dripping but renominated Mrs. Owen hands down.

THE CITY BUDGET
Because County Assessor Hopkins was not consulted by the city administration before the latter prepared the budget, the estimates on which the budget was based are probably $1,000,000 or more too high and some strenuous revamping will be necessary in the next two days. The City Council is required by law to return the budget, with its changes, on Friday. The omission to consult the Assessor was due, presumably, to inexperience on the part of the new administration, but it has led to an embarrassing situation.

Though the general budget as submitted by the Mayor to the Council was apparently $660,000 less than last year, the whole budget, including special funds, bond interest and redemption and the like, was greater by $7,000,000. It is natural, of course, for the expenses of a growing city to increase. But they should grow more slowly than the normal increase of the assessment roll, so that there should be a gradual decrease in the tax rate. In the exceptional cases where the assessment roll decreases, the city which lives entirely up to its income is forced to drastic economies which may not always be made wisely.

The air of secrecy which has surrounded the preparation of the budget has been a somewhat disquieting feature, especially in view of the fact that analysis of the general budget as submitted raises the question of whether there has been any actual decrease. This examination discloses that some items of expense, which in all previous budgets have been charged up to the general city budget, have this year been charged against various special funds, especially the permanent improvement fund; that some ordinary and expected expenses of the city, which are almost certain to be incurred, are not budgeted at all; and that many jobs are created and retained, for which no money is provided. In the case of the latter two classifications, if the city incurs these costs, the money will be paid from the reserve fund.

To use a single item for illustration, the proposed budget allots $56,000 from the permanent improvement fund to wages and materials for fire alarms. Heretofore, fire alarms have been paid for through the building and safety fund of the general budget. An illustration of no provision of money for costs that nevertheless will be incurred, is in the police salary item. Here the present budget allows for an average annual salary of $2373 for policemen. The proposed budget provides only $2345. Since a policeman's pay is fixed by his term of service, the administration can make this saving only by (1) forcing out older and more experienced men and replacing them by recruits at lower salaries, or (2) making up the deficit from the reserve fund.

During the past four years, the police department has never spent less than $64,185 for new automobiles. The proposed budget allots only $44,200. This is well if the latter sum is sufficient to provide the needed service, otherwise it may prove expensive economy. The item for auto repairs is likewise cut to $44,500 from $50,000 and gasoline is shaved from $70,000 to $65,000, indicating a lessened use of cars and fewer repairs. If there is evidence that city employees have been wasteful it is proper to call such a halt. If the cuts are purely arbitrary the saving may mean impaired service.

Some of the cuts are in the engineering department. The allocation for garbage collection is cut from $127,581 to $116,000. If this means fewer collections the economy will be relished by few housewives. Street repairs are cut $27,000.

Among expenses certain to be incurred but not budgeted may be mentioned purchase of motorcycles, for which $18,000 has been authorized by the City Council. This amount will have to come from the reserve fund. This year the city spent $149,427 for telephone service; the new budget allowance is $125,000.

No appropriations are budgeted for city contribution to the Community Chest and other welfare agencies. These are customarily made.

The Mayor's salary account is boosted from $23,575 to $35,700 and general expenses of the Mayor's office from $27,885 to $42,428, one item being $4000 for a new automobile. The change is significant of the different methods used by Mayor Porter, who places great reliance upon a corps of secretaries and investigators, through which he makes many of his contacts with the business of the city. Generally speaking, the danger to an executive who uses this system is that his information is frequently considerably colored in the filtering process and that underlings who have authority without responsibility are easily approached and influenced by men with axes to grind. More direct dealings with responsible heads of city departments are usually not only more efficient, but less costly.

There will be no disposition on the part of the public to grudge the Mayor the money necessary to the efficient discharge of his heavy responsibilities nor to dictate to him how his office shall be run, so long as results are visible to justify the methods used.

It is fair to say, also, that time is the only final test of any general program of the kind. If the Mayor's economy budget proves in the long run actually to save the city money he will have not only justified himself, but will have earned the thanks of the public.

The LEE SIDE O' LA
BY Lee Shippey

THIS being the season of bacca—laureate revels, we can't resist a few reflections, serious if not sad.

Santa Ana is the heart of one of the richest agricultural areas in the world and many boys and girls from the ranches are students in the Santa Ana High School. Of the graduating class of 126, only six informed the takers of a poll that they intend to return to the land.

As long as six can feed 126 we suppose it's all right. But the time may not be so far away when the 120 will have to pay the six well for what they eat.

Phrendhoff Manne Still at Large

Of course, though, one can't tell what our deep thinkers will work out for us. Phrendhoff Manne, the peripatetic philosopher, has just entered our office without knocking, but with another great scheme to make anyone a millionaire. Being a philosopher of the modern school, Phrendhoff wants his millions.

"The idea," he said, "is to inoculate chickens with fly serum and flies with chicken serum.

Thus the chickens will lay several hundred eggs at a time, while the flies will cackle loudly every time they lay, so that we easily may get to them with the swatter. In a short while there won't be a fly left in the country, and the poultrymen will have to pay us fabulous prices for fly serum, of which, of course, we will make up great quantities in advance. I'll give you a ground-floor interest for $5."

But, alas, that happened to be $4.85 more than we had with us, so once more we had to let opportunity slip.

Lengthening School Year

Getting back to school, though, when we were a cub country editor many of the country schools ran only five months, because the children were needed at home to help with the farm work at busy seasons. Nowadays, when so few children realize that all obligations are two-sided—that children owe as much to their parents as the parents owe to them—so few children do any real work around home that the school year has gradually lengthened to ten months—and just about two parents out of three heave a sad, sad sigh when school lets out, because they don't know what on earth to do with the kids in vacation. Unless they can afford to rent a cottage at mountains or beach and let the children destroy somebody else's property instead of their own they are simply out of luck.

Already public and private summer schools take care of a great many children—and if the parents would visit those schools oftener they might learn how to handle their children, too. But that seems the last thing so many of us get around to learning.

How Public Schools Are Saving Sight

Modern education is, in fact, doing so many things that parents ought to be doing that the situation would be alarming if it weren't that it is doing it so much better than the parents ever did, and is teaching the parents, too. This applies especially to the handicapped, mentally or physically. We have told before of the splendid work which the Los Angeles schools are doing for the "backward" child. We never learned till the other day what they are doing for those that are sightless or of defective vision.

In seven grammar schools and two high schools here there are "sight-saving" classes and classes for the blind. In the "grand old days" when we went to school, many a pupil was accused of being stupid just because he was too near-sighted to learn as quickly as others without the aid of special equipment. In the Los Angeles schools all children are checked up by teachers and school nurses and all who seem to need it are sent to the staff oculist of the Board of Education. Then they report to Miss Frances Blend, who places them according to their needs. The sightless and nearly sightless are taught Braille. Those with defective vision are taught in rooms in which the desks are raised before them, almost like easels; in which only books in very large, clear type are used, where there is not even an inch of varnish to reflect glare, and there is plenty of light, by indirect lighting, without glare, and where, above all, they are taught to take care of their eyes.

More Than Glasses Needed

Often a few weeks in one of those classes restores a child who has been misusing his eyes to normal vision, and he may go into regular school classes. Often bad eyes are merely the result of bad reading habits at home or malnutrition, and consultation with the child's parents generally corrects those situations. Not all the children are given glasses, for there are many eye defects glasses will not remedy, but proper care of the eyes will. The moral of which is, when in doubt, consult an oculist, not an optometrist. The teachers in these classes know more about the eyes than do some of the people who are selling glasses, for they must pass examinations very similar to those passed by oculists. Through their efforts many children are saved from becoming blind. Not all are restored to normal vision, but nearly all are taught to save what sight they have, and many to improve it.

Baseball for the Blind

At a school on West Jefferson we saw a class of blind and nearly blind children playing baseball — and having a joyous time. The big ball was bowled to them like a cricket ball, and they struck at it by sound. But if they missed twice, they were allowed to take it in their hands and bat at it as one does when he bats up "flies." The fielders chase the ball by sound and if they catch it while it is in motion it is like catching a "fly"—the batter is out. They play the same game with a soccer ball, kicking at it instead of batting, and it is remarkable how accurately they bat and field by sound.

All the games these children play are designed to quicken their perceptions and their reasoning powers, and though they study in Braille or in clear-type books, they recite in regular classes and pursue a normal school life as much as is possible. One of the first students in the sight-saving classes of that school, Calvin Hendricks, recently won second place in the Atwater Kent audition, two others are honor students at the University of California at Los Angeles and five are honor students in Los Angeles high schools.

A STUDY IN SPORTSMANSHIP
There is a religion in sportsmanship which it is to be hoped the world will carefully preserve in the too general flux of old ethical standards. To call this the amateur spirit would perhaps be unfair to professionals in many athletic fields where the spirit of true sport still maintains. But if the amateur spirit should ever suffer eclipse and professionalism be thoroughly commercialized, then the delight inspired by clean, straight athletic competitions would be another wholesome influence lost to the cause of high principles and the providing of innocent pleasures.

The success attending the second Times Pre-Olympic Marathon furnished an excellent example of the amateur spirit in athletics. It was a fine demonstration of the love of sport for its own sake and a proof that competition for honor for the honor alone is still widely prevalent. On this last occasion eighty-one runners entered, with no thought of monetary compensation for the arduous training and the gruelling test in physical endurance. Winners and losers alike were contributing something inestimable to the athletic arena.

In this connection a special tribute is certainly due to the Boston veteran, Clarence De Mar, not only for his feat in running the twenty-six-mile course in just a little over two and a half hours, but even more for the example he affords of the amateur spirit at its best. In spite of his many victories as a long-distance runner and the opportunities they offered for capitalizing his exceptional gifts in this field, he has remained the quiet, well-bred New England gentleman, earning his living at his own chosen vocation, resisting both the glamour and the cash rewards at which those not filled with the religion of sportsmanship avidly grasp.

In the year 1932 we shall see the effect of this well-preserved spirit in a larger arena and on a more colossal scale when hundreds of the finest devotees of amateur sportsmanship will assemble in Los Angeles to struggle for the world's major athletic honors. Only the splendid traditions of amateur sport, the determination of its sponsors and patrons to keep themselves immune from the slightest taint of commercialism, make these quadrennial Olympic Games possible. The runners in The Times Marathon in a small way only illustrate the greater contests to come, but they represent completely the spirit of 1932.

What would happen to the Olympic Games, to all amateur and to the best professional sports, if they allowed the spirit of the contest to become secondary to the spirit of commercial gain, we can readily surmise by observing the present discreditable state into which the boxing ring has fallen. Contests for so-called world championships have degenerated into orgies of high power publicity, participated in by unscientific boxers, relying chiefly on clever press agents and the printed descriptions of their physical development. Thus in the latest fiasco in New York a so-called championship passed to the weakest contender because his antagonist was not even able to follow the rules of the game.

It is from this degradation that the amateur spirit saves the field of sport. Every lover of athletic contests and trials in physical prowess must, therefore, be encouraged by the spectacle of the best youth of the land devoting themselves to the healthy exercise and clean living necessary for winning honors in any of the events included in the Olympic Games. The Times Pre-Olympic Marathon and the Schmeling-Sharkey botched heavyweight championship fiasco form an instructive contrast in sportsmanship.

CHOOSING YOUR CAREER

XXIII

MERCHANDISING

BY EDWARD A. FILENE

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

[Edward A. Filene is president and chairman of the board of William Filene's Sons Company, Boston. He is a leader in business organizations seeking to improve production and distribution here and abroad.]

There are more and greater opportunities in the world of merchandising today than there ever were before; but the way to success is not the way which successful merchants of the older generation had to travel.

It is futile to think of entering upon a merchandising career today through opening and operating some little independent store. You might as well hope to rise in the automobile industry by learning the trade of a carriage maker.

Merchandising is entering a new phase. The outstanding event of our economic evolution during the past two decades was the development of the technique of mass production; and the outstanding event of the near future will be the development of the technique of mass distribution.

One need not be a prophet to perceive this. Mass production has proved its superiority. Already it dominates our markets. It is impossible that we should return to a less efficient system.

But mass production, in its very nature, demands mass distribution. Things must not only be produced as economically as possible, but they must be brought to the ultimate consumer at the lowest possible cost. The enormous wastes of distribution must be eliminated and merchandising from now on must be principally a matter of the scientific elimination of this waste.

Merchandising, however, is a finer art than is manufacturing. Conceivably, if one had enough capital, he might produce an article with a minimum of waste; but if masses of people did not want the article produced and could not use it advantageously, it would be a waste of money, time and human life to sell it to them, even if the job could be accomplished by the magic of high-pressure salesmanship.

This new technique of mass distribution will prove immensely profitable to all who master it. It cannot be learned in a little independent store at a time when even our great department stores are perceiving the necessity of organizing into chains. It can be learned best, of course, in the very largest organizations; and the most successful of these are those which are paying the most attention to the need of teaching it.

These organizations now make it a practice to initiate new employees into many different duties and they maintain personnel and training systems for the purpose of fitting every possible employee for positions of greater responsibility and large income.

Some rather sizable organizations, to be sure, are not yet doing this. Those considering merchandising as a career should take note and not make the mistake of tying up with such organizations.

The nation-wide chain store systems are now in the vanguard of modern merchandising. But they are only in the pioneer stage as yet and offer limitless opportunities to alert, industrious and thinking employees who will help them find their way.

The wages of inexperienced beginners are, because of certain traditions from which merchandising has not yet freed itself, not as high as they ought to be and not as high as scientific merchandising demands. The rewards, however, for those who master the new technique are great.

Many concerns are now paying salaries to their highest executives greater than the salary of the President of the United States, plus a share in the profits often greater than their salaries. And yet; so large is the demand for executives of this caliber that I personally know of many large merchandising projects, which have been adopted and approved by the management, but which are still held up for want of competent executives.

In answer to such demands, our more progressive universities have been establishing schools of business administration; and the very best way to enter upon the career of merchandising today is to study the whole theory and background of modern business in such a place as Harvard or Wharton or Tuck.

No one can master the technique of business in a school, for the technique changes from year to year.

But the greatest business minds of America are heartily co-operating with these colleges; and when business leaders address these student bodies they speak freely and give out the best that they have.

It may still be necessary for the graduate to begin at the bottom; but he will know what he is at the bottom of and that will be invaluable.

I do not mean that it is necessary to go to college. But it is necessary to learn, and to want to learn, something more than business detail. The successful merchant of the future must understand his business, but he must know enough of other businesses and of other aspects of society as a whole, both in his own and in other countries, so that he will be able to see his own business in its proper relation to the whole business and social order.

Governor Too Verbose

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Gov. Young does not only "fare with the hare and run with the hounds," as is evidenced by his disposition to praise President Hoover, while at the same time it is an open secret that his excellency is consorting politically with William Randolph Hearst—Hearst, that Democrat, publisher, would-be political dictator, recently of New York, now of California, whose primary purpose at the present time is to bring the Republican Hoover administration into disrepute through a vicious onslaught of propaganda—but now this verbose Governor of ours is quoted in the San Francisco Examiner, under date of June 11, to the effect that the farmers should stay out of politics by saying: "Agriculture is essentially non-political and must be kept so." What does the Governor mean by this? Would he disfranchise the farmers, or does he mean that politics is bad business and would be contaminating for an honest class? The writer is inclined to think the latter is what he means. But is the Governor in taking this position not setting up an argumentative structure that is bound to fall upon his own political head? Is the Governor not the personification of political activity in this State? And if politics is so full of filth, chicanery, deception, fraud, hypocrisy, corruption and what-not that honest people should shy away, should they not by parity of reasoning shy away from politicians, sitting in high places, who are primarily responsible for the odium that the Governor would attach to politics? How can the Governor insinuate in one breath that politics is bad business and in the next ask the good people of the State of California to support him further for public office, he being the essence of politics, politics incarnate, the high priest, if you please, of the Hearst-Hiram Johnson-Young triumvirate? If it will not strain the Governor's loquacious, verbose disposition to the cracking point, we would like for him to explain these apparent contradictions.

American Wars

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have recently had the pleasure of reading in your columns a most excellent review of the various wars in which the United States has indulged since Revolutionary times.

In scanning the list, however, I note at least three omissions, important because of their relations to the history of the Mexico border regions to which the history of California is so inextricably attached.

The omissions to which I allude are as follows: The war by the United States upon the Plains Indians of Texas and Oklahoma (Comanches and Kiowas) in the years between 1872 and 1874, which resulted in the conquest of those tribes and their being placed upon permanent reservations.

The expedition by Gen. McKenzie and the Fourth Cavalry from Fort Clark, Tex., across the Rio Grande into Mexico, as a punitory expedition about the year 1876, against the Kickapoo Indians and other Mexican outlaws.

The war of the Cheyenne Retreat from Oklahoma northward in 1877. This has been reported by army officers to have been one of the most masterly pieces of strategy on the part of these Indians in military history.

And last, but not least, the campaign in the late '70's and early '80's against the Apaches of Southwest Arizona, under Gen. Nelson B. Miles, aided by men like Lawton, Wood and others who became leaders in our history. H. T. TREVOR.

More women than men are numbered among the air passengers that daily fly from England to France, probably because the fair sex shops in Paris. A weekly average of 2000 passengers are carried across the channel. W. B. J.

TINY PLANE AIMS AT NEW GOAL

Flyer Will Try Journey to New York

Clarence O. Prest Just After Landing on Highway

AFTER setting a new world's speed record of 105 miles an hour for airplanes of similar power, Clarence O. Prest of San Bernardino, announced yesterday he will pilot his tiny home-made craft from here to New York in an attempt to set a low-powered air record.

Prest, a veteran flyer and aircraft builder, sped around a measured course to break the record held by a German pilot.

As soon as a new forty-horsepower motor arrives, Prest will install it in his ship and head eastward. The motor will carry him thirty miles on a gallon of gasoline and the twenty-gallon fuel capacity of the monoplane will allow him to fly 600 miles nonstop. The craft has a ceiling of 10,000 feet.

Minstrels of Jungleland to Meet Tonight

Tramps, wanderers, adventurers and just plain hoboes will be routed out of their jungles tonight to sing the minstrel songs of their calling and tell from the platform of the Midnight Mission something of their life story.

The occasion will be the annual "hobo round-up," originated by Brother Tom Liddecoat, and will feature a varied musical program—all provided by the guests. Songs of the open road, mournful harmonies tunes that usually echo from shady jungle camps and even poetry readings having to do with the wanderlust, will be given.

Brother Tom, in his invitation to the free travelers, which went out yesterday, specified that the usual habiliments of the highways be worn.

Ex-Police Chief Held for Trial

Accused of stealing money from the South Gate Police Sick Relief Fund, Franklin C. Bridcott, former Police Chief, yesterday was held for trial in the Superior Court after his preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Turney. The former officer faces prosecution on two grand-theft charges.

The complaint accuses Bridcott of taking $210 from the relief fund. On one occasion the defendant used the money to pay his initiation fee into a fraternal order and in another he used the funds to repay a debt, David Coleman, deputy District Attorney, charged.

Woman Cleared in Dancer Row

Accused of battery against Mitzi Weiss, dancer, Mrs. Gertrude Petticord, manager of a theatrical act in which the dancer and her two sisters, Lila and Rose, took part, yesterday was found not guilty by Municipal Judge Chambers.

The charge against Mrs. Petticord was the outgrowth of a disagreement between her and the three sisters on the night of May 21, last, backstage of the Million Dollar Theater. Mitzi maintained she was struck on the ear by Mrs. Petticord, who testified the three girls rushed her and that she fainted.

Husband Kills Self in Home

Taking advantage of the temporary absence of his wife, B. O. Sachs, 37 years of age, ended his life yesterday, according to police, by shooting himself in the right temple in his home at 116 South Vermont avenue. Neighbors heard the shot and rushed in to find him dead.

Informed of the suicide, Mrs. Sachs told police her husband had been despondent over failing health.

NEW RANCH ROW MOVES INDICATED

Attorney for Claimants to Malibu Estate Land Says It's All Boundary Issue

New moves by claimants to beach lots along the Malibu Ranch, under the contention that the land is subject to settlement as government domain were indicated yesterday by Attorney James Westervelt, who is counsel for a number of those who staked their claims in the area last Saturday night.

Westervelt declined to announce the next maneuver in the civil fight which he contends will be quite lengthy, "I have been asked what will be the next move on behalf of the entrymen," he said, "but that is a matter to be made public only when the move is made."

The intimation that the filing of the claims, after the gathering of claimants was dispersed by police officers, would not close the matter came from Westervelt along with a lengthy statement in which he declared that the opinions of County Recorder Logan and Brainerd B. Smith, Register of the United States Land Office, on the situation are erroneous.

Smith and Logan have both held that the title to the land which is held by the Marblehead Land Company is beyond dispute, and assert that the lots claimed by those who staked their boundaries are not government domain.

Westervelt declared that the present claimants do not base their acts on any attack on titles, but simply on a question of boundary. He asserts that a strip of land along the twenty-one-mile front of the Malibu estate from 60 to 130 feet in width is not covered by the old Spanish land grant, and is not property of the State on account of mean high tide. The attorney also maintains that the questions involved have never been before any court or senatorial investigating committee until the present move.

Europe Makes Talkie Stride

American motion-picture producers stand in danger of losing the entire European market unless something is done immediately toward making foreign-language pictures on a large scale. This is the opinion of Paul L. Stein, Pathe director, who returned to Los Angeles yesterday after three months in Germany and England.

"The advancement of European producers in the making of talking pictures is astounding," said Stein. "This applies particularly to Germany. Technically and artistically they are accomplishing wonderful things."

TRIAL OF GAS BLAST DAMAGE SUIT BEGUN

Total damages of $96,000 are asked by Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Gordon, apartment-house owners, in a suit which went to trial yesterday before Superior Judge Price. The plaintiffs assert injury in a gas explosion. Defendants in the case are the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, and the Superior Steam Radiator Company. The Gordons assert that Mrs. Gordon was injured seriously in an explosion which wrecked their apartment at 3438 McKinley avenue. The Gordons assert that the explosion was due to carelessness of the defendants in installing a gas heating system.

WIDENING PLANNED

The City Council yesterday issued instructions to provide J. W. Zehr a petition form to be circulated for the widening and extending of Robertson Boulevard to a width of eighty feet from Ivy street to Venice Boulevard, north roadway.

ADVERTISING SEEKS NEW HIGH STANDARD OF LIVING

The purposes of the Advertising Federation of America were pointed out last night by T. W. Le Quatte, executive vice-president, and discussed with a group of Los Angeles advertising executives during a dinner meeting in the Jonathan Club.

Le Quatte is in Los Angeles en route to Spokane to attend the Pacific Advertising Clubs Association convention. He will speak before the San Diego Advertising Club this noon and leave here for the north tomorrow.

Three obligations of the federation set forth by Le Quatte last night are to advertising as a profession or specialized business and to the men and women with professional or specialized services to sell; to advertising as an active factor in distribution, especially the kind and character and volume of distribution that provides an outlet for mass production, and for the orderly, economic transaction of general business; to advertising as an influence on life and the standards of living.

In discharging these obligations Le Quatte pointed out that "We may determine that certain things may be done to develop better human material to create and interpret advertising and put it to practical use; we may create or improve systems under which advertising may be put to work on a more highly productive basis; we may set up ethical standards for the direction and guidance of advertising toward the most sublime results in the improvement of human life and standards of living."

MRS. LANGDON HURLS CHARGE

Lawyer's Intimations Called Insult and Lie

Motion Overridden to Strike Words from Records

Wife Testifying for Actor in Note Suit Collapses

Dramatically giving the lie from the witness stand late yesterday, Mrs. Helen O'Brien Langdon tearfully denied tricking her former husband, Thomas J. O'Brien, in order to conceal improper conduct with Harry Langdon, film comedian, whom she later married. On the verge of collapse, Mrs. Langdon overrode the objections of counsel for Leo Rosencranz, Otto Emme, and O'Brien, who are suing Langdon in Superior Judge Blake's court to recover on notes aggregating $11,500, given by the film funster. Attorney Bayard Rountree moved to strike out Mrs. Langdon's impassioned answer.

"You cannot strike out an answer that protects my honor and that of my baby," cried Mrs. Langdon. Her answer was allowed to stand.

Mrs. Langdon was so overwrought at this point, that it was necessary to take a recess until she regained composure. During the day when she underwent searching cross-examination which brought out some intimate disclosures, she collapsed three times. Her most distressing admission was that, after yielding to O'Brien, from whom she had been separated, she had submitted to an operation. Langdon urged against doing so, she testified. That was in March, 1927.

"THAT'S INSULT—LIE"

Attorney Bayard Rountree, for the plaintiffs, asked if it was not a fact that Langdon and not O'Brien was responsible for her condition, and if the comedian did not give her a $1000 bill for that purpose.

"That's an insult. That's a lie," cried Mrs. Langdon. She then poured forth her vehement denial which brought the attorney's move to have her answer stricken from the record.

Earlier she testified that Langdon gave her a $1000 bill and a diamond ring for Christmas, 1926. She wore the ring in court, although she testified that she did not put it on until late in 1927. Langdon also gave her a wrist watch after her daughter, Virginia O'Brien, was returned to her by her former husband. She denied giving Langdon any present that Christmas, but said she presented O'Brien with a complete outfit of clothing.

"I never realized that I loved Mr. Langdon until he stood by me in my trouble to bring my baby back," she testified. Their love was platonic, she said, until the summer of 1927, when the film actor told her he loved her.

SMILES AND HEARTBREAKS

The O'Briens were married in 1914 in Toledo, O., where O'Brien was a steel engraver. Mrs. Langdon, then Mrs. O'Brien, came to Hollywood, where she entered picture work and met Langdon. Before doing so, she posed for an artist in New York in 1916, but she asserted yesterday that she detested posing. She was in motion-picture work from 1920 to 1927, and insisted that she was not an extra at any time, but did bit acting, earning as much as $50 a day.

On New Year's Day, 1921, she rode on a float at the Tournament of Roses as one of the six most beautiful girls in Southern California. She wrote her father-in-law it seemed like a dream. The letter was read to her yesterday, causing her to weep.

"I've smiled many times with my heart breaking," she said, weeping.

Langdon contends that he paid $15,000 cash and executed three notes to O'Brien's lawyers to avoid an alienation suit which would damage him in a picture contract and that he signed the notes to protect Mrs. Langdon and her daughter, Virginia, now 15 years of age.

Hearing will be resumed at 10 a.m. today before Judge Blake. Following conclusion of cross-examination, Langdon's attorney, Paul Schenck, will take Mrs. Langdon on redirect examination.

MUSIC RENAISSANCE IN AMERICA PREDICTED

Oscar Radin, for nearly forty years one of Broadway's leading light-opera conductors, arrived yesterday in Los Angeles to join the talking-film colony.

"Acquisition of the great singing artists and composers for the screen shows that it is taking the art of music seriously," he said, "and I look for a renaissance of music in America through this new influence. There may be certain limits in the mechanical details at this time, but perfection is not far distant."

Radin came here to fulfill a contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

PEANUT BRITTLE CAKE

One-half cupful of butter, two cupfuls of flour, one-half a teaspoonful of maple extract, three-fourths of a cupful of milk, two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, three level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, the whites of four eggs, three-fourths of a cupful of peanut brittle, measured after it has been run through the fine knife of the food chopper twice. Cream the butter, gradually add to it the sugar, creaming constantly. Sift the flour and baking powder, add it to the butter and sugar mixture alternately with the milk, then add the extract and peanut brittle, adding the brittle a little at a time, and beating it in thoroughly, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Place in oiled and floured layer-cake tins, and bake in a moderate oven.

MAPLE SYRUP FROSTING

One and one-half cupfuls of maple syrup, the whites of two eggs, boil the syrup until it will spin a thread, when dropped from the tip of the spoon. Beat the whites of the eggs until stiff and dry and pour the syrup over them very gradually, a few drops at a time, beating constantly. Beat continuously until it is stiff enough to spread over the sides and top of the cake, then sprinkle over it some of the crushed peanut brittle, and decorate with a few whole peanuts.

RASPBERRY CUP

One-half a cupful of raspberry juice, two level tablespoonfuls of gelatine, one and one-half cupfuls of water, one cupful of raspberries, two tablespoonfuls of honey. Dissolve the gelatine in the cold water then place on the fire and stir until the gelatine has dissolved. Remove from the fire, add the raspberry juice, honey and raspberries. Pour into small molds that have been rinsed out with cold water, and place in the ice box until hardened.

MOLDED HAM AND GINGER ALE SALAD

Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatine in four tablespoonfuls of cold water for five minutes. Place two cupfuls of ginger ale in a saucepan and bring it to a boil, add the gelatine, one tablespoonful of mustard, a few grains of red pepper, and three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Remove from the fire, add one cupful of finely chopped cold boiled ham, one tablespoonful of grated onion, and one-half a cupful of chopped, stuffed olives, mix well, place in an oblong mold, when hardened, cut in slices, place on a bed of lettuce, and serve with mayonnaise.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

INFLAMMATION OF THE MUCOUS MEMBRANES

The mucous membranes throughout the body show much the same symptoms when inflamed. They are readily irritated and for this reason there are very few people who do not suffer from an inflammation of some of the mucous membranes some of the time.

When you have a cold, the mucous membranes in your nose and throat are inflamed, when you have bronchitis, the mucous membranes or your bronchial tubes are inflamed; when you have gastritis, the mucous membranes in your stomach are inflamed; when you have enteritis, the mucous membranes in your intestines are inflamed; when you have sinus infection, the mucous membranes in your sinuses are inflamed; when you have cystitis, the mucous membrane of the bladder is inflamed.

Any of the mucous membranes may become inflamed as a result of local irritation, or by inflammation spreading from an adjacent region, but usually they become inflamed because the secretions passing through them are toxic and irritating and allow the development of bacteria. The greatest majority of cases are of this type. The real cause of this condition lies in a polluted blood stream, for the secretions of the mucous membranes must come from the blood and lymph, and when these are too toxic, an elimination of some of the poisons takes place through the mucous membranes and is the principal cause of their becoming inflamed.

Since there is a similar cause for all of these troubles, whether the inflammation is in the nose, throat, bronchial tubes or colon, it is not surprising that the same type of dieting regime proves helpful in all of these cases. Of course, if some local irritation is producing the inflammation, it may require local treatment, but the dietetic regime will prove effective in an amazing proportion of mucous membrane inflammations.

The first thing to do is to cleanse the blood stream by using an eliminative fast for several days. Large quantities of water should be used, but no food except orange or grapefruit juice. Enemas should be taken twice daily, and the skin should be given a shower bath followed by a brisk rub. All of these treatments are for the purpose of stimulating elimination.

The second thing to do is to remove any local cause of the irritation if there is any. That is, if there is a growth or polypus in, say, the nose, the growth should be removed surgically or treated with electricity. If adhesions or kinks are causing the irritation in the intestines, they should be treated with the right kind of manipulations. If there is no local cause of irritation, these treatments are not necessary, and any treatments given should be for the purpose of general elimination and vitality building.

The third thing to do after the eliminative fast and the treatment is to build up the blood alkalinity by diet. The patient should be taught to eat large quantities of the alkaline-forming foods, such as spinach, celery, figs, carrots, etc. He should also be taught to avoid the wrong food combinations which tend to increase acidity. This diet applies in any inflammation of the mucous membrane except in some cases where there is a severe inflammation of the intestinal tract, in which the roughage of the fruits and vegetables might produce additional irritation. In a few of these cases a milk diet is indicated. However, following the milk diet, the patient should use the above alkaline-increasing diet.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

PETER'S VAIN SEARCH

How curiosity can burn us
Regarding things that don't concern us!
—Peter Rabbit.

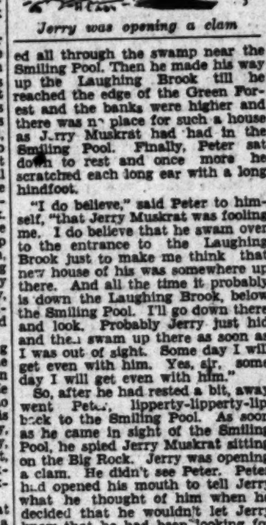
Peter Rabbit had it on the tip of his tongue to ask more questions of Jerry Muskrat, but before he could do so Jerry dived, hitting the water with his tail as he did so and startling Grandfather Frog so that the old fellow actually jumped off his big green lily-pad before he realized what the noise was. From where he sat Peter Rabbit could watch Jerry as he swam under water. When Jerry's head finally appeared above the surface it was right opposite the Laughing Brook where it enters the Smiling Pool. Jerry turned and began to swim up the Laughing Brook and in a moment disappeared.

Peter Rabbit scratched a long ear with a long hindfoot. Then he scratched the other long ear with the other long hindfoot. Peter does this when he is thinking. I suspect that he has an idea that it helps his thought. "So Jerry Muskrat as a new home," muttered Peter. "Well, if that is the case, it ought not to be hard to find. But why I haven't noticed the roof of it, I do not at all understand. Probably it is a little way up the Laughing Brook. Anyway that is the direction he took. I don't think he need be so secretive about it. It is all very well to keep secret a thing that is well hidden, but I don't see any sense in trying to keep secret something that any one who passes can see. Certainly, every one who ever visited the Smiling Pool saw Jerry Muskrat's old house and knew whose it was."

Peter slowly hopped over among the alders and made his way to the Laughing Brook. It was swampy in there and Peter got his feet wet. He didn't mind this, though he had no intention of getting more than his feet wet. He hopped along slowly, looking this way, looking that way, and looking the other way. In short, he looked every way. He was looking for a house built by Jerry Muskrat.

"Perhaps," thought Peter, "that roof will not be very high. It's a new house and perhaps he will not have built it very big yet. However, if he is living in it, it must be of fairly good size. It must be high enough for him to have a dry bed. It must be big enough for me to find it without much trouble."

But Peter didn't find it. He hunted all through the swamp near the Smiling Pool. Then he made his way up the Laughing Brook till he reached the edge of the Green Forest and the banks were higher and there was no place for such a house as Jerry Muskrat had had in the Smiling Pool. Finally, Peter sat down to rest and once more he scratched each long ear with a long hindfoot.



Jerry was opening a clam

"I do believe," said Peter to himself, "that Jerry Muskrat was fooling me. I do believe that he swam over to the entrance to the Laughing Brook just to make me think that new house of his was somewhere up there. And all the time it probably is down the Laughing Brook, below the Smiling Pool. I'll go down there and look. Probably Jerry just hid and then swam up there as soon as I was out of sight. Some day I will get even with him. Yes, sir, some day I will get even with him."

So, after he had rested a bit, away went Peter, lipperty-lipperty-lip, back to the Smiling Pool. As soon as he came in sight of the Smiling Pool, he spied Jerry Muskrat sitting on the Big Rock. Jerry was opening a clam. He didn't see Peter. Peter had opened his mouth to tell Jerry what he thought of him when he decided that he wouldn't let Jerry know that he had been looking for his house. So Peter drew back out of sight and waited until Jerry Muskrat had dived and disappeared. Then Peter hurried around to the little swamp below the Smiling Pool, and there he had no better luck than before.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, sties and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

DOES YOUR ATTITUDE TOWARD CHILD NEED TO BE CHANGED?

Perhaps no problem arises with more frequency than the "toilet problem"—the effort to get the child who can talk to indicate his desire to go to the toilet.

Many children have been trained perfectly about fourteen months on. Then something cracks. The child seems to take a willful pleasure in flouting his mother. His mother expresses it this way (and you'll all recognize that these situations are identical with those in your own home:) "He knows that he is doing wrong, and I have punished over and over for it." Or, "he comes and tells me just too late." Or, the commonest of all, "I keep him on the toilet for an hour or more, and as soon as he is off he soils his clothes."

With actions so identical in children of similar ages when obviously the homes and mothers are different, we must realize that it is the mother's characteristic reaction to these situations which prolongs them. I am certain there isn't any mother who does not react to such behavior in one or more strong, picturesque emotions. She becomes angry and spanks the child. She shames him. She acts disgusted.

If these emotions and the mother's actions were successful in helping this situation, no one would advise changing them. But no mother has ever been successful in habits by the use of any of the above emotions. She readily admits that. Why go on using them?

The reason why children act this way at this particular time is quite clear, too. For the first time they have come to realize that when they want to do a thing they can. They have power. They are individuals. Don't check this emotion, because it is a healthy one. However, you should give the child numerous ways to prove that he is now a "big boy" without the necessity for defying you in the toilet situation.

We have a leaflet called "An Analysis of Obedience and Punishment," which deals with the negativistic period, the stage at which children refuse to do many of the things they have formerly done without question, just to show that they have power. A self-addressed, stamped envelope, inclosed with your request will bring this leaflet to you and perhaps help clear up this problem and allied ones.

The child becomes immensely bored by having to drop his play or come in the house so many times a day. If, in addition, his mother keeps him on the toilet for long, dreary periods and spanks him afterward, he revolts at the whole thing and goes back to being a baby, a far more comfortable stage. The mother needs to change her whole attitude, stop punnishing, try to think of pleasant, less monotonous ways of accomplishing her purpose to stabilize the habit again, and the situation will be short-lived.

WORKING GIRLS TELL HOW THEY LIVE HERE

More than 4500 working girls are lodged each year by organized boarding homes for women in Los Angeles, a study recently completed by students in the department of sociology, University of Southern California, reveals. The survey was conducted in conjunction with the Community Welfare Federation under the supervision of Dr. George B. Mangold of U.S.C. and Alice Weeks Moore of the welfare federation.

Statistics based upon questionnaires filled out by 497 of 856 girls in residence at eighteen Los Angeles boarding homes show that the cost per resident ranges from nearly $65 down to $16 per month, depending upon accommodations. Ninety-two per cent of the girls earn a sufficient wage to pay the regular rates charged, 3 1-2 per cent pay a smaller sum and 4 1-2 per cent are temporarily kept without charge. Most of the latter group occupy "loaned" beds, for which they are eventually expected to pay.

Wages earned by the various groups of young women employed in Los Angeles vary between $16.50 and $30 per week, the study discloses. In relation to age the wages of the girls are classified as follows:

Of those earning between $16.50 and $20 per week, 23.1 per cent are 17 years of age, 24.2 per cent between 18 and 20 years, 13.2 between 21 and 30 years and 10.1 more than 30 years of age.

For those who receive from $20 to $30 per week, 15.4 per cent are 17 years of age, 15.5 between 18 and 20 years, 39.8 between 21 and 30 and 25.8 more than 30.

Thirty-eight per cent of girls under 18 earn not more than $16.50 per week.

Of the occupations pursued by the girls residing in the organized homes, stenographers and typists lead the list, followed by clerks, book-keepers, saleswomen, dressmakers, teachers, factory workers, nurses, comptometer operators, waitresses, librarians, telephone operators and laundry workers. Twenty-nine said they were connected with the moving-picture industry.

During the year to December 31, 1929, applications have been received by the homes from 5098 young women. Of these 3881 were admitted, 1164 were referred or refused for various reasons and fifty-three names remained on the waiting list.

Studio Talent to Aid Jubilee

BUDDY ROGERS

Not only are the various Hollywood motion-picture studios contributing elaborate revue numbers to the stellar program for the Hollywood Midsummer Jubilee, which takes place at Hollywood Bowl on Wednesday night, July 2, but they are also culling the ranks of available contract talent for noted individual performers.

Among newest presentations of the latter type billed for the jubilee are Buddy Rogers, Paramount star, and Mitzi Green, from the same studio. Lillian Roth, film actress, and Harry Green, Jewish character comedian, also from Paramount studios, have been signed to take part in the show.

Tickets for the jubilee, which is being given as a testimonial to the Los Angeles Sanatorium, are now on sale at official headquarters, 6769 Hollywood Boulevard, at all film studios and at all Gittleson Brothers, Equity and Lloyd Mitchell branch ticket agencies.

ZESTFUL RELISHES AROUSE APPETITES IN WARM WEATHER

Pickles, Ketchup and Jelly Make Balanced Meals More Inviting

Summer heat often lessens the desire for food. However, body vigor must be maintained in hot weather as well as cold. Meals, therefore, must be planned to make folks hungry.

The spicy zest of ketchup, chow-chow or pickles, the tart-sweet taste of cool jellies or jam can be counted upon to set appetites in motion. By serving these relishes frequently with meat, fish, potatoes and green vegetables, a new interest will be taken in these foods.

Many relishes can be mixed in French or mayonnaise dressings with delicious results. For example, equal parts of chili sauce and mayonnaise make the zestful Russian dressing. When such dressings are served on vegetable, fruit, meat or fish salads, these wholesome foods are hard to resist.

Sugar plays an important part in the preparation of most relishes. It unifies all kinds of flavors into delicious goodness. Think of this as you plan the family menus. A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is a simple, inexpensive and dietetically correct way to increase the taste-appeal of vegetables, stews and salad dressings. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

FRECKLES

The Best Way to Fade Out These Rusty-Brown Spots

If you are tired of being called "Freckle-Face," here's your chance to get rid of every last one of the rusty spots and gain the clear, beautiful complexion you desire.

Simply use Othine in the privacy of your home. After a few nights' treatment with this dainty white cream, you will see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It's seldom that more than a jar of Othine is needed to clear the skin of these homely blemishes.

Be sure to ask at any drug or department store for Othine double strength. It's always sold with guarantee of money back if it does not fade out even the worst freckles and give you a lovely, milk-white complexion. — [Advertisement]

Posing as Single Laid to Husband

A soloist in matrimony was the public pose of Lawrence D. Waldon, orchestra leader, of Long Beach, according to charges of his wife, Mrs. Paloma L. Waldon, who sued for divorce, asserting that he passed himself as single when he stepped out. She also asserted that, although her husband receives from $250 to $1000 a month, she never has received a cent from him since he left her.

Superior Judge Tappaan granted Mrs. Waldon a decree. The Waldons were married in August, 1919, and separated last February.

WALTER WRITES FOR PATHE STAR

Universal Buys Burnett's Crime Tale, "Bullet Proof;" Perry Askam Slated to Appear in New Warner Film; Jean Arthur Signs for "The Silver Horde"

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Ann Harding's many fans will be delighted to learn that she has now fully recovered from a severe attack of laryngitis and that she is able to resume work before the camera.

ANN HARDING

Incident a l l y, she has taken possession of her new home in Beverly Hills.

The first role Miss Harding will undertake will be in her next Pathe starring vehicle, "The Greater Love," by Eugene Walter, noted playwright, author of "The Easiest Way," "Paid in Full," "Fine Feathers" and other successful dramas. "The Greater Love" is an original screen story, written especially for Miss Harding.

So far no leading man or director has been chosen, but it is expected that choice of one or both of these important persons will be selected within a few days. Waldemar Young is writing the scenario.

UNIVERSAL SECURES UNDERWORLD STORY

There are unwerworld stories and underworld stories, as one might say, but W. R. Burnett's are, perhaps, just a little better than a lot of others.

So Universal officials feel that they are making no mistake in buying Burnett's story of crime characters called "Bullet Proof."

Just who will appear in the picture is not yet settled, but it is intended that an all-star cast shall uphold the work of the story.

Perry Askam at Warners

If nothing goes amiss with Warner Brothers plans, it is intended that Perry Askam, who won favor in the lead in the Albertson-Macloon p r o - duction of "The Desert Song," will play the lead in a new musical to be produced by the above - named picture concern.

PERRY ASKAM

Just what this is is being kept a secret, but one suspects that it is the new Romberg - Hammerstein musical which that famous combination has just completed.

In the meantime, Askam has just completed the leading male role in "Sweet Kitty Bellaires."

Jean Arthur With R.-K.-O.

So well does R.-K.-O. like Jean Arthur, that the organization has borrowed her once more from Paramount.

JEAN ARTHUR

This t i m e Miss Arthur will have the ingenue lead in "T h e Silver Horde," from R e x Beach's novel, which G e o r g e Archainbaud will direct, w i t h Evelyn Brent and Joel McC r e a in t h e leading romantic roles.

It is likely that the picture will be filmed near Sitka, Alaska, where a location man from R.-K.-O. has discovered a wonderful background for the action of the story.

Others in important roles in the picture are Raymond Hatton and Louis Wolheim. The picture will, of course, be a talker.

Andreas Dippel With M.-G.-M.

One of the most noted of opera stars, musicians and recording experts has been added to the music department at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios in the person of Andreas Dippel, we learned yesterday. Dippel is a veteran of the Metropolitan Operahouse and once administrative manager, tenor star of 100 operas, pioneer opera star of the phonograph, and altogether one of the outstanding musical personalities of the day.

Dippel, who started his career in 1897 as leading tenor in the Municipal Opera of Bremen, Germany, has sung in London, Paris, New York, Chicago, Bayreuth and St. Petersburg. He was organizer and general director of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, and as an impressario was responsible for the rise of Titta Ruffo, Luisa Tetrazzini and other famous singers.

The musician has joined the M.-G.-M. concern as musical composer, adviser and director. There is also a possibility that he may appear personally in a film.

Louise Fazenda Busy

Louise Fazenda will celebrate the day after Fourth of July by starting her first production in the series in which she is to be starred by Larry Darmour.

On July 5 Miss Fazenda commences work in "Pure and Simple," a two-reel comedy, under the direction of Phil Whitman, and following this short she is scheduled to star in five others, all of which are to be released by R.-K.-O.

Irene Franklin to Europe

Irene Franklin and her husband, Jerry Jarnagin, who have been making a big hit this year in "Sweet Adeline," back in New York, are to take a trip to Europe this summer, according to a letter just received from them. However, before leaving, they will take a short tour in vaudeville.

Million Dollar Books Parade of Film Stars

Fifteen hundred incandescent lights blazing beneath a tier of wide steps and making them appear a mass of flaming color add to the spectacle of one of the brief interludes in "Paramount on Parade," starting at the Million Dollar Theater tomorrow. The scene is part of the "Show Girls on Parade" number.

Among those in the cast of the ambitious film are Richard Arlen, Fay Wray, Clara Bow, William Powell, Maurice Chevalier, Jean Arthur, Evelyn Brent, Ruth Chatterton, James Hall, Dennis King, Helen Kane, Jack Oakie, Warner Oland and Lillian Roth.

The vaudeville this week is headed by a stage revue.

Pantages Books Cooper Vehicle

With Gary Cooper in "The Texan" as the feature screen attraction and Fanchon and Marco's "Seeing-Double Idea," enlarged with additional singers and dancers, the Pantages Hollywood Theater will offer a well-balanced program during the week commencing tomorrow.

Replete with action, "The Texan" is said to offer Gary Cooper greater opportunities than did his recent film, "The Virginian." Fay Wray portrays Cooper's sweetheart.

This week, in accordance with a regular policy, Pantages Hollywood will augment the Fanchon and Marco stage presentation with its own group of dancing girls and a trained singing chorus. Slim Martin will conduct the orchestra.

"BACK PAY" COMING TO DOWNTOWN

Corinne Griffith Stars in First National Film Starting Friday

Corinne Griffith's latest starring vehicle, "Back Pay," a First National Production, is to be the next attraction at Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater, starting a week's engagement Friday.

Miss Griffith who has played many roles on both the silent and talking screen in the past, has mostly been cast in parts that displayed her beauty, but in this picture she has the opportunity of appearing in a really dramatic role, it is said. The story of "Back Pay" was written by Fannie Hurst.

Also appearing in the cast are Grant Withers, Montagu Love, Vivian Oakland, Hallam Cooley and Virginia Sale. William Seiter directed.

"Hearts in Exile" closes Thursday.

Producers Bid for 'Decency' Rights in East

Appreciating the showmanship and literary talents in Los Angeles, New York theatrical producers more than ever are turning their attentions toward the west coast for likely fare for Broadway.

"Decency," authored by Arthur Gregor, Hollywood writer and screen director, and now in its final week at the Mayan Theater, is the newest "home-grown" stage offering to command the interest of the eastern theatrical group, and, from present indications, it seems likely that Broadway will soon house another "made-in-Los Angeles" stage attraction.

It is understood that two prominent New York producers have made bids for staging the new play in the fall and it is intimated by Gregor that the piece may be taken east after the completion of its local run.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

ONE of the midsummer or early fall productions in Los Angeles, I am told, will be "Young Love," Samson Raphaelson's comedy which, with Dorothy Gish and James Rennie, did eight months in New York during the 1928-1929 season.

Three entrepreneurs of the local production field are angling for the right to produce the play. One is Al Cohn, who is better known as a screen writer than as a producer, but who seems definitely interested in the project. Another is Emerson Treacy, who would play the Rennie role. Still another is working through Ed C. Rowland of the Hollywood Playhouse, with the thought of putting the comedy in that theater at popular prices.

Overtures have been made to Dorothy Gish to come west to take the role of Fay Hillary which she created and which she has said is one of her favorites. Miss Gish is now in New York with her mother, an invalid, with whom one or the other of the Gish girls always stays. Inasmuch as Lillian is in Europe, it may be impossible to bring Dorothy to the Coast.

Mr. Raphaelson, the author, who happens to be in Hollywood (writing for Universal, he is, right now) will have the final say on the production. He doesn't want it done, he says, unless it is cast as near perfectly as possible. There are only four characters.

Mr. Raphaelson wrote "The Jazz Singer," which was a neat success on the stage, but which made motion-picture history when it reached the screen with Al Jolson. He wrote "Harlem," too, and has a new play, as yet unproduced, which may follow "Young Love." Incidentally, "Young Love" is out in book form with an introduction by Joseph Wood Krutch.

"Little Accident" May Happen Again

There is talk of producing "The Little Accident," the Floyd Dell and Thomas Mitchell comedy, at the Hollywood Playhouse. Richard Marshall, formerly general manager for Henry Duffy, is behind the move. Marshall just finished putting on this play in Oakland at one of the former Duffy theaters. It is said to be doing excellent business.

"The Little Accident" has, however, been in Los Angeles before. Mitchell brought it with most of the members of the original company to the Belasco about a year ago.

While on the subject of rumors, another is that the Hollywood Playhouse will go stock, with a change of program every two weeks. For the present it is dark, although a Warner Brothers troupe, shooting night scenes, had its marquee ablaze with lights last Monday evening.

Ben-Ami at Biltmore

The Yiddish Art Theater, with Ben-Ami as star, is moving into the Biltmore Theater, Sunday, the 29th inst., with the avowed intention of presenting "Jew Suss," from the novel, "Power," by Leon Feuchtwanger; "Samson and Delilah," by Sven Lange; "Green Fields," by Perets Hirshbein, and a new comedy by one of the younger writers.

Ben-Ami, a well-known performer in the East, recently finished a season with Eva Le Gallienne at the Civic Repertory Theater in New York. He first did "Samson and Delilah," his best-known performance in New York about ten years ago, making his debut under Arthur Hopkins. Several seasons ago he appeared in four plays with the Theater Guild. He also toured the country in George Tyler's revival of "Diplomacy."

Arrivals and Departures

Ernest Macauley, who is said to be the owner of the play, "The Last Mile," and who is known along New York's rialto, is in town as the guest of Louis O. Macloon. With the local producer and Joey Keith, a friend, Macauley is flying north Friday to see the Albertson-Macloon production of "The Student Prince" at the Curran . . . Louis Horst, who is to act as accompanist for Agnes De Mille in the dancer's first Los Angeles recital on the 24th inst., arrives here tomorrow from Seattle to begin rehearsals. Horst used to be accompanist for Ruth St. Denis . . . Elise Bartlett, one of the prime workers in the Civic Repertory Theater this year, is startin gout on a long vacation on the 30th inst. She boards a boat from here on that date which will take her to New York via the Panama Canal, touching Mexican, South American and Cuban ports en route.

Schildkraut in New York

The latest bulletin on Joseph Schildkraut's return to the stage is that it will be made in the East. Charles L. Wagner told New York writers yesterday that "The Tyrant," by Rafael Sabatini, which he originally planned to do first on the Coast with the actor as star, will now be tried in New York in the fall.

"Shadow of the Law" Approaches

"SWING HIGH" ANNOUNCED

"Swing High," a film of circus life, has been announced by the Orpheum Theater as its next attraction. The new picture will open Saturday, following the close of "Captain of the Guard," which stars John Boles and Laura La Plante.

"Swing High" boasts a versatile cast including in its roster Helen Twelvetrees, Fred Scott, Dorothy Burgess, Ben Turpin, Chester Conklin and Stepin Fetchit.

The entire story takes place under the big tops of a traveling circus and is laid in the early days of the present century when circuses were more colorful than at any time in theatrical history.

"Swing High" comes from Pathe studios and is the first of a series of specials being turned out by that organization. It was directed by Joseph Santley.

Beery Raises Voice Above Noise of Gun

Wallace Beery had the unique experience, in his first talking role, of talking louder than a machine gun.

In "The Big House," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film drama coming on the 25th inst., to the Criterion Theater, Beery figured in the first use of a discovery by which the human voice and machinegun fire could be recorded simultaneously.

"It was hard enough to have to face the microphone the first time anyhow," said Beery, "but when it was to the accompaniment of a gun it was terrible. Although the microphone could record the voice, I could not hear myself speak, and so had no idea at all what my voice sounded like in those scenes until I heard it from the screen."

Beery, is said to play Butch, a gangster, with a whimsical sense of humor in the new picture. Throughout the dramatic action he uses his unique flair of comedy to turn the tide of dramatic thrills. Chester Morris, Leila Hyams, Robert Montgomery, Lewis Stone, George Marion and De Witt Jennings are in the cast of the new film which George Hill directed. Frances Marion is the author.

Interest Shown in Film Coming to California

According to the management of the California Theater, the forthcoming run of the picture, "White Cargo," which starts its first western showing there Friday, is already creating an unusual amount of interest.

In the talking version of "White Cargo" none of the vivid realism or colorful romance of the stage play, on which it is based, is omitted, it is said.

The story concerns a group of white men in the tropics.

R.K.O. Comics to Attend Club

Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, R.-K.-O. comedians, will be guests of honor at George Olsen's new club tonight, on which occasion a gala program of new songs and dances will be presented.

As a highlight of the event, George Olsen and his music will feature a special medley of popular selections from "Rio Rita," "Cuckoos," and other productions, dedicated to Wheeler and Woolsey.

WRITING ORIGINAL

Richard Halfburton, who wrote "The Royal Road to Romance," is reported to be writing an original story for John Boles.

Hodgson Keeps Busy on Stage

The record of having had only twenty-three weeks of leisure over a period of eight years is held by Layland Hodgson, who is appearing in an important part with Minna Gombell in "Nancy's Private Affair," the stage comedy playing at El Capitan Theater.

"For eight consecutive years I played in Australia," Hodgson says, "with only those few weeks of leisure from engagements. After that I went to the Orient, where I almost duplicated that record over a period of seven years."

Hodgson, whose acting career began on the London stage, recently came west from New York to play a role in "The Case of Sergt. Grischa" and was recently seen opposite Lenore Ulric in "East of Suez" at the Belasco Theater.

"Arizona Kid" Closes Tonight

The exploits of "The Arizona Kid" will end with tonight's performances at the Boulevard Theater. "The Floradora Girl" starts tomorrow.

Lawrence Gray, Ilka Chase, Louis John Bartels, Walter Catlett, Nance O'Neill, Jed Prouty, Claude Allister and others have roles.

A new F. and M. revue will be presented on the stage.

BEAUTY ATTRACTS

Claudia Dell's beauty is winning her new admirers each day, it is said. A recently published photograph of this Warner Brothers star in one of the prominent fan magazines has resulted in the formation of twenty-two "Claudia Dell fan clubs" throughout the East, according to announcement.

HOLLYWOOD LOCALE FOR NEW FILM

Further Exploits of Dixie Dugan Promised in Next Warner Picture

"Show Girl in Hollywood," J. P. McEvoy's story, with a cast of players including Alice White, Jack Mulhall, Blanche Sweet, Ford Sterling and John Miljan, comes to Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater Friday.

"Show Girl in Hollywood" is the further adventures of Dixie Dugan, Broadway chorine. During the course of the picture a complete tour of a motion-picture studio is made. Mervyn LeRoy, the director, has included everything from the first story conference, a yes men's chorus, workings of the sound equipment, right up to the editing, preview and premiere.

"Show Girl in Hollywood" is said to be a typical story of typical people.

Prologue May Become Stage Revue in East

Film fans of New York are clamoring for "Hell's Angels," according to wires and letters received from more than a score of theater owners by Sid Grauman, official sponsor of the Howard Hughes air epic.

The Hollywood impresario's latest thought is to use two playhouses when he goes into New York. One will house the picture, the other the spectacular prologue now showing at Grauman's Chinese Theater. It is the Hollywood showman's plan to build the prologue into an elaborate revue.

With such headliners as Mitchell and Durant, the Albertina Rasch dancers, Fortunello and Circillino, Adler and Brandford, a grand opera quintette gone Hollywood, Brengk's Golden Horse, and the Abbott Dancers, Grauman believes he has the major units of an outstanding attraction.

SIXTY BIBLE STUDENTS GRADUATED

World Wants Men Who Stick to Their Job, Speaker Tells Institute Class

Commencement exercises at the Bible Institute last night brought diplomas to sixty young men and women who had completed the two-year course, and to six members of the evening classes who have finished the three-year course of training for Christian work in the local and foreign missionary field. In addition to this group there were four graduates who have been trained in the Christian service medical course.

"The world wants a man who sticks to his job and knows it from beginning to end," Dr. Herbert Booth Smith told the graduates last night. "A balloon is carried along by the winds and turned aside from its course, but the steamboat plows its way steadily through rough seas, because it has an engine which is stronger than the contrary winds.

"The engine you need on board is the grace and power of Almighty God. We have men among us today who want to keep on good terms with both God and the world, but it is better to start out on the straight track than to swing back and forth between two points and cling to neither."

Those graduating from the two-year course were:

Marjorie Alabaster, Ruth Allen, Ashavnie Boyajian, Lila Borden, Doris Coffin, Frieda Claassen, Bertha Davie, Agnes Dueck, Anna Dyck, Sarah Forman, Muriel Hatch, Anna Heine, Lily Heminway, Elisabeth Hillhouse, Grace Hillman, Helen Hubbard, Helen Hunt, Lucy Kilgore, Ruby Larson, Kathryn Louthan, Rose Martines, Stella Mobley, Carolyn Myers, Pearl Neufeld, Pearl Platt, Helen Randall, Gertrude Reese, Justina Schmidt, Lena Schultz, Mary Ellen Scovel, Hazel Shively, Kathryn Smith, Florence Turner, Della White, Carl Anderson, Dan Berg, Carlton Buck, George Gubler, Stephen Churchwell, Leonard Ellers, John Glover Fee, Isaac Friesen, Norman Gundry, Urban Hall, Albert Ikeda, Mitsuo Ikeda, Russell Piper, Ernest Ralston, Richard Reisart, Eugene Riddle, Gilbert Ridley, George Salisbury, Wilford Smith, Preston Sowell, Eric Walden, Jack E. Wells, Herbert Wiens, Richitaro Yamamoto.

Students who had finished the medical course are Kathryn Dick, Elizabeth Griswold, Martha Hadley Thorman and B. Eugene Tanner. The evening school graduates are Lillian Burkman, Mrs. K. M. F. Cleaves, Pauline Woodson, George B. McAleese, Robert Nixon and Carl Wiedow.

Four Girls Flee Juvenile Hall in Night Hours

Fulfilling a boast she made when police apprehended her as a delinquent May 21, last, Mrs. Pauline Williams, 17 years of age, of Mt. Pleasant, Tex., yesterday escaped from Juvenile Hall at 1639 Henry street. Three other delinquents accompanied her on the dash to freedom. They are Dolores Allen, 18, Juanita Macell, 16, and Democa Dowis, 15. The four effected their escape by climbing out a window, crossing the institution yard and scaling a fence shortly before daybreak.

Mrs. Williams, clad in male attire, was taken in custody by Detective Captain Allen of the missing persons detail. She boasted that she could "get out of better jails than you can find to put me in."

RIVER TO WEAR STRAIGHT LINES

San Gabriel's Curves Will Be Eliminated

Steps Taken to Slice Off Its Bulges Next Spring

Condemnation Suits Will Be Pushed at Once

Engineers will begin the work of straightening the lower end of the San Gabriel River to control the flood waters of the erratic stream as soon as the rains cease next spring, according to a statement yesterday of officials of the Los Angeles County Flood Control District.

The legal machinery of the department was set in motion at once following the assurance of the day before of Supervisor Quinn that the sum of $661,000 will be included in the 1930-1931 county budget to be used for buying land and for the cost of building levees. Pending suits to condemn land on each side of the river, in Los Angeles and Orange counties, will be prosecuted at once, according to Roy E. Dowd, counsel for the flood-control district. Eight parcels of property will have to be condemned, he said.

The improvement, which calls for a straightening out of the river's channel for a distance of some 4000 feet, with a width of 400 feet, will cut out a large bend in the stream. When finished, flood waters will be made to flow direct to the east end of Alamitos Bay instead of to the west end.

A bond issue voted in 1924 permitted the county to make improvements as far as the Bixby ranch. Since then there has been no money available for the improvement of the lower river. It is this work that will now be done.

of a committee for the Venice operators in an effort to make effective the oil curtailment program and to establish a price for the oil in that field.

Chairman Boggs spoke highly of the work of the umpires and praised the operators whose efforts have contributed to the success of the curtailment program. He stated that the movement is under better control than at any time since its inception, the State being only slightly over the set production figure of 566,000 barrels a day.

Herbert R. Macmillan, president of the California Oil and Gas Association, commenting on the meeting, said: "I have never attended a meeting of the general committee in which a better spirit prevailed. California, for the first time in many months, has gotten a most difficult situation well in hand. It appears to me that stabilization of the oil industry is near. Now that the situation has been satisfactorily adjusted at Santa Fe Springs, bringing the production of the entire State within the curtailment program, I anticiapte that within a few days retail market conditions will be adjusted."

BUCKEYES TO MEET

The Buckeyes will meet tomorrow evening in the Goldberg-Bosley Ball-room, Sixteenth and Flower streets.

PORTER RECITES THRIFT MOVES

Department Changes Saved Large Sums, Says Mayor

Administration Progress Reviewed Over Radio

Civil Service System for Police Assailed

That reorganization of several of the departments of the city government has resulted in the saving of thousands of dollars to Los Angeles taxpayers, was the declaration of Mayor Porter in the course of an address broadcast last night over radio station KNX.

Mayor Porter in his address reviewed the progress of the city administration since he took office, with particular reference to the Board of Public Works, the police and water departments. He said that his attempt to end excessive costs and too liberal spending in public works through a reorganization of that department, brought a political conflict, "that very nearly brought about my undoing."

CIVIL SERVICE SCORED

Turning his attention to the police department, the Mayor criticised the present system of civil service control of discipline. He said the civil service rules are a detriment to the police service in that they operate more as a curb to the proper discipline of the whole department rather than as a protection to the individual men.

"Along with the growth of Los Angeles there has come the very important problem of sufficie.it water supplies," Mayor Porter said. "In the early days, the underground reservoirs here were ample to supply the needs of the community, but with the growing city—perhaps the most rapid of any city in the history of the world, has come the necessity of providing enough water."

WATER FUNDS EXPLAINED

The Mayor told of the work of the water and power departments in the Mono Basin and Owens Valley and explained the use to which the funds from the recently voted water bonds will be put.

"It would be well worth the time of any citizen of Los Angeles to make the trip to the mountain sources of our water supply and see for themselves what we are doing. The trip itself is a beautiful one and our people are very welcome to visit the dams, reservoirs and inspect the wonderfully interesting machinery in our power plants."

Delay Granted in Victory Park Property Suit

Continuance of the suit, brought by property owners of the Victory Park No. 2 assessment district to halt acquisition of property, was granted yesterday by Superior Judge Tappaan, who set the case over to July 14.

The suit is directed against the city of Los Angeles and city officials. The plaintiffs, Jessie Ivers, Catherine Ivers, F. W. McNamara, Frank Rogers and others, are represented by Attorney Roy A. Linn. These plaintiffs contend that the condemnation proceedings were invalid because of defective legal service, and that the site for the park never was approved officially by the City Park Commission. Until the hearing is concluded, city officials are restrained from proceeding with the work.

Willatt Hints at No-Contest

Indicating that Irvin Willatt, recently sued by his wife, Billie Dove, for divorce, will not contest the case, Attorney Sam Wolf, for the defendant, entered an appearance yesterday, and so put the case in position to be tried.

If this action had not been taken it would have been necessary to wait for service by publication, as Willatt is in the East.

GOODRICH OFFICIAL LEAVES FOR AKRON

F. E. Titus, general salesmanager for the Pacific Goodrich Rubber Company, left yesterday for Akron to attend conferences of executives of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company. From Akron he will go to Washington and New York, whence he will sail for Los Angeles via the Panama Canal. He is accompanied by Mrs. Titus and their son Woodruff, a student at Stanford University.

MAJ. BENEDICT FILES FOR ASSEMBLY RACE

Maj. Frank E. Benedict, former Assistant Prohibition Administrator for the district of Southern California and Arizona, yesterday filed with the Registrar of Voters a nominating petition for the State Assembly from the Fifty-fifth District. Maj. Benedict will oppose Attorney M. M. Golden and former Police Captain L. L. McClary.

CLOSED ROAD LAW ASKED

A new ordinance providing for penalizing motorists who pay no heed to "closed" road signs on county highways and insist on driving on roads under construction, was requested yesterday of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors by George L. Jones, county road commissioner.

Following the receipt of the request the board, on motion of Supervisor Shaw, instructed County Counsel Mattoon to draft a measure to submit to the body for consideration.

MATTOON WILL SPEAK

County Counsel Mattoon will be the principal speaker today at the annual convention of the District Attorneys' Association of California at Lake Arrowhead. Franklin Swart, District Attorney of San Mateo county, will preside. Mattoon will speak on "Civil Legal Phases of County Government."

Hollywooders Take Contest by Score of 4 to 3

All Three Red Runs Result on Circuit Wallops

BY BOB RAY

Old Hankus-Pankus Hulvey, who was left at home when the Stars went up to San Francisco last week, stepped out and hurled Hollywood to a 4-to-3 triumph over the Missions in yesterday's Wrigley Field series opener. Hulvey held the hard-hitting Reds to five scattered hits, and the only way the Missions could score off him was by hitting home runs.

HANK HULVEY

Johnny Monroe, who got three of the quintet of safeties off Hulvey, made two of his hits good for the circuit, while Fred Hofman accounted for the other Mission marker with a drive over the left-field wall. In all of the other rounds the Reds never advanced a runner past first, so subdued did Hankus-Pankus keep the forces of Radiant Red Killefer, Hermosa's hermit.

On the other hand, the Stars got but one home run during the day, but they couldn't have picked a more propitious spot to get their circuit clout. Cleo Carlyle, Sheik center fielder, hit the homer and hit it in the first inning when the bases happened to be densely populated by Jesse Hill, Otie Brannon and Mickey Heath. A bit of quick finger arithmetic will soon reveal that Carlyle's blow was therefore good for four runs, all the Stars made during the day, but enough at that.

TOUGH FOR KNOTT

It was a tough blow for young Mr. Knott, the Mission deceiver, but it probably taught him a lesson about when and where to permit the opposition to hit home runs. Here Hankus-Pankus Hulvey let the Reds have three homers and suffered not a bit from his generosity. The difference was that Hankus-Pankus saw to it that

Washington Varsity Eight Shatters All Records for Two-Mile Course in Madison Races

MADISON (Wis.) June 17. (AP)—University of Washington crews were on their way to the Poughkeepsie regatta tonight after defeating Wisconsin—the Midwest's hope—in three races here today.

Exhibiting all the power and rowing skill that made them Pacific Coast champions, the Washington varsity eight swept over a two-mile course in 10m. 14s. to shatter all records for that distance here. The Badgers stroked the course in 10m. 25s.

Backing up Washington's varsity oarsmen were the junior varsity and freshmen crews, both of which beat out the Badger shells over the rain and wind-swept course. The victorious junior varsity and freshmen crews negotiated the course in 10m. 32.5s. and 10m. 36s., respectively. The Badgers came through in 11m. and 10m. 46s.

The record-breaking time of the Husky senior boat stamped the westerners as a real threat for the rowing classic on the Hudson the 26th inst. With long powerful sweeps the varsity eight jumped into an early lead today, never to be headed. Wisconsin spurted at the half-way mark when a length and a half separated the two shells, but the effort was repulsed by the westerners. At the finish mark the Huskies were almost three lengths ahead of the Badgers.

Washington's junior varsity finished almost seven lengths ahead of their opponents for the widest margin of victory during the day. Wis-

BRITAIN'S HOPE

A long-suffering English public today hails Archie Compston, gangling home-bred professional, as the white hope of Great Britain against America's great array of stars in the open championship at Hoylake. Compston yesterday won medal laurels in the thirty-six-hole qualifying test with a brilliant score of 141. The first round of the seventy-two-hole medal event starts this morning. [P. & A. photo]

GIANT BRITON HAS CARD OF 141 FOR TWO ROUNDS

Bobby Jones and All Others in American Contingent Qualify for Tough 72-Hole Test

BY FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOYLAKE, (Eng.) June 17. (AP)—Archie Compston, giant golfer from the English midlands, with medal rounds of 70-71—141, led the qualifying round for the British open, with Bobby Jones and seven other Americans trailing him.

All the serious contenders from the United States, Leo Diegel, Horton Smith and Macdonald Smith, professionals, and Jones, George Von Elm, Don Moe and F. C. Stevens, Jr., the amateurs, were tonight in the select company of 112, who comprised the 100 lowest scores and ties for the hundredth place.

LEO DIEGEL

Others of the 290-odd who started yesterday are free to go home with their alibis, while the rest fight the real championship battle—seventy-two holes medal play—during the coming three days.

Compston not only led the field but Henry Cotton, young British pro, was second with 143, and W. T. Twine, former Kent professional champion and yesterday's leader, stood third at 144.

With the first three places occupied by Britons there was a tremor of rising hopes that after all there was a chance to regain the old country's long lost open title which has gone across the Atlantic in eight of the last nine years.

Diegel was tied for fourth with Percy Allis at 145 to lead the American group, while George Von Elm tied with Cyril Tolley with 147

Horton Smith, who was one of the early starters here, had 75 yesterday at Wallasey, so that he had nothing to fear if he remained decently steady today.

NIGHT BASEBALL NOT WANTED IN ST. PAUL

ST. PAUL (Minn.) June 17. (AP)—Night baseball will not be played by St. Paul of the American Association.

This statement was made here today by Robert J. Connery, owner of the local club on his return from the East where he witnessed night games at Indianapolis.

"Night baseball will accomplish nothing, but will ruin a great game," said Mr. Connery. "I take this view of the situation after seeing games played at night under the most favorable conditions. There is something lacking.

"Proponents of the night contests will find that it is difficult to change the habits of the American baseball public overnight. The greatest number of objections are from the players. They find it difficult to adjust themselves to the new conditions.

"I still have to find anything that can improve on sunlight."

EICHELBERGER LEADS IN CALIFORNIA QUALIFYING PLAY WITH SCORE OF 70

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Harry Eichelberger, Jr., of the Los Angeles Country Club, former Southern California junior champion, yesterday led a field of 237 qualifiers for the annual California Country Club invitation tournament with a score of 34-36—70, two under par.

FAY COLEMAN

The young Los Angeles golfer came in late in the afternoon to nose out W. L. "Bill" Jelliffe of Girard, who enjoyed a brief reign in first place with 35-36—71.

Led by Fay Coleman of California, Southern California amateur champion, an additional 130 golfers will shoot at Eichelberger's mark today.

Match play starts tomorrow in ten flights, continuing through Sunday when finals will be played in all flights. Those in the championship and first flights only will play two rounds on Saturday.

SCORING EXCELLENT

With cool weather prevailing, and the course in perfect trim, scoring was excellent. D. P. O'Keefe of California trailed Jelliffe with a 74, and Charles "Chuck" Berdrow, 17-year-old Fox Hills golfer, was fourth with 75. The 76 bracket included such well-known golfers as Ed R. Hurst of California, Jack Mac-

CLEVELAND, June 17. (AP)—The New York Yankees continued their heavy bombardment of Cleveland pitchers today, taking the third and last game of the series, 17 to 2.

Twenty-one hits, including Lou Gehrig's eighteenth homer of the season rang off the Yankee bats as Clint Brown, Pete Jablonowski, Ken Holloway and Sal Gliatto paraded from the bull pen to the pitcher's mound and back again.

Gehrig, Combs and Rice led the New York attack, each getting four hits. Score:

BRAVES BEST

BOSTON, June 17. (AP)—Aided by Fred Frankhouse, who came here today from the Cardinals, the Braves managed to take a double-header from the Cincinnati Reds. The scores were 6 to 4 and 10 to 5.

Frankhouse, who came here with Sherdel in a trade which sent Burleigh Grimes to St. Louis, made his debut in the sixth inning of the first game, which Bob Smith and Ed Brandt were letting slip away from them.

Eppa Rixey failed to hold a three-run lead in the second game and the heavy-hitting Braves garnered sixteen safeties off three pitchers before the game was over. Score:

BUCS BATTERED

PHILADELPHIA, June 17. (AP)—Lefty O'Doul's tenth-inning single broke up a pitcher's battle and gave the Phillies a 5-to-4 decision over the Pirates today.

Chester Nichols and Larry French locked in a hurlers' duel, and although hit hard at times, kept the blows well scattered.

Chuck Klein, after going hitless the first three times at bat, connected with a single in the eighth inning to run his consecutive game hitting to twenty-six. Pie Traynor hit a home run in the sixth—the inning in which the Pirates scored all of their runs.

O'Doul's single in the tenth scored Denny Southern, who led off the round with a single and advanced to second on an infield out.

SOLONS SLAPPED

ST. LOUIS, June 17. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns won from the Washington Senators, 12 to 9, here today in a game which developed into a free-hitting, free-scoring contest in the final innings. The victory gave the Browns the series, three games out of four.

The Browns went into the eighth inning with a 6-to-4 lead, as a result of Goose Goslin's first homer since changing over to St. Louis, and piled six more runs atop their lead. The Senators answered the challenge by scoring five runs in the ninth, just three short of a tie. Cronin also hit for the circuit.

CHICAGO, June 17. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox defeated the White Sox, 8 to 5, here today and swept the three-game series.

Three Chicago pitchers were ineffective the first two innings during which Boston scored six of its runs. Caraway worked the rest of the way.

The game ended the White Sox' first home stand against the eastern clubs with only four victories in twelve games.

It was the fifth time in six games this year that Boston beat the White Sox.

Pivot Gives Flat Arc to Golf Swing

BY SOL METZGER

Bobby Jones has stated that he concentrates on hitting straight through the ball, his club head going through it on the direction line. He says that when he feels he is hitting through from inside the line, as we are told to do by most instructors, he usually hooks.

In short, Bobby feels that his club head meets the ball as in the accompanying illustration. If this is exactly what takes place in his case, then J. Parmley Paret's theory is correct. Our pivots, he claims (which certainly send the body forward at the hips when we swing through,) cause the arcs of our swings to flatten as we go through the ball.

Have you used up two or three strokes trying to get out of a sand trap? Perhaps Sol Metzger's leaflet on "The Explosion Shot" will aid you in cutting down your score. Write for it in care of The Times and inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

BAECHT TAMES SEALS, 9 TO 1

Dittmar was being thrown out. He scored on Harper's hit to center.

Sigafoos hit a home run in the sixth. Moore and Dittmar followed with singles but Harper hit into a double-play and Jacobs struck out.

The Angels cinches the game by scoring four in the seventh. Schulmerich got a double and Haney singled. Baecht struck out. Sigafoos was walked. Johnny Moore then cleaned up with a home run over the right-field screen.

A double by Harper and a single by Haney scored a run in the eighth. Baker batted for Turpin in the eighth and Perry pitched the ninth inning for the Seals. He walked Hannah and the latter was forced by Baecht. Sigafoos struck out, but Moore, Dittmar and Harper singled, two runs scoring. Dittmar was thrown out at third trying to get there from first base on Harper's hit. The score:

KASSABAIN TO FIGHT PEREGRINA TONIGHT

William Kassabain, Armenian 165-pounder, will get his first real chance as a main-eventer tonight when he meets Joe Peregrina at the Wilmington Bowl. Peregrina will be favored to win. He is more experienced than his opponent and a better boxer. Both are great punchers.

A portion of the receipts of tonight's bouts will be donated to a trust fund being raised for the three orphaned children of Motorcycle Officer and Mrs. Brooks Gibson. The parents lost their lives in a traffic accident a week ago.

Frankie Boldt and Kenny LaSalle, hard-hitting lightweights, box the six-round semi-wind-up tonight and Zenaydo Chavez and Jackie Stewart, 150-pounders, box the six-round special.

BARRON, REISTER TO MIX AT SOUTH GATE

Two of the hardest-hitting lightweights on the Coast at the present time, Dario Barron and Bobby Reister, will step eight rounds or less in the main event at South Gate tomorrow night with Reister a slight favorite to halt the come-back attempt of Barron. The Mexican is returning to the ring after a six months' lay-off.

Barron has always been conceded to be a terrific right-hand puncher and what makes tomorrow night's bout attractive from the fans' standpoint is the fact that Reister, the Alhambra schoolboy, has been winning most of his battles by the knockout route, and has been stretching his opponents through use of well-timed right-hand wallops.

LEE WYCOFF TO GIVE MARSHALL TOUGH TIME

Everett Marshall has wrestled several top-notcherr of his own weight here since the first of the year, but in Lee Wycoff he is expected to find the toughest one of them all.

Marshall will clash with Wycoff in the finish final event of Promoter Lou Daro's double feature all-star wrestling card at the Olympic next Wednesday night. The mat battle between Ed (Strangler) Lewis and Marin Piestina, also for the best two-out-of-three falls to a finish, originally scheduled to top this mat program, was moved to the second position.

One of the reasons for the change was that the Marshall-Wycoff match was creating more interest among the mat followers of this section than the other big battle. Wycoff has wrestled here but twice, and it was not until his match with Don George here last week that the lanky Missouri grappler opened up enough to show that he was one of the fastest and cleverest heavyweights seen in the local ring this year.

The accidental set-back Wycoff received last week is not expected to stop this new mat star from sticking in the feature event class here should be beat Marshall, Daro declared. The fact that this pair are so evenly matched, and that they are two of the best of the newer crop of heavyweights in the game, is expected to make their bout more colorful than any between Nick Lutze and Joe Malcewicz, or Marshall and Lutze.

The second match will be the "battle of the giants," Lewis and Piestina, mat enemies for years. These two are as evenly matched as the feature eventers. Each weighs around 240 pounds. In experience and streng h they are considered equal. Lewis has a slight advantage in speed, although the mat Tarzan has shown remarkable footwork when against grapplers of his size.

Don George will clash with Abe Coleman, Jewish heavyweight champion, in the opening event.

HOLLYWOOD RIDERS OUT TO ANNEX CUP

Victorious in its last two contests, the Hollywood Polo and Hunt Club four will tangle with the Saddle and Sirloin Club Sunday afternoon on the Ventura Boulevard field.

The Movie City team was scheduled to meet the Saddle club last week, but the riders from Griffith Park were unable to appear and Glendale's polo club substituted. This will be a regular round of play in the race for the trophy offered by William Stromberg, Hollywood jeweler. If Hollywood wins Sunday they will gain possession of the cup, as they have a record of three straight wins.

ANDY PAYNE IN POLITICS

CLAREMORE (Okla.) June 17. (AP) Andy Payne, winner of C. C. Pyle's "bunion derby" marathon from California to New York two years ago, has entered a new race. He is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for court clerk of Rogers county.

LEGION SPEEDWAY HAS FINE RECORD THIS YE

Having gone through the 1930 season thus far with a miraculous record as far as the absence of serious accidents is concerned, Dr. Fred Loring and officials of the Legion Ascot Speedway will take all precautions next Sunday to guard against bad wrecks.

Caretaker "Pop" Evans, who had the wrinkles in the turns well smoothed out last Sunday, has been instructed to put a crew to work on the track again, while George Stephenson, technical expert of the American Automobile Association, has been asked to rigidly enforce the rules.

It is claimed by some that E. C. Woodford, driving last Sunday in one of the races with the hood flying loose on his car, should have been flagged down sooner than he was because of the fact that he was endangering lives of other pilots. Also, it is said that Jimmy Sharp, who finished the thirty-lap feature race with a flat tire on his Garnant Special, should not have been allowed to come in on the flat because of the danger involved if the car should have gone into a spin because of being thus crippled.

Officials of the local track point to the fact that there were no accidents last Sunday nor at the previous races and are hoping that the year's good luck charm at the local course is not broken.

Thus far this season, San Jose and Fresno have been the scenes of the big wrecks. Both Francis Quinn and Bill Wheeler, Los Angeles drivers, sustained back injuries at San Jose, in each instance the racing car having [illegible] or colliding with [illegible]

L. A. High May Meet San Diego for Title

PREP OFFICIALS AFTER CONTEST

Outcome Would Crown Real Southland Champion

Border Nine Willing to Play Pioneers

Romans Boast Great Record in Athletics

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Old Dame Rumor is footloose again. This time the story is that the L. A. High Romans, baseball champions of the City League, may meet San Diego High for the Southern California prep championship.

San Diego walked off with the Southland title recently, winning the play-off that brought together all of the outstanding Southern California high-school nines with the exception of the Los Angeles City League teams.

L. A. High is undefeated to date, and has cinched the local pennant. They meet Hollywood Friday afternoon on the Redshirt diamond, but the game will have no bearing on the final standings of the teams as far as the Romans are concerned.

It is a known fact that several of the highest officials in Southern California prepdom are anxious to see the San Diego-L. A. High game materialize. However, there are the usual obstacles to overcome, chief among them being the City League rule that prohibits all teams in the loop from competing in Southern California play-off.

Whether or not the game will be played isn't definitely known with all logical arguments pointing to the negative. However, it would be a fitting climax to a great athletic year at L. A. High if the Roman horseriders could annex the Southland baseball championship to their already imposing list of titles.

So far this year the Romans have taken the football, swimming, golf and baseball titles, finished second in track and placed third in basketball and gymnastics.

John Aseltine, principal of San Diego, is pulling hard to have the game played. It would be interesting to see who he would root for if it was actually staged. Aseltine graduated from L. A. High way back in 1912.

One thing is certain, there is quite a lot of interest in the proposed contest. More than 4000 fans were present at the Lincoln-Roman affair Monday at Wrigley Field.

THE Sportlight BY GRANTLAND RICE

I slice and hook and foozle,
I foozle, slice and hook,
And when I get my swing in shape
I lift my head to look.
I've found the cure for slicing
Brings hooking as its price;
And any cure for hooking
Is raw meat for a slice.
Some day I'll learn the secret,
No more to shed sad tears;
I'll get the combination if
I live Nine hundred years.

The Other Side

THE managing directors of Max Schmeling have shown how the German can make $500,000 by next June without fighting a lick until that date. In carrying out this program they will also more than likely get the top of his block knocked off at his next appearance, which may or may not be worth $500,000.

By next June, Schmeling will have fought three and a fraction rounds in two years. And he is between the ages of 23 and 25, just when he should be learning and developing, increasing his skill, his speed, his stamina and his hitting power.

Eleven minutes of actual fighting, under fire, between the ages of 23 and 25 will leave him easy picking for almost any first-class man he may meet, provided Schmeling isn't a superman. And Max isn't a superman. He's just a smart, game young fellow who could have made a first-class heavyweight through proper training and enough actual fighting to learn his trade.

If he stays out until next June, the ring game will see the astonishing proposition of a champion listed at 3 or 4 to 1, possibly greater odds, (all bets off in case of foul.) Schmeling went back a long way from his last year's form. He will slip still farther in another year if he doesn't practice his profession.

And it isn't wise for any champion to wait too long with the fight game tottering along the foul line, with a precipice on either side. In another year it might be too late, where the big money is, anyway.

In the Meanwhile

In the meanwhile, Sharkey, Campolo and the winner of the Stribling-Von Porat affair in Chicago should be able to furnish suitable entertainment, provided some arrangement is made to insure the public complete protection against the fouling germ.

If no such arrangement can be made, there will be no use in promoting any other fights.

The Stribling-Von Porat contest may bring out something of interest, and Campolo will be heard from before the summer is over if he gets his chance. He is nobody's powder puff.

In the first day's qualifying round George Von Elm played thirteen holes in 6 under 4's. Diegel came back in 33 over Hoylake's toughest nine. Here are two men who have the flame, if they can only keep it burning. That old nightmare of one bad round often haunts both. Either can make par look dizzy over any course when at his best. The toughest part of an open championship is being at your best with the pulses trying to jump sideways.

Goodman Reports Again

A year ago, Johnny Goodman, the young Omaha amateur, led the qualifying field of the United States open with 140. Later on he stopped Bobby Jones abruptly at Pebble Beach, largely by winning the first three holes and then making a brilliant finish down the stretch.

More than a few regarded this latter episode as a fluke, but Goodman has proved again he is no fluke golfer. He turned in a 141 for the thirty-six qualifying holes this week for the open and this score was within one stroke of the lowest score made by over 1100 entries.

It was at least proof enough that Goodman can play his share of low-scoring golf in competition.

With practically all the leading American and British stars safely in the fold at Hoylake, the scrapping that starts today should be one of the most interesting events in golf history. Any battle that draws together such stars as Jones, Horton Smith, Diegel, Compston, Mitchell, Cotton, Von Elm, etc., is bound to carry a story worth reading, with an aftermath worth checking up.

BOTTOM FISH BITING WELL OFF HERMOSA

Sculpin, bass, sandabs and halibut, known amond deep-sea anglers as bottom fish, because they are only caught at the bottom of the ocean, are biting well at Hermosa Beach, according to Capt. J. M. Anderson, skipper of the big Olympic fishing barge. For the past week visiting barge anglers have been very successful with this style of fishing, with record catches being brought ashore daily.

Capt Cliff Garner reports excellent fishing on the Hermosa live-bait boats, with barracuda, halibut and bass leading the catches.

Scout Dick Kinsella Looks Over Solon Star

SACRAMENTO, June 17.—Dick Kinsella, scout for the New York Giants, today was given a thirty-six-hour option on Meryl Hoag, the dazzling young outfielder of the Senators, Lewis Moreing, owner of the club, announced today. Moreing gave the Giants' agent his price on Hoag, and, while not revealed, it is understood to be plenty steep. Kinsella has been watching Hoag for some time.

There were no developments today in the misunderstanding between Moreing and the New York Yanks over the option the Yanks believed they had on Hoag, except that the Baltimore club wired Moreing to hold Pitcher Fay Thomas, who was turned back when Moreing announced the New York option was illegal and not binding.

Dr. C. K. Manhart of Rancho has reserved starting time for a foursome which includes Lester Coleman of California, Cloyd Marshall of California, and Goy Hanson of California.

Among the other noted entrants are Harry B. Wesbrook of Annandale, Milo M. Marchetti of Rancho, A. K. Bourne of Midwick, Gene Brown of California, F. M. Slade of California, and Cope Norcross of Bel-Air.

A. H. "Ollie" Painter, who is in charge at the first tee, reports that starting times still are available, but that no one will be permitted to tee off after 2:05 p.m. this afternoon.

HOSPITALITY PLUS

As usual, California's hospitality is again one of the features of the tournament. C. R. Cheney, California's popular president, was in evidence as official greeter on the first tee, and Ed Hurst was much in evidence.

Fred Aberle is the modest young chairman of the tournament committee in charge, and Fred is again doing a good job.

FRANK WYKOFF DUE HOME NEXT FRIDAY

Returning from eastern conquests on the track, Frank Wykoff, University of Southern California sprint champion, will arrive home on Friday, according to word received here yesterday. Wykoff did not return with the Trojan track team when it arrived home with the I.C.4-A. and N.C.A.A. championships last week, going to Des Moines and Omaha to visit relatives before heading homeward.

Jim Stewart, high jumper, and Bob Hall, weight man, will also return here Friday after stopping off for a visit in Texas.

PEANUT POLITICS

WONDER if it wasn't peanut politics more than British rackets that beat our American girls in the Wightman Cup battle?

Helen Wills Moody and Helen Jacobs, who don't play singles—much less doubles—with one another unless circumstances demand it, lost the match that decided possession of the cup.

Mrs. Anna McCune Harper, the best doubles player in the country, was left at home.

Why? Nothing but peanut politics by the selection committee.

Boston wanted Sarah Palfrey on the team, and Missouri wanted Mary Greef on the team.

Miss Palfrey, a young lady with a future, had some excuse for her selection. She ranked No. 4 last year in the national ratings, and is a promising player.

But Boston couldn't get the vote of Missouri for Miss Palfrey unless Boston's representative voted for Mary Greef.

Helen Wills Moody and Mrs. Harper had practiced together all winter with the expectation of playing together at Wimbledon.

But Miss Greef was selected over Mrs. Harper, who outranks her far more than the national rating shows, and America lost the decisive doubles encounter—the match that gave the British a 4-3 victory.

TILDEN EXPLAINS

IT IS necessary to read the comments of Bill Tilden to appreciate just how America lost the last two matches—the matches that gave England the cup.

He writes:

"Miss Mudford brought England even by an overwhelming victory over Miss Palfrey in straight sets with the little American girl a victim of center courtitis.

"Miss Godfrey and Mrs. Watson won the cup in a thrilling three-set match over America's two Helens in one of the most exciting climaxes ever seen in tennis history."

And here's the point that tells the story:

"The two Helens clashed in teamwork repeatedly on middle shots."

And the woman who might have saved the day—Mrs. Harper—was left at home.

THE ITALIAN NEMESIS

IT HAS been suggested by Mr. Bill Henry that it is apropos to refer to Italy as the nemesis of Australia.

Last year Italy bumped Australia off in the first round of the Davis Cup play, and the victory was pooh-pooed on the ground that the Australians had taken the spaghetti eaters too lightly.

This year the Italians met Australia in the semifinal round, and the same general result occurred—a 3-2 victory for Italy.

It is now generally conceded that Italy has a fair sort of a team with aces like Baron DeMorpurgu, the shell-shocked war veteran who was wounded something like nineteen times and wears silver plates all over his anatomy to keep it from falling to pieces, and Stefani, who plays equally with right or left hand as befits the occasion.

OH, THE LADIES!

SOMETHING will have to be done about keeping the ladies off the highways and byways while one of California Country Club's high-powered invitation tourneys is in progress.

There was, for example, the distressing scene of a fellow journalist, Mr. Darsie L. Darsie, being accosted by one of the fair sex yesterday.

The accosting was done as Mr. Darsie proceeded to a short hole—a par 3 arrangement.

The incident so upset the bulging Mr. Darsie that he took a 6 on the simple little thing, and from there on home it could be said truthfully that he blushed from tee to tee and green to green.

Weetamoe in Front Again

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—The Weetamoe, Nichols-Morgan syndicate contender for the right to defend the America's Cup, today won her third straight victory over three other aspirants for the honor. Enterprise was second and Yankee, facing her first competitive test, third over the twenty-mile course in Long Island Sound. Whirlwind was fourth and the Vanitie and Resolute, former cup boats, fifth and sixth, respectively.

ARROWHEAD TIGERS TO TACKLE OILERS

With honors even in the race for the summer ice hockey championships, the Shell Oilers and Arrowhead Valley Tigers are expected to uncork some brilliant playing tomorrow night at the Winter Garden Ice Palace, when they clash in the third game of the seven-game series.

Each squad has won one battle, but tomorrow night's affair is the most crucial game of the play-off. The Arrowhead boys were handicapped by lack of reserves in the first clash, and when Manager Patrick signed White, Brown, Smart and Cantillon he strengthened his club 50 per cent. Patrick is also a noted hockey star and should work well with his new men.

STRIBLING INJURED; SCRAP POSTPONED

CHICAGO, June 17. (AP)—The ten-round fight between Otto Von Porat and W. L. (Young) Stribling, scheduled for the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night, today was postponed until Friday night, due to an injury Stribling suffered in training. Stribling damaged his left hand while boxing in his first gymnasium workout a week ago. He tore a ligament and the injury responded to treatment, but he was unable to do any heavy boxing. Consequently he appealed for a two days' postponement to the stadium management so he could sharpen up in his boxing. It was granted.

FISHING IS GOOD OFF SANTA MONICA BARGE

The big run of fish off Santa Monica which has been favoring anglers for several weeks has continued into this week, it was learned yesterday from Capt. Jack Dugan of the Morris live bait boats, Morris, Owl and Palisades. The run includes barracuda, bass, halibut and some bonita. The bay is full of yellowtail but they are not striking.

Splendid catches have likewise been taken by the large parties of anglers fishing daily from the Challenger barge, operated by the Morris Company off Santa Monica.

WRIGHT MAY FIGHT PASADENA WINNER

Bearcat Wright, 230-pound Omaha Negro fighter, may fight the winner of tomorrow night's battle between Neil Clisby and Mack House, which is the headliner of an all-heavyweight program at Pasadena Arena. Wright has appeared once in Pasadena when Neil Clisby gave him a hard battle for nine rounds.

The other heavyweight scraps are as follows:

TURNVEREIN TEAM LEAVES

The Los Angeles Turnverein Society, athletic and social organization, is sending forty of its members to the biennial turnfest at Buffalo, N. Y., leaving this morning on the Santa Fe Scout. Carl Mettler, physical culture instructor, is in charge of the party. The organization has a clubhouse at 938 West Washington street.

The Mission Reds have batted out only four three-base hits in ten weeks. Three of the Reds' three-baggers were made in one week. The team played five weeks before making one three-bagger.

TWO CHANGES MADE IN HOLLYWOOD FIGHT BILL

Two changes have been made in the Hollywood American Legion Stadium fight card for Friday night. Claude Varner hurt a hand while training to fight Tommy McGough in the semi-wind-up. Sergio Rodam, Filipino from Pismo Beach, will try and fill his shoes. Rodam recently went ten heats to a draw with Tommy Gardner. He has never fought in this city and makes his debut on the big time at the stadium.

Stutz Houck has been reported sick and unable to fight Billy Wagner in the special, so Russell Rowsey will step in and take his place. The card hasn't been weakened at all, but strengthened in the belief of Tom Gallery.

The main-eventers, Johnny Lamar and Teddy Palacios, are hitting on all six in the gymnasium. Lamar is taking no chances with Palacios, who has a good reputation as a socker. The Mexican is preparing to make some money from now to the end of the year and if there is nothing in sight here he will be sent east by his manager, Jack Russell. Lamar is now rated the best lightweight on this Coast.

CURTIS ARRANGES SATURDAY'S CARD

Four four-round preliminaries will back up the two six-round features on the Main-street boxing card Saturday night. Carlo Curtis completed the card late yesterday. He has Ramon Montoya boxing Kid Abelino at 124 pounds and Pete Pacheco battling Bill McMullen at 148 pounds in the two six-round bouts. The preliminary card is: Milton Wilkins vs. Bobby Flores, 124 pounds; Jack Hurd vs. Evans Fortune, 165 pounds; Eddie Rubio vs. Joie Rich, 118 pounds, and Santo Miniano vs. Nimo Perez, 110 pounds.

BARRACUDA BITING OFF LONG BEACH

Large catches of barracuda, white sea bass, rock bass and halibut are reported daily by the excursion boats leaving the Pine-avenue pier, Long Beach. Yellowtail are now beginning to run.

Due to the splendid breakwater, excursion boats may be anchored with safety in the inner harbor on rough days, where equally as good catches may be had. Boats are loaded, inspected and under control of the City Wharfinger of Long Beach.

Trojan Co-ed Brings Trophy

Helen Marlowe, University of Southern California student, returned to her home in Hollywood this week to add another championship trophy to the Trojan collection of the past university year. Miss Marlowe, who has just completed her freshman year at S. C., won the national girls' hard-court championship and the California junior singles title at Berkeley over the week-end.

ETERNAL VIGILANCE—taking nothing for granted . . . leaving nothing undone—that's the mandate of the sea. Exacting laboratory research, rigid production standards . . . endless care—that's Chesterfield's watchword.

MILD, AROMATIC TOBACCOS, patiently aged, are the basis of Chesterfield's wholesome goodness. Chesterfield's blend and cross-blend retains and rounds out their appetizing spice and flavor.

CHANCE PLAYS NO PART in keeping them true to their course—the safe, satisfying course of . . . "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than those in any other cigarette at the price.

PRAGUE (Czecho-Slovakia) June 17. (AP)—Japan clinched its Davis Cup tennis series with Czecho-Slovakia today when Takeichi Harada defeated Jan Kozeluh, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. This gave the Japanese the necessary three victories and carried them into the European zone final, where they will oppose the Italians for the right to play the Americans in the interzone final.

STARS DEFEAT MISSIONS, 4-3

there was no hitting the ball out of the lot while runners were on the paths, while Knott picked the worst possible time to yield his four-base wallop.

Chet Chadbourne, originator of the famous mask knockout, was one of the arbiters, Mr. Chadbourne yesterday having had his suspension lifted for messing up the features of burly Buzz Arlett. None of the athletes attempted to rough Chad about so he didn't have to take his mask off, once. Arlett is still on the suspended list and probably will be for some time, for there is an automatic suspension of at least ninety days that goes with manhandling umpires and a certain guy by the name of K. Mountain Landis will probably see that the suspension sticks on Buzz, who got the worst of his clash with Chadbourne to the extent of twelve stitches scattered about his physiognomy.

Returning to yesterday's ball game, Hulvey yielded a run in the first when Monroe parked one into the bleachers out in right field.

Hill opened the Hollywood half of the opening round by beating out a bunt to Knott. Jesse racing down the line as though he figured there was a touchdown against Stanford waiting for him at first base. Lee lined to Boone, but Brannon doubled to right. Heath walked to bulge the bags and bring up Carlyle to the dish. Cleo found one just to his liking and lofted the ball right out of the lot, the ball clearing the bleachers with plenty to spare. And that tells the Sheik scoring for the day.

TWO MORE HOMERS

Hofmann belted one over the left-field wall after two were out in the second inning, while Monroe hit another homer in the third. Johnny's wallop this time cleared the right-field screen.

Monroe threatened to score again in the fifth when he clouted one far enough to be a homer, but this time the ball was foul. Hulvey then struck out Johnny and the Missions were as meek as little lambs for the rest of the afternoon.

Hulvey let Ike Boone, the league's leading hitter, and Fuzzy Hufft, who thinks he is, down without a hit. Hufft even managed to get himself knocked out in the first inning. It happened when Fuzzy hit one to Heath, who juggled the ball and then tossed it toward Hulvey, who came over to cover first. The ball hit Hufft on the side of the head and upset a popular fallacy by hurting Fuzzy, who was out for longer than a ten count. Mr. Hufft got little sympathy while on the ground, one particularly dirty remark coming from the Hollywood bench, where Mr. Vitt yelled, "Aind you're the guy that challenged the Great Shires."

Gordon Rhodes will make his first local appearance since rejoining the Stars and Vitt believes the good-looking right-hander will make it two straight from the Reds. Bert Cole is expected to hurl for the Missions. Score:

PORTLAND (Or.) June 17. (AP)—Ray McQuillan, 155 pounds, Denver, Colo., knocked out Herman Ratzlaff, 158, Minot, N. D., in the sixth round of the ten-round main event on the fight card here tonight.

COMPSTON IS GOLF LEADER

Giant Briton Has Card of 141 for Two Rounds

to lead the amateurs among the qualifiers.

Bobby Jones was tied with six others for twentieth place in the qualifying lists. He was not a golfing machine as he scaled the heights of Wallasey and finally checked in with a round of 77, which he considered about the worst he had played in Britain.

They made him a life honorary member of the club when he finished, but he did not make a speech about how he loves the Wallasey fairways.

Other disasters occurred at Wallasey. Diegel blew up after a great start which threatened Compston's lead and wound up with 75 when he seemed likely to score 70, and then a church near the clubhouse caught fire and golf fans nd caddies helped choir boys and firemen to extinguish the blaze.

FEW UPSETS

There were few real upsets in the qualifying tests. Arthur G. Havers, the 1923 champion, failed with a score of 159 and three of the oldsters who nowadays play more for fun than for the title, were eliminated, Harry Vardon, 160; Alex Herd, 163, and James Braid, 173.

Macdonald Smith had a fine round of 71 at Hoylake, to tie with Tom Green for the day's leadership there, while Henry Cotton's 70 led at Wallasey.

Don Moe gave the Americans some shaky moments as he started unsteadily and continued to wobble all the way around, finally taking 80. Horton Smith played sound golf all the way, scoring 76, the same score returned by George Von Elm.

All the Americans seemed to be satisfied to qualify without trying to break any records. Weather conditions continued ideal and if similar weather prevails for the next three days the winning score will be many strokes under the 301 open championship record for the course.

The pairings for the American players tomorrow:

Don Moe and Ted Ray.
George Von Elm and A. H. Padgham.
Bobby Jones and Al. Oppenheimer.
Leo Diegel and Syd Fairweather.
Horton Smith and O. Sherlock.

FAIR WEATHER FOR OPEN PLAY

sweeping over the links, with big carries, lovely easy iron shots and long putts that lipped the holes. Jones never succeeded in making Hoylake look simple, but for four holes Horton Smith did. His score was just par—4-4-4-3—but it was all done with such impudent ease that it was impossible to imagine him making a mistake.

However, at the fifth hole, he just let a stroke slip and then at the sixth he missed a putt not much longer than the length of his boot. I do not think that he was worried in the least, but he realized that this was not to be a record-breaking morning for him and that he had better conserve his energies, so he just jogged along comfortably. He missed a couple of very short putts, and, indeed, after that one missed at the sixth, something of the subtle touch of his putter seemed to desert him once and for all. Still, he finished in 76. He has a total of 151 for the two qualifying rounds and he has taken nothing unnecessarily out of himself. He looks good to me, though perhaps not quite so good as Diegel did yesterday.

After Smith there was a dearth of American champions until after lunch, but there were some English champions. George Duncan, who had 74 at the Wallasey course, went to pieces rather badly here at Hoylake. He needed 82. Nothing went right for him and his bad start palpably shook him. However, 156 is, humanly speaking, good enough to qualify, but in any case I fancy the brilliant Duncan cannot quite do what is expected of him nowadays. People still talk hopefully of his scintillating moods, but I fear he cannot produce a mood that will last four rounds.

Cyril Tolley, another player of moods, played finely for a 72 at Wallasey on Monday, but at Hoylake today he started with all sorts of minor disasters and a card of 6-4-5-5 was a poor substitute for par play, 4-4-4-3. Then, however, he pulled himself gallantly together and ended in 75. I am inclined to think that did him more good than if he had sailed around with supreme domination and no troubles.

NIGHT GAME POSTPONED

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 17. (AP)—President Ed O'Malley of the Phoenix Senators announced today that, due to delay in the installation of projectors on the Phoenix baseball park, the opening game of night baseball in Arizona has been postponed until Thursday night.

Fuzzy Hufft advanced from ninth to fifth position in the batting averages last week. His up-to-date average is .381.

Earl Sheely and Johnny Monroe, two of the Coast League's leading batters, have participated in all games played by their clubs this season. Both have passed the 100 mark in safe hits.

Fred Haney has already pilfered twenty-four bases, exactly twice as many as Ralph Pinelli and Arnold Statz, his nearest rivals for stolen-base honors.

THOMPSON IN KNOCKOUT WIN

still champion, gauged by the salvo of applause that always breaks out when he is yanked between the ropes.

Jack didn't make a speech about coming out of retirement, but simply took his bow, shook his hands aloft in answer to the cheers and smiled broadly as he clambered into a ringside seat.

Cardoza made a good fight of it in the first round, coming out of his corner with a rush and setting a fast pace which saw him plaster the black boy's face with hooks and bring the blood from his nose.

Things took on a different complexion in the second round, when Thompson began moving around with the speed of a cat, snaking in ripping uppercuts to the face and making Cardoza miss badly with his swings.

Once Cardoza floored himself with a left hook when the punch failed to find its target as the black boy glided out of harm's reach.

CARDOZA FLOORED

The third round saw Thompson going to work with a vengeance. Punches flew like lightning and they came so thick and fast that Cardoza was caught in the tempest and went down from a right to the chin.

He got up, only to run into another barrage, and a sharp, crisp right sent him on his back. He tried to rise at nine, but pitched forward on his face as Referee Lieut. Jack Kennedy reached the fatal ten.

The semi-wind-up was over in even more of a hurry than the main event, Babe Anderson of San Jose knocking out Leo Hernandez in the first round of a scheduled six-round bout.

Anderson was given consideration for the fight with Thompson but was scarcely known here and Cardoza got the nod instead. Hernandez substituted for Matt Codan.

BUZZ-SAW BOUT

Manuel De Leon and Johnny De Lano threw more gloves than all the other fighters on the bill put together, and after six torrid rounds the referee decared matters a draw.

Steve Hayden dumped Chief White Horse on his ear in the third round of their scheduled six-rounder. The Chief was down in the second from a right to the kisser, but the bell saved him, and final disposition of the bout was reserved for the third round.

In the opener Marcelino Lomelli defeated Johnny Micell in four rounds.

With three knockouts on the program everybody went home early. The show was out at 10:40.

Thompson weighed 147½ for the main event and Cardoza 149½.

Yale Poloists Defeat Cadets

RUMSON (N. J.) June 17. (AP)—Yale's sensational young polo team, with three old Aiken stars in the line-up, smothered the West Point Cadets on Herbert Memorial Field here today. Playing the semifinal of the American intercollegiate championship, the New Haven team triumphed, 13 to 2.

Stuart B. Inglehart, playing No. 3, led his team with six goals and was greatly aided by Michael Phipps, James Mills and J. C. Rathborne. The latter player, who was field captain today, took himself out of the game for the third period and Yale scored then. He returned in the fourth after Hardie Scott had played a chukker.

Capt. Joseph Haskell and Frank W. Wing were the only cadets to score.

Today's win placed Yale in the final against Princeton here Saturday.

Record Set by Mermaid

HUSKIES THUMP BADGER CREWS

consin's yearlings proved the only real threat, running neck and neck with the western crew for the greater part of the race.

COACH EBRIGHT SHIFTS CREW

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) June 17. (AP)—Ky Ebright carried out the threat he made yesterday and made two substitutions in his California varsity on its second day of training on the Hudson River.

Workman replaced Brinck at No. 2 and Woodward took over Dally's oar at No. 5. Ebright may give the two displaced men an opportunity to regain their places, but it is more likely the present boating will stand for the race on June 26.

Coach Russ Nagler followed the example of the senior coach and made two changes in his freshman combination. Neumann went in at No. 5 in place of Enemark and Lackey slid into No. 4 seat, edging out Luther.

Nagler said the boating is not permanent and he expects to make further experiments with the yearling combination. In fact, Nagler is not so enthusiastic about his freshman crew and said he was looking for the worst freshman eight on the river so the Golden Bears might have something at which to point for regatta day.

California held two workouts in rough water. Coach Rusty Callow of Pennsylvania substituted Thrasher for Voerhinger as stroke on his varsity.

RED UHLAN LOSES ON FOUL TO KENNEDY

FRESNO, June 17. (AP)—Irish Del Kennedy, Fresno middleweight, won on a foul from Red Uhlan, San Francisco scrapper, tonight, in the feature bout of the Sun-Maid Athletic Club's weekly boxing program. The low blow came in the fifth round after Uhlan had been warned repeatedly about his punching.

CARNERA FIGHT SOCIAL SUCCESS

Six Hundred Millionaires to See Behemoths Battle

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

BY WALTER TRUMBULL

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—The Primo Carnera-George Godfrey bout in Philadelphia, on Monday night, promises to be a social, if not an artistic success. It may be both.

James I. Bush of New York is lining up some of Madison Square Garden's 600 millionaires and expects to take a carload of them on the Philly pilgrimage, and naturally, the Quaker City's home smart set will turn out. It looks as if Primo and George might make a big improvement on Ward McAllister's 400, raising it to 40,000.

Among the absent will be Frank Bruen. Mr. Bruen wants to go, but is forced to send his regrets, because Campolo is boxing on Monday evening at the Boston Garden. It may be said, without contradiction, that to many persons Campolo appears the most promising fighter now in the glove business. He has a right hand which is a right hand, and he is learning what to do with his left. If Vittorio Campolo ever learns to use a right uppercut in close, he is going to hit somebody in the back row with an opponent's head.

The Carnera-Godfrey match naturally is creating interest. All wish to know whether the big and good-natured George will arrive at the ring in handcuffs. Will Godfrey wrap the drapery of his bath towel about him and lie down to pleasant dreams? Primo has been treated roughly by at least two colored men, who were neither as large nor as able as Godfrey. Has he improved so marvelously in the course of a few months? Perhaps he has.

It should be a great bout. I should not be surprised to see some fast slugging, with several knockdowns, and a thrilling finish. I cannot quite picture Carnera as defeated. A draw might be an artistic thing if the battle was furious enough. But Carnera has not yet quite got into the big money, and this is the bout to get him there. Those behind Primo would not wish anything unpleasant to happen to him. And among Carnera's stockholders are some very deep thinkers and fast movers.

THYE VICTORIOUS IN BULL MONTANA GO

TACOMA (Wash.) June 17. (AP)—Ted Thye of Portland defeated Bull Montana, wrestling movie star of Los Angeles, here tonight two falls out of three in the main wrestling bout. Thye took the first fall with a series of flying wrist-locks and Montana the second with a series of headlocks. Thye won the deciding fall with a flying scissors hold. They are light heavyweights.

The Boone averaged exactly two home runs per week for the first ten weeks of play. Fourteen Coast League players have clouted out ten or more home runs. The San Francisco ball club should pass the 500 mark in runs scored this week. The team had tallied 466 times up to the start of this week's series.

No Aprueba el Gobierno la Exportación de Armas para los Soviets

WASHINGTON, Junio 17.—Ha llegado a ser regla de conducta política del gobierno de los Estados Unidos el desaprobar la exportación de armas, municiones de guerra y aeroplanos militares a la Unión Soviética.

Si bien no hay autoridad gubernativa con facultades legales para atajar esos envíos, los funcionarios del ministerio de Estado dijeron hoy que la administración seguiría la política de hacer saber a los presuntos exportadores que tales consignaciones "son mal vistas".

Se dio a conocer esa decisión a raíz de haber entrado la Compañía de Glen L. Martin, de Baltimore, en tratos con los soviets para hacerles veinte aviones de bombardeo, aviones de otras clases, y equipo, por valor aproximado de $2,000,000. Al conocerse la actitud del ministerio de Estado, se suspendieron las negociaciones relativas.

Se Encarece a los Banqueros que Fongan Coto a la Agricultura

DENVER, Junio 17.—Thomas G. Wilson, de Conday (Arkansas), hablando ante la vigésima octava convención del Instituto Norteamericano de Banca, propuso a los banqueros que se organizaran para reducir el área productora de aquellos artículos agrícolas en los que se advierte sobreproducción. Ese plan puede realizarse reduciéndoles los créditos a los agricultores, según opina el señor Wilson.

"Lo que actualmente necesita con urgencia la agricultura no es mayores créditos, sino algún método para descargar de deudas a los granjeros", hizo observar el señor Wilson ante el Instituto.

Entre las razones que se aducen para explicar la actual situación, figuran la ampliación excesiva de las facilidades de crédito, el mal cálculo del coste de producción por parte de los agricultores, y la negligencia de éstos en diversificar sus cosechas y en adoptar la maquinaria agrícola moderna.

"Debemos cesar de conceder grandes préstamos a los granjeros, y tenemos que fomentar la economía y la rotación de cosechas, así como encarecerles a aquellos que tomen consejo de los establecimientos oficiales acerca de las superficies que deban plantar de tal o cual cosa." Tales fueron las palabras del señor Wilson.
